Ex-W.Hurley Flier Is Killed in Crackup

A former West Hurley airman, George D. McCormick, 37, was one of two victims in the crash of a Northeast Airlines plane in New Hampshire, the Associated Press reports today. There were five survivors.

Co-Pilot McCormick came to this country from Amsterdam, Netherlands, his former wife, Mrs. Katrine Groves McCormick, of West Hurley, said today. McCormick is survived by a son, Sherman Groves McCormick, 7, and a daughter, Clare Chapin McCormick, 3½.

Co-Pilot McCormick came to this country in 1939 and served with the U. S. Naval Air Force. He held a lieutenant commander's rank in the Naval Reserve. At the time of his death he was a resident of Boston, Mass.

The crashed plane was found today near Milan, N. H., atop snow-covered Mt. Success. Another man, John McNulty, 39, of Boston, an NEA flight superintendent, also died. McNulty was making a routine flight check.

Survivors of the air crash had been marooned since midday Tuesday in near-zero temperature. Among those removed to a Berlin, N. H. hospital by helicopter was the only woman aboard, Stewardess Mary L. McEttrick, 23, of Boston.

A VETERAN FLIER on his day off discovered the wreckage this morning after a score of planes had flown over the vast, mountainous region the past two days without success. He is Apostolis N. Bountis, 33, of Manchester, N. Y., a Trans-Ocean Airline pilot.

The survivors are: Pilot Capt. W. Peter Carey, 37, of Swampscott, Mass., the most seriously hurt; Stewardess McEttrick, and the three passengers, James W. Harvey, 52, of Watertown, Mass.; W. Miller of Philadelphia, and Daniel H. Hall of Montclair, N. J.

Brother Supports Coat Defense

Cleveland, Dec. 2 (AP) — The brown corduroy jacket Dr. Samuel sheppard wore the night his wife was killed was left in a crumpled heap on the floor, not neatly folded on a cough, Sheppard's brother Stephen testified today.

Dr. Stephen Sheppard, elder brother of Dr. Samuel and also an osteopath, was the first defense witness in the seven-week-old first degree murder trial. The younger Dr. Sheppard is accused of bludgeoning his pregnant wife, Marilyn, in her bed at their home last July 4.

WHEN HE ENTERED his brother's home at approximately 6:15 a. m., July 4, the defendant's jacket lay on the floor, the witness told the Jury.

Previous testimony was that the coat was neatly folded on the living room couch. Dr. Sam

Higher Pay Is Plan for Jobless

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—A three-way drive is shaping up for next year to increase unemployment compensation, with employes footing the higher bill.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell disclosed last night a new Eisenhower administration plea to state governors to get their legislatures to enlarge the amount and duration of jobless pay to idle workers.

LABOR UNIONS are spearheading a second phase. Doubtful that State Legislatures will act, some unions are seeking through collective bargaining to get employers to supplement present state jobless pay.

A third effort will come in Congress. A dominantly Democratic group of lawmakers there plans to renew efforts to set federal standards which would require the states to raise their benefit levels.

Early this year Eisenhower called on the states to hike benefit payments and lengthen their duration, saying that giving laid-off workers partial pay during involuntary idleness would bol-

Fair Skiing Is Prospect

Prospects of skiing in the area over the coming weekend appeared to be fair, according to the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Reports this morning indicated 4 to 10 inches of new snow at Highmount, with ski conditions reported as "poor to fair." Tows will be running during the weekend.

Daily reports on ski conditions in the area will be available on a 24-hour basis beginning today, it was revealed. Anyone may secure the latest report at any time, night or day, by telephoning Kingston 5233. The service was arranged by the Trail Sweepers Ski Club and the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Pope Takes Bad Turn

Vatican City, Dec. 2 (AP)—Pope Pius XII has taken a turn for the worse.

The 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church has been in bed here since his return from Castel Gandolfo Saturday.

The news of his sudden turn for the worse came from the Vatican.

The pontiff has been suffering from a stomach ailment and hiccups that have made it difficult for him to sleep.

He has not been able to take any food by mouth since Saturday.

Such nourishment as the pontiff has been able to take he has received indirectly.

His private physician, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, has spent

300 Workers From Ulster County

More than 400 men are employed on the construction of the new IBM plant just north of Kingston, the "great majority" of them from the Kingston area.

According to R. M. Hetema, superintendent of the Turner-Campbell Construction Co., general contractors, approximately 300 are from Ulster county.

CONSTRUCTION IS reported "on schedule" with the north end of the building "well advanced." Hetema said more than 6,000 yards of concrete had been poured. It will require 10,000 yards to complete the job. All concrete is being supplied by Kingston firms.

All structural steel has been erected except for a small amount at the boiler house.

Part of the window sash has been installed in the northern section of the building and glass brick is in place.

INSTALLATION of pre-cast concrete roof plank has been completed on the manufacturing

Drowning of Man Called Supreme Thrill by Youths

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—A witness at the trial of three alleged kill-for-thrill gang members has testified that one of the teenagers called the drowning of a 34-year-old man "the supreme adventure of them all."

The defendant called burning the man's bare feet with a lighted cigarette a "gag," the prosecution witness said.

The testimony was given by Detective Raymond E. Duggan yesterday at the Brooklyn trial of Jack Koslow, 18; Melvin Mittman, 17, and Jerome Lieberman, 17.

The three Brooklyn youths are on trial on first degree murder charges in the death of Willard Menter, a factory worker, who drowned in the East river the night of Aug. 16.

Detectives testified yesterday about stories they said had been told to them by two of the defendants.

Duggan said Koslow admitted wakening Menter on a park bench by applying a lighted cigarette to his bare feet. Koslow called this a "gag," the detective said.

The witness said Koslow related that he and Mittman escorted the intoxicated Menter about three-fifths of a mile from the park to an East river pier.

On the pier, the reported con-

Albany Board Rejects Call on Absentee Vote

Albany, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Albany County Board of Elections today rejected the state's demand that all civilian and military absentee votes cast by legal residents of the county in the Nov. 2 election be shelved because of what the state said was "uncontrovertible" evidence of fraud.

The four-member board split 2-2 on the question of allowing protests filed by an assistant state attorney general in an investigation of the election in heavily Democratic Albany county.

County Attorney Walter L. Collins, a Democrat, said that a majority vote was required if the protest was to be allowed. The two Republican members voted in favor of the protest, and the two Democratic members against it.

All four members then signed a certification of the county canvass to the attorney general and the secretary of state.

The two Republicans, Edward G. Dillon and Frank Boardman, said, however, that they were signing only because the law, in the circumstances, required them to do so.

The certification included 1,571 absentee ballots. These were broken down as follows: 628 cast by servicemen and dependents and 943 by civilians.

Absentee ballots, civilian and military, were reported to have been approximately 4 to 1 in favor of Democratic candidates.

Robert W. Bush, an assistant attorney general in the inquiry and an unsuccessful Republican candidate for an Assembly seat from Albany county, submitted 21 statements from absentee voters purporting to show that their ballots had been counted incorrectly.

Bush said "an accurate canvass of the true vote, under these circumstances, is impossible, and the purported military and civilian absentee ballots now in your possession, should not be recanvassed."

He did not say what should be done. He said in a formal statement of protest to the election board that "the evidence that forged ballots have been counted is uncontrovertible." He added: 'Preliminary examination of the envelope presents unmistakable evidence of tampering."

Bush submitted to the board 16 statements he said were made under oath and five he said were "in writing of unquestionable veracity."

The affidavits were filed in a second protest supplementing

Senate Weighs Censure

New Move Follows Earlier 67-20 Vote

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Senate, having voted 67-20 to condemn Sen. McCarthy for "abusing" his colleagues, came to grips today with the issue of whether to censure him for his treatment of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker.

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), a supporter of McCarthy, launched an attack on the Zwicker count of the general censure resolution by offering an amendment to strike out part of the language.

AN HOUR'S DEBATE was alloted on Jenner's move.

The second count specifically charges tnat McCarthy "intemperately abused" Zwicker when the army officer was a witness before McCarthy last February.

Among other things, McCarthy told Zwicker, a much-decorated war hero, that he wasn't fit to wear the uniform of a general.

Jenner proposed to eliminate language in the censure resolution saying that McCarthy's actions toward Zwicker tended "to destroy the good faith which must be maintained between the executive and legislative branches in our system of government."

But, after making a speech, Jenner withdrew his amendment. Offering an amendment and then withdrawing it is a common maneuver when the Senate has limited debate. It permits the senator to obtain time for a speech.

Jenner devoted much of his speech to talk about the dangers of the Communist conspiracy, commenting "just look how the Communists have disrupted the work" of the Senate.

THE RESULT of this disruption, he said, had been too tie up completely the work of the investigations subcommittee headed by McCarthy and to let many "Fifth Amendment Communists" continue in jobs they hold.

McCarthy was not in the Senate chamber as Jenner spoke. He spent little time on the floor yesterday and was not there when the Senate voted 67-20 last night to approve the first count of the censure resolution — that McCarthy had been contemptuous of a 1951-52 elections subcommittee and abusive to its members.

It was the first official rebuke of its kind handed out by the Senate in 26 years, but McCarthy was outwardly unsurprised and undismayed.

CALLING THE SENATE proceedings "a foul job," he said that as soon as the smoke clears he will "contimue to expose

ONE HUNDRED YEARS OF BANKING SERVICE to the citizens of Kingston and Ulster county are the records of Charles Snyder, left, cashier of the National Ulster County Bank, this city, and Harry S. Ensign, treasurer of the Kingston Savings Bank. Each man has completed 50 years in the banking business. (Freeman Photos)

Two Local Men Honored By Friends and Associates

Harry S. Ensign, treasurer of the Kingston Savings Bank, was honored yesterday and today upon the completion of 50 years with that bank.

Beginning at 10 a. m. Wednesday, congratulations streamed in from Ensign's associates, friends, business acquaintances, and civic leaders.

CHARLES SNYDER, one of the many who called to felicitate Ensign, also came in for his share of congratulations as Kingston's other half-century banker. Cashier of the National Ulster County Bank of Kingston, Snyder is "dean" of the city's bankers, having completed his 50 years' service in October of this year.

First of three surprises planned for Ensign came at 10 a. m. Wednesday when staff members at his bank presented him with a alligator wallet containing a sum of money.

BY PRE-ARRANGEMENT, a large number of Ensign's friends entered the bank at the same time to greet him. Among them were Snyder, Mayor Frederick H. Stang, Police Chief Raymond Van Buren, Fire Chief Joseph Murphy, presidents of other Kingston banks, and Miss Katherine M. Murphy, executive secretary of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

The next surprise event took place in the evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel, where trustees of the bank had planned a dinner to honor Ensign.

HOLT N. WINFIELD, president of Kingston Savings Bank, was master of ceremonies and presented Ensign with a gold watch on behalf of the trustees.

Today at noon, the Kiwanis Club recognized both Snyder and Ensign at the club's regular luncheon meeting. Both are members and past presidents of the Kiwanis Club.

ENSIGN IS THE SIXTH treasurer to serve the Kingston Savings Bank in its 80 years of existence. Employed at the bank since December 1, 1904, Ensign was named treasurer in 1938, succeeding Charles H. de la Vergne.

Ensign served as president of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association for 15 years, succeeding the late Joseph M. Fowler. Previously he had served as vice president and as treasurer. He is at the pres-

Guaranteed Annual Wage Is Called Unsound Plan

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—The guaranteed annual wage is financially unsound, whether management or government pays the bill, the National Assn. of Manufacturers was told today.

In a speech prepared for delivery before 3,000 industrialists attending the NAM's annual convention, Charles R. Sligh, Jr., president of Sligh Furniture Companies, Grand Rapids, Mich., said:

"The theory of the government guaranteeing work and wages is a retracing of the socialistic road we trod in the 1930's.

"I believe," Sligh said, "that a contemporary version of the New Deal's Blue Eagle and the NRA could no more solve the problems of guaranteed employment than it did the problems of unemployment 20 years ago."

He asserted that the annual wage guaranteed by management "often adds a fatal risk to business enterprise and freezes the cost of labor at a level which could prove disastrous during a period of business decline."

"Even the few companies whose guarantee plans have enjoyed a degree of success are clearly limited in their operation, and nearly all plans contain escape clauses or time limitations," said Sligh, a former NAM president.

The NAM late yesterday made public it's five-year program to

Newburgh Bridge Is 2 Years Off

Financing May Be Downriver Block

Completion of the Kingston-Rhinebeck bridge as scheduled was listed as a major objective of the New York State Bridge Authority, which, in a meeting here yesterday, also indicated that the Newburgh span will not start before two years, and said it would do its part in a new bridge approach project at Poughkeepsie.

The authority said it plans to market its bonds for financing the Kingston bridge early in 1955 "under arrangements, which will leave the way open to proceed with the Newburgh-Beacon bridge as soon as it can be demonstrated that the authority is economically justified in doing so."

IN REPLY to a recent query by Mayor Robert E. Stevens, of Poughkeepsie, as to the authority's part in a proposed new Mid-Hudson bridge approach on the Poughkeepsie side, the authority said, it "is responsible for doing such construction on the Poughkeepsie end of the Mid-Hudson Bridge as is necessary to facilitate traffiic."

It added however, that "When the arterial highway in Poughkeepsie is constructed by the state it will undoubtedly provide for a bridge connection. There is no reason for the bridge authority to relieve the state of the cost of this construction. When we know the plan for such connection, we can then determine what bridge improvements will be necessary, and we expect to make them."

"IN REFERENCE to the payment by the authority of any part of the cost of acquiring land for the arterial highway in Poughkeepsie," the statement said, "the members of the authority are of the opinion that it is not the responsibility of the authority to do so."

A statement on the Newburgh bridge proposal, after citing revenue prospects, noted that "In any event, a minimum of two years will be required for the preliminary work necessary to advance the Newburgh bridge to the construction stage."

THE AUTHORITY said that "Upon recommendation of its financial advisors, R. W. Pressprich & Co., and its consulting engineers, Madison-Hyland, both of New York, the authority proposes to accomplish three immediate objectives with the proceeds of its first public bond sale."

These are:

1. Redemption of the authority's existing outstanding bonds in the amount of $5,100,000.

2. Completion of the Kingston bridge, for which the major substructure and superstructure contracts were awarded earlier this year. The estimated cost of the completed project is approximately $18,300,000, including approaches, and it is scheduled to be completed by the end of 1956.

3. Establishment of a development fund to be used principally for location suyveys, test borings and the preparation of engineering plans and specifications for the Newburgh-Beacon bridge. It is proposed to build up this fund out of bond proceeds and revenues to a sum of $1,200,000."

THE AUTHORITY SAID, "The exact amount of the bond issue has not yet been determined, as it will depend in part on the authority's funds on hand and various provisions of the financing, which have yet to be worked out. At present, however, at appears that the amount of the issue will be approximately $21,000,000."

Robert Hoe, of Poughkeepsie, the authority's chairman, said

Guaranteed Annual Wage Is Called Unsound Plan

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—The guaranteed annual wage is financially unsound, whether management or government pays the bill, the National Assn. of Manufacturers was told today.

"I believe," Sligh said, "that a contemporary version of the New Deal's Blue Eagle and the NRA could no more solve the problems of guaranteed employment than it did the problems of unemployment 20 years ago."

He asserted that the annual wage guaranteed by management "often adds a fatal risk to business enterprise and freezes the cost of labor at a level which could prove disastrous during a period of business decline."

"Even the few companies whose guarantee plans have enjoyed a degree of success are clearly limited in their operation, and nearly all plans contain escape clauses or time limitations," said Sligh, a former NAM president.

Newburgh Bridge Is 2 Years Off

Financing May Be Downriver Block

Completion of the Kingston-Rhinebeck bridge as scheduled was listed as a major objective of the New York State Bridge Authority, which, in a meeting here yesterday, also indicated that the Newburgh span will not start before two years, and said it would do its part in a new bridge approach project at Poughkeepsie.

The authority said it plans to market its bonds for financing the Kingston bridge early in 1955 "under arrangements, which will leave the way open to proceed with the Newburgh-Beacon bridge as soon as it can be demonstrated that the authority is economically justified in doing so."

IN REPLY to a recent query by Mayor Robert E. Stevens, of Poughkeepsie, as to the authority's part in a proposed new Mid-Hudson bridge approach on the Poughkeepsie side, the authority said, it "is responsible for doing such construction on the Poughkeepsie end of the Mid-Hudson Bridge as is necessary to facilitate traffiic."

It added however, that "When the arterial highway in Poughkeepsie is constructed by the state it will undoubtedly provide for a bridge connection. There is no reason for the bridge authority to relieve the state of the cost of this construction. When we know the plan for such connection, we can then determine what bridge improvements will be necessary, and we expect to make them."

"IN REFERENCE to the payment by the authority of any part of the cost of acquiring land for the arterial highway in Poughkeepsie," the statement said, "the members of the authority are of the opinion that it is not the responsibility of the authority to do so."

A statement on the Newburgh bridge proposal, after citing revenue prospects, noted that "In any event, a minimum of two years will be required for the preliminary work necessary to advance the Newburgh bridge to the construction stage."

THE AUTHORITY said that "Upon recommendation of its financial advisors, R. W. Pressprich & Co., and its consulting engineers, Madison-Hyland, both of New York, the authority proposes to accomplish three immediate objectives with the proceeds of its first public bond sale."

These are:

1. Redemption of the authority's existing outstanding bonds in the amount of $5,100,000.

2. Completion of the Kingston bridge, for which the major substructure and superstructure contracts were awarded earlier this year. The estimated cost of the completed project is approximately $18,300,000, including approaches, and it is scheduled to be completed by the end of 1956.

3. Establishment of a development fund to be used principally for location suyveys, test borings and the preparation of engineering plans and specifications for the Newburgh-Beacon bridge. It is proposed to build up this fund out of bond proceeds and revenues to a sum of $1,200,000."

THE AUTHORITY SAID, "The exact amount of the bond issue has not yet been determined, as it will depend in part on the authority's funds on hand and various provisions of the financing, which have yet to be worked out. At present, however, at appears that the amount of the issue will be approximately $21,000,000."

Robert Hoe, of Poughkeepsie, the authority's chairman, said

Ex-W. Hurley Flier Is Killed in Crackup

A former West Hurley airman, George D. McCormick, 37, was one of two victims in the crash of a Northeast Airlines plane in New Hampshire, the Associated Press reports today. There were five survivors.

Co-Pilot McCormick came to this country from Amsterdam, Netherlands, his former wife, Mrs. Katrine Groves McCormick, of West Hurley, said today. McCormick is survived by a son, Sherman Groves McCormick, 7, and a daughter, Clare Chapin McCormick, 3½.

Co-Pilot McCormick came to this country in 1939 and served with the U. S. Naval Air Force. He held a lieutenant commander's rank in the Naval Reserve. At the time of his death he was a resident of Boston, Mass.

The crashed plane was found today near Milan, N. H., atop snow-covered Mt. Success. Another man, John McNulty, 39, of Boston, an NEA flight superintendent, also died. McNulty was making a routine flight check.

Survivors of the air crash had been marooned since midday Tuesday in near-zero temperature. Among those removed to a Berlin, N. H. hospital by helicopter was the only woman aboard, Stewardess Mary L. McEttrick, 23, of Boston.

A VETERAN FLIER on his day off discovered the wreckage this morning after a score of planes had flown over the vast, mountainous region the past two days without success. He is Apostolis N. Bountis, 33, of Manchester, N. Y., a Trans-Ocean Airline pilot.

The survivors are: Pilot Capt. W. Peter Carey, 37, of Swampscott, Mass., the most seriously hurt; Stewardess McEttrick, and the three passengers, James W. Harvey, 52, of Watertown, Mass.; W. Miller of Philadelphia, and Daniel H. Hall of Montclair, N. J.

ALL BUT CAREY were able to walk from a helicopter which

Brother Supports Coat Defense

Cleveland, Dec. 2 (AP) — The brown corduroy jacket Dr. Samuel sheppard wore the night his wife was killed was left in a crumpled heap on the floor, not neatly folded on a cough, Sheppard's brother Stephen testified today.

Dr. Stephen Sheppard, elder brother of Dr. Samuel and also an osteopath, was the first defense witness in the seven-week-old first degree murder trial. The younger Dr. Sheppard is accused of bludgeoning his pregnant wife, Marilyn, in her bed at their home last July 4.

WHEN HE ENTERED his brother's home at approximately 6:15 a. m., July 4, the defendant's jacket lay on the floor, the witness told the Jury.

Previous testimony was that the coat was neatly folded on the living room couch. Dr. Sam

Higher Pay Is Plan for Jobless

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—A three-way drive is shaping up for next year to increase unemployment compensation, with employes footing the higher bill.

Secretary of Labor Mitchell disclosed last night a new Eisenhower administration plea to state governors to get their legislatures to enlarge the amount and duration of jobless pay to idle workers.

LABOR UNIONS are spearheading a second phase. Doubtful that State Legislatures will act, some unions are seeking through collective bargaining to get employers to supplement present state jobless pay.

A third effort will come in Congress. A dominantly Democratic group of lawmakers there plans to renew efforts to set federal standards which would require the states to raise their benefit levels.

Early this year Eisenhower called on the states to hike benefit payments and lengthen their duration, saying that giving laid-off workers partial pay during involuntary idleness would bol-

Fair Skiing Is Prospect

Prospects of skiing in the area over the coming weekend appeared to be fair, according to the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Reports this morning indicated 4 to 10 inches of new snow at Highmount, with ski conditions reported as "poor to fair." Tows will be running during the weekend.

Daily reports on ski conditions in the area will be available on a 24-hour basis beginning today, it was revealed. Anyone may secure the latest report at any time, night or day, by telephoning Kingston 5233. The service was arranged by the Trail Sweepers Ski Club and the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Pope Takes Bad Turn

Vatican City, Dec. 2 (AP)—Pope Pius XII has taken a turn for the worse.

The 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church has been in bed here since his return from Castel Gandolfo Saturday.

The news of his sudden turn for the worse came from the Vatican.

The pontiff has been suffering from a stomach ailment and hiccups that have made it difficult for him to sleep.

He has not been able to take any food by mouth since Saturday.

Such nourishment as the pontiff has been able to take he has received indirectly.

His private physician, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, has spent

Drowning of Man Called Supreme Thrill by Youths

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—A witness at the trial of three alleged kill-for-thrill gang members has testified that one of the teenagers called the drowning of a 34-year-old man "the supreme adventure of them all."

The defendant called burning the man's bare feet with a lighted cigarette a "gag," the prosecution witness said.

The testimony was given by Detective Raymond E. Duggan yesterday at the Brooklyn trial of Jack Koslow, 18; Melvin Mittman, 17, and Jerome Lieberman, 17.

The three Brooklyn youths are on trial on first degree murder charges in the death of Willard Menter, a factory worker, who drowned in the East river the night of Aug. 16.

Detectives testified yesterday about stories they said had been told to them by two of the defendants.

Duggan said Koslow admitted wakening Menter on a park bench by applying a lighted cigarette to his bare feet. Koslow called this a "gag," the detective said.

The witness said Koslow related that he and Mittman escorted the intoxicated Menter about three-fifths of a mile from the park to an East river pier.

On the pier, the reported con-

300 Workers From Ulster County

More than 400 men are employed on the construction of the new IBM plant just north of Kingston, the "great majority" of them from the Kingston area.

According to R. M. Hetema, superintendent of the Turner-Campbell Construction Co., general contractors, approximately 300 are from Ulster county.

CONSTRUCTION IS reported "on schedule" with the north end of the building "well advanced." Hetema said more than 6,000 yards of concrete had been poured. It will require 10,000 yards to complete the job. All concrete is being supplied by Kingston firms.

All structural steel has been erected except for a small amount at the boiler house.

Part of the window sash has been installed in the northern section of the building and glass brick is in place.

INSTALLATION of pre-cast concrete roof plank has been completed on the manufacturing

Albany Board Rejects Call on Absentee Vote

Albany, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Albany County Board of Elections today rejected the state's demand that all civilian and military absentee votes cast by legal residents of the county in the Nov. 2 election be shelved because of what the state said was "uncontrovertible" evidence of fraud.

The four-member board split 2-2 on the question of allowing protests filed by an assistant state attorney general in an investigation of the election in heavily Democratic Albany county.

County Attorney Walter L. Collins, a Democrat, said that a majority vote was required if the protest was to be allowed. The two Republican members voted in favor of the protest, and the two Democratic members against it.

All four members then signed a certification of the county canvass to the attorney general and the secretary of state.

The two Republicans, Edward G. Dillon and Frank Boardman, said, however, that they were signing only because the law, in the circumstances, required them to do so.

The certification included 1,571 absentee ballots. These were broken down as follows: 628 cast by servicemen and dependents and 943 by civilians.

Absentee ballots, civilian and military, were reported to have been approximately 4 to 1 in favor of Democratic candidates.

Robert W. Bush, an assistant attorney general in the inquiry and an unsuccessful Republican candidate for an Assembly seat from Albany county, submitted 21 statements from absentee voters purporting to show that their ballots had been counted incorrectly.

Bush said "an accurate canvass of the true vote, under these circumstances, is impossible, and the purported military and civilian absentee ballots now in your possession, should not be recanvassed."

He did not say what should be done. He said in a formal statement of protest to the election board that "the evidence that forged ballots have been counted is uncontrovertible." He added: 'Preliminary examination of the envelope presents unmistakable evidence of tampering."

Bush submitted to the board 16 statements he said were made under oath and five he said were "in writing of unquestionable veracity."

The affidavits were filed in a second protest supplementing

New Move Follows Earlier 67-20 Vote

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Senate, having voted 67-20 to condemn Sen. McCarthy for "abusing" his colleagues, came to grips today with the issue of whether to censure him for his treatment of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker.

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), a supporter of McCarthy, launched an attack on the Zwicker count of the general censure resolution by offering an amendment to strike out part of the language.

AN HOUR'S DEBATE was alloted on Jenner's move.

The second count specifically charges tnat McCarthy "intemperately abused" Zwicker when the army officer was a witness before McCarthy last February.

Among other things, McCarthy told Zwicker, a much-decorated war hero, that he wasn't fit to wear the uniform of a general.

Jenner proposed to eliminate language in the censure resolution saying that McCarthy's actions toward Zwicker tended "to destroy the good faith which must be maintained between the executive and legislative branches in our system of government."

But, after making a speech, Jenner withdrew his amendment. Offering an amendment and then withdrawing it is a common maneuver when the Senate has limited debate. It permits the senator to obtain time for a speech.

Jenner devoted much of his speech to talk about the dangers of the Communist conspiracy, commenting "just look how the Communists have disrupted the work" of the Senate.

THE RESULT of this disruption, he said, had been too tie up completely the work of the investigations subcommittee headed by McCarthy and to let many "Fifth Amendment Communists" continue in jobs they hold.

McCarthy was not in the Senate chamber as Jenner spoke. He spent little time on the floor yesterday and was not there when the Senate voted 67-20 last night to approve the first count of the censure resolution — that McCarthy had been contemptuous of a 1951-52 elections subcommittee and abusive to its members.

It was the first official rebuke of its kind handed out by the Senate in 26 years, but McCarthy was outwardly unsurprised and undismayed.

CALLING THE SENATE proceedings "a foul job," he said that as soon as the smoke clears he will "continue to expose

ONE HUNDRED YEARS OF BANKING SERVICE to the citizens of Kingston and Ulster county are the records of Charles Snyder, left, cashier of the National Ulster County Bank, this city, and Harry S. Ensign, treasurer of the Kingston Savings Bank. Each man has completed 50 years in the banking business. (Freeman Photos)

Two Local Men Honored By Friends and Associates

Harry S. Ensign, treasurer of the Kingston Savings Bank, was honored yesterday and today upon the completion of 50 years with that bank.

Beginning at 10 a. m. Wednesday, congratulations streamed in from Ensign's associates, friends, business acquaintances, and civic leaders.

CHARLES SNYDER, one of the many who called to felicitate Ensign, also came in for his share of congratulations as Kingston's other half-century banker. Cashier of the National Ulster County Bank of Kingston, Snyder is "dean" of the city's bankers, having completed his 50 years' service in October of this year.

First of three surprises planned for Ensign came at 10 a. m. Wednesday when staff members at his bank presented him with a alligator wallet containing a sum of money.

BY PRE-ARRANGEMENT, a large number of Ensign's friends entered the bank at the same time to greet him. Among them were Snyder, Mayor Frederick H. Stang, Police Chief Raymond Van Buren, Fire Chief Joseph Murphy, presidents of other Kingston banks, and Miss Katherine M. Murphy, executive secretary of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

The next surprise event took place in the evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel, where trustees of the bank had planned a dinner to honor Ensign.

HOLT N. WINFIELD, president of Kingston Savings Bank, was master of ceremonies and presented Ensign with a gold watch on behalf of the trustees.

Today at noon, the Kiwanis Club recognized both Snyder and Ensign at the club's regular luncheon meeting. Both are members and past presidents of the Kiwanis Club.

ENSIGN IS THE SIXTH treasurer to serve the Kingston Savings Bank in its 80 years of existence. Employed at the bank since December 1, 1904, Ensign was named treasurer in 1938, succeeding Charles H. de la Vergne.

Ensign served as president of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association for 15 years, succeeding the late Joseph M. Fowler. Previously he had served as vice president and as treasurer. He is at the pres-

Guaranteed Annual Wage Is Called Unsound Plan

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—The guaranteed annual wage is financially unsound, whether management or government pays the bill, the National Assn. of Manufacturers was told today.

In a speech prepared for delivery before 3,000 industrialists attending the NAM's annual convention, Charles R. Sligh, Jr., president of Sligh Furniture Companies, Grand Rapids, Mich., said:

"The theory of the government guaranteeing work and wages is a retracing of the socialistic road we trod in the 1930's.

"I believe," Sligh said, "that a contemporary version of the New Deal's Blue Eagle and the NRA could no more solve the problems of guaranteed employment than it did the problems of unemployment 20 years ago."

He asserted that the annual wage guaranteed by management "often adds a fatal risk to business enterprise and freezes the cost of labor at a level which could prove disastrous during a period of business decline."

"Even the few companies whose guarantee plans have enjoyed a degree of success are clearly limited in their operation, and nearly all plans contain escape clauses or time limitations," said Sligh, a former NAM president.

GOP Leaders Are Ready to Assume Powers on Policy

Albany, Dec. 2 (AP)—Republican leaders in the Legislature are preparing to take on the policy-making powers that outgoing Gov. Dewey exercised for 12 years as head of the GOP state party.

L. Judson Morhouse, Republican state chairman, said yesterday that the party's legislative chieftains would meet throughout the 1955 session "for discussion of party policy and procedure."

His statement followed a closed meeting with Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck of Schenectady and Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo, GOP majority leader in the Senate.

HECK SAID the trio had made "some exploratory ventures" at the meting but had reached "no conclusions" on the Republican program and strategy for the session, which opens Jan. 5.

Morhouse said the Assembly speaker and Senate majority leader "will be in general charge" of future meetings.

Heck and Mahoney probably will be re-elected to their leadership posts when the Legislature is organized next year. The Republicans again hold comfortable majorities in both Houses.

FOR THE FIRST time since 1942, however, a Democratic governor — Averell Harriman — will be in the Executive Mansion. He takes over from Dewey Jan. 1.

During his three terms in office, Dewey held regular conferences with legislative leaders, including chairmen of the Legislature's Financial Committee and other top-ranking Republicans. The new series of meetings apparently is intended to take the place of those conferences.

Morhouse said that "other Republican legislators who are particularly conversant with specific parts of our program" would attend meetings at which those subjects were to be discussed.

Presumably Morhouse and Rep. Jacob K. Javits, the Republican attorney general-elect, will attend some or all of the get-togethers. Dewey customarily included the party chairman and the attorney general in his policy conferences.

McFerrin Is Signed

New York, Dec. 2 (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera has signed a second Negro to sing leading roles. Robert McFerrin, a baritone, will be the first Negro to join the company on a general repertory basis. Contralto Marian Anderson, the first Negro hired, joined the company specifically to sing the role of Ulrica in "The Masked Ball" this season. She will make her debut in January. Hiring of McFerrin was announced yesterday by Manager Rudolf Bing. McFerrin, 32, won the Metropolitan Opera auditions of the air in 1953. He made his opera debut in the title role of "Rigoletto" with the New England Opera Co., at Boston. McFerrin, an army veteran, is a native of Marianna, Ark., and spent his early childhood in Memphis.

The idea of a state flower originated in 1891, when New York selected the wild rose.

Desmond Whacks At Obsolete Laws

Albany, Dec. 2 (AP)—State Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, who has been sharpening the axe for out-of-date laws, today listed five more statutes as dead wood he wants to trim from the books.

Desmond, a Republican from Newburgh, said he would introduce bills at the 1955 session of the Legislature to repeal:

A law, dating back to the Civil War, that bars the sale of the services of a kidnaped slave or other kidnaped person.

A 73-YEAR-OLD law forbidding anyone to urge a worker to shun railroad jobs if he is required to wear a uniform.

A 45-year-old law banning sale or transfer of tickets of the People's Institute, a forum group reported out of business for at least 20 years.

A 24-year-old law requiring illuminated floor numbers on each floor of any building of two or more stories. Desmond said the rule was ignored widely.

A 50-YEAR-OLD law requiring second class cities to appoint district health officials who must give free medical treatment to patients recommended by overseers of the poor, a job abolished long ago.

The five laws "are for the most part relics of the Civil War and hoop-skirt era," Desmond said.

The senator, who is chairman of the Senate Committee on the affairs of cities, said his group also was investigating the possibility of repealing an old law that forbids dueling.

He explained that the statutes against manslaughter, homicide and assault were believed to cover the situation.

Barrymore Leaves Estate to Nurse

Los Angeles, Dec. 2 (AP)—Lionel Barrymore's $25,000 estate will go to 40-year-old Miss Florence Rozella Wheeler, who was his nurse for many years.

The veteran actor, who died Nov. 15 at the age of 76, named Miss Wheeler as his sole beneficiary. His will, filed for probate yesterday, specified that anyone succeeding in establishing claim to the estate should receive no more than $1.

Lionel's estate consists of real and personal property, including etchings, paintings and other works of art that he personally executed. Assets also include royalties from books that could enhance the estate considerably. The will was dated Feb. 24, 1950.

Barrymore listed as his only heirs at law, his sister, Ethel Barrymore, a nephew, John Barrymore Jr., and two nieces, Diana and Dolores Barrymore.

Lionel had lived at the home of Miss Wheeler for the last 18 years. She also nursed Lionel's wife, actress Irene Fenwick, in her final illness.

Complains of Noise

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 2 (AP) — Miss America of 1955 came to town yesterday and Judge T. Linus Hoban complained about all the noise. The wailing of police sirens featured a parade welcoming Miss Lee Ann Meriweather. Judge Hoban, hearing testimony in a criminal case at the time, ordered the district attorney to telephone Mayor James T. Hanlon and ask him to stop the noise. "I'm sick and tired of hearing sirens sound while court is in session," Judge Hoban remarked. Miss America was unaware that her visit had disturbed the judge.

During his three terms in office, Dewey held regular conferences with legislative leaders, including chairmen of the Legislature's Financial Committee and other top-ranking Republicans. The new series of meetings apparently is intended to take the place of those conferences.

Morhouse said that "other Republican legislators who are particularly conversant with specific parts of our program" would attend meetings at which those subjects were to be discussed.

Presumably Morhouse and Rep. Jacob K. Javits, the Republican attorney general-elect, will attend some or all of the get-togethers. Dewey customarily included the party chairman and the attorney general in his policy conferences.

McFerrin Is Signed

New York, Dec. 2 (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera has signed a second Negro to sing leading roles. Robert McFerrin, a baritone, will be the first Negro to join the company on a general repertory basis. Contralto Marian Anderson, the first Negro hired, joined the company specifically to sing the role of Ulrica in "The Masked Ball" this season. She will make her debut in January. Hiring of McFerrin was announced yesterday by Manager Rudolf Bing. McFerrin, 32, won the Metropolitan Opera auditions of the air in 1953. He made his opera debut in the title role of "Rigoletto" with the New England Opera Co., at Boston. McFerrin, an army veteran, is a native of Marianna, Ark., and spent his early childhood in Memphis.

Desmond Whacks At Obsolete Laws

Albany, Dec. 2 (AP)—State Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, who has been sharpening the axe for out-of-date laws, today listed five more statutes as dead wood he wants to trim from the books.

Desmond, a Republican from Newburgh, said he would introduce bills at the 1955 session of the Legislature to repeal:

A law, dating back to the Civil War, that bars the sale of the services of a kidnaped slave or other kidnaped person.

A 73-YEAR-OLD law forbidding anyone to urge a worker to shun railroad jobs if he is required to wear a uniform.

A 45-year-old law banning sale or transfer of tickets of the People's Institute, a forum group reported out of business for at least 20 years.

A 24-year-old law requiring illuminated floor numbers on each floor of any building of two or more stories. Desmond said the rule was ignored widely.

A 50-YEAR-OLD law requiring second class cities to appoint district health officials who must give free medical treatment to patients recommended by overseers of the poor, a job abolished long ago.

The five laws "are for the most part relics of the Civil War and hoop-skirt era," Desmond said.

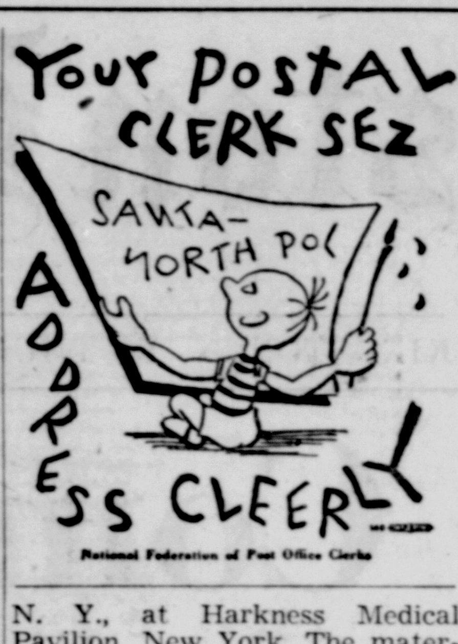
The senator, who is chairman of the Senate Committee on the affairs of cities, said his group also was investigating the possibility of repealing an old law that forbids dueling.

He explained that the statutes against manslaughter, homicide and assault were believed to cover the situation.

Ignored, unenforced, obsolete laws are the dangerous deadwood of our legal system," Desmond declared. They invite the scrutiny only of lawyers seeking a loophole, no matter how ancient."

Has 11th Grandchild

Boston, Dec. 2 (AP) — Gov. Herter became a grandfather for the 11th time yesterday. A daughter, Caroline Ames Herter, was born to his son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Frederic P. Herter of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., at Harkness Medical Pavilion, New York. The maternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Leroy Conel of Newton.



Barrymore Leaves Estate to Nurse

Los Angeles, Dec. 2 (AP)—Lionel Barrymore's $25,000 estate will go to 40-year-old Miss Florence Rozella Wheeler, who was his nurse for many years.

The veteran actor, who died Nov. 15 at the age of 76, named Miss Wheeler as his sole beneficiary. His will, filed for probate yesterday, specified that anyone succeeding in establishing claim to the estate should receive no more than $1.

Lionel's estate consists of real and personal property, including etchings, paintings and other works of art that he personally executed. Assets also include royalties from books that could enhance the estate considerably. The will was dated Feb. 24, 1950.

Barrymore listed as his only heirs at law, his sister, Ethel Barrymore, a nephew, John Barrymore Jr., and two nieces, Diana and Dolores Barrymore.

Lionel had lived at the home of Miss Wheeler for the last 18 years. She also nursed Lionel's wife, actress Irene Fenwick, in her final illness.

Red Horror

Kuala Lumpur (AP) — Horror pictures are drawing record crowds. The films show what happened to murder victims of Communist terrorists which British troops and security forces have been battling for six years. The general comment on the gruesome collection: "Horrible, but effective."

Complains of Noise

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 2 (AP) — Miss America of 1955 came to town yesterday and Judge T. Linus Hoban complained about all the noise. The wailing of police sirens featured a parade welcoming Miss Lee Ann Meriweather. Judge Hoban, hearing testimony in a criminal case at the time, ordered the district attorney to telephone Mayor James T. Hanlon and ask him to stop the noise. "I'm sick and tired of hearing sirens sound while court is in session," Judge Hoban remarked. Miss America was unaware that her visit had disturbed the judge.

PRESIDING — Bishop William C. Martin, president of the National Council of Churches, will preside at the Council's Third General Assembly at Boston, Mass., Nov. 28 to Dec. 3. Some 2000 church leaders will review work carried out by the Council, and help map plans for future projects.

GOP Leaders Are Ready to Assume Powers on Policy

Albany, Dec. 2 (AP)—Republican leaders in the Legislature are preparing to take on the policy-making powers that outgoing Gov. Dewey exercised for 12 years as head of the GOP state party.

L. Judson Morhouse, Republican state chairman, said yesterday that the party's legislative chieftains would meet throughout the 1955 session "for discussion of party policy and procedure."

His statement followed a closed meeting with Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck of Schenectady and Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo, GOP majority leader in the Senate.

HECK SAID the trio had made "some exploratory ventures" at the meting but had reached "no conclusions" on the Republican program and strategy for the session, which opens Jan. 5.

Morhouse said the Assembly speaker and Senate majority leader "will be in general charge" of future meetings.

Heck and Mahoney probably will be re-elected to their leadership posts when the Legislature is organized next year. The Republicans again hold comfortable majorities in both Houses.

FOR THE FIRST time since 1942, however, a Democratic governor — Averell Harriman — will be in the Executive Mansion. He takes over from Dewey Jan. 1.

During his three terms in office, Dewey held regular conferences with legislative leaders, including chairmen of the Legislature's Financial Committee and other top-ranking Republicans. The new series of meetings apparently is intended to take the place of those conferences.

Morhouse said that "other Republican legislators who are particularly conversant with specific parts of our program" would attend meetings at which those subjects were to be discussed.

Many Infected With TB Germs, Doctor Declares

Fully one-fourth of the American people have been infected with the germs that cause tuberculosis, Dr. Herbert Schwartz, medical director of the Ulster County TB Hospital, said Tuesday.

He urged every person to buy Christmas Seals generously to support the Ulster County TB and Health Association's efforts to check the spread of the disease. The Christmas Seal Sale, which opened Nov. 22, will continue through December.

"Most of the people who have TB germs in their systems will never break down with the disease," Dr. Schwartz said, "if there is no sharp decline in the standard of living and if the present level of the TB control program by both official and voluntary agenies is maintained."

He pointed out that TB will be a major public health problem until this reservoir of infection is eliminated.

"GREAT PROGRESS has been made in the years since the voluntary tuberculosis associations such as our own Ulster County TB Association began their fight against the disease," he said. "Deaths from the disease have been cut drastically to about 20,000 a year. But there will be about 110,000 new cases of TB this year."

To check the spread of TB, the association spends Christmas Seal funds for promotion of free chest X-rays, finances the rehabilitation worker for patients at the Ulster County TB Hospital, buys films, pamphlets, exhibits which give health information, pays for medical research and finances the program of the Mental Health Committee.

Salvation Army Doughnuts

The first of The Salvation Army's traditional doughnuts was made in the front-line trenches of World War 1. Abandoning a first plan to serve fudge to hungry soldiers, the lassies rolled out dough with a milk bottle, cut doughnuts wth a soldiers' pocket knife, and fried them in a container that held seven at a time. Later in the same war, they were serving 8,000 men a day.

Many Infected With TB Germs, Doctor Declares

Fully one-fourth of the American people have been infected with the germs that cause tuberculosis, Dr. Herbert Schwartz, medical director of the Ulster County TB Hospital, said Tuesday.

He urged every person to buy Christmas Seals generously to support the Ulster County TB and Health Association's efforts to check the spread of the disease. The Christmas Seal Sale, which opened Nov. 22, will continue through December.

"Most of the people who have TB germs in their systems will never break down with the disease," Dr. Schwartz said, "if there is no sharp decline in the standard of living and if the present level of the TB control program by both official and voluntary agenies is maintained."

He pointed out that TB will be a major public health problem until this reservoir of infection is eliminated.

"GREAT PROGRESS has been made in the years since the voluntary tuberculosis associations such as our own Ulster County TB Association began their fight against the disease," he said. "Deaths from the disease have been cut drastically to about 20,000 a year. But there will be about 110,000 new cases of TB this year."

To check the spread of TB, the association spends Christmas Seal funds for promotion of free chest X-rays, finances the rehabilitation worker for patients at the Ulster County TB Hospital, buys films, pamphlets, exhibits which give health information, pays for medical research and finances the program of the Mental Health Committee.

Salvation Army Doughnuts

The first of The Salvation Army's traditional doughnuts was made in the front-line trenches of World War 1. Abandoning a first plan to serve fudge to hungry soldiers, the lassies rolled out dough with a milk bottle, cut doughnuts wth a soldiers' pocket knife, and fried them in a container that held seven at a time. Later in the same war, they were serving 8,000 men a day.

FOR SAFER RIDING

Automobile industrialists have long been aware that in building powerful cars they are building machines equipped with more speed than the nation's roads can accommodate. They have known that in a faster car an accident can happen faster. Man's reactions are frequently slow, but even the driver possessing the quickest reactions cannot always avoid an accident. He may swerve away from a head-on collision, but too often it is only to turn into another car. Our roads are too crowded to offer much safety in avoiding accidents as long as drivers insist on using the full power.

Consequently, automobile manufacturers have tentatively begun to offer some safety to the riders. Cushioned crash panels are seen and shatter-proof glass, greatly improved driving vision and better windshield wipers. One item in mind for the past few years has been the safety belt. They have been loath to incorporate these in new cars for fear of public reaction.

There is no doubt that such straps would improve riding safety and greatly reduce the danger of being violently flung forward or out of the car. One thinks nothing of strapping oneself to the seat of an airplane. On a boat, life preservers are always in evidence. On a bus, everyone knows where the emergency door is and fire extinguishers are in plain sight.

It is no secret that cars can be dangerous. It is much wiser to admit it and to take precautionary measures than to pretend it is not there. If automobile manufacturers can produce cars of such power, they should be encouraged to help us adapt ourselves by building cars that include every safety device they can conceive.

RED INJUSTICE

Communist China has announced that 13 Americans have been sentenced to terms ranging from four years to life for espionage activities. Our government has labeled the charges false. It is difficult to see what the Chinese Reds hope to gain by this unjust and inhumane action unless they intend to use the Americans as levers to pry concessions from the United States.

What passes for justice in Communist countries is a mockery of the world. Recently two Americans imprisoned behind the Iron Curtain in Europe were freed and officials of governments which had held them in prison for several years admitted that a "mistake" had been made. While these Americans were in prison citizens of other Iron Curtain countries were jailed and executed for playing roles in espionage rings the Americans were supposed to have led.

The President of the United States has assured the mother of one of the Americans held by the Chinese Reds that everything possible is being done to liberate them. Our government should not be the only one to protest. All of our allies should express their formal protests. Perhaps the knowledge that none of the free nations is fooled by the attempts to label these Americans as espionage agents might have some effect.

FOURTH INDUSTRY

Most Americans know that the aircraft and automobile industries and steel are the largest businesses in the United States. Not many, however, would guess the fourth, which is fund raising. According to the new book, "Fund Raising Made Easy," by Edwin S. Newman and Leo J. Margolin, fundraisers handle $5,000,000,000 a year. This includes local community chests and campaigns for educational and philanthropic institutions.

The vastness of the sum is another proof of the unstinted generosity of the American people.

From the latter part of August until well into November, northerners—that is those not so near the Atlantic coast as New York and New England—are very snooty and satisfied about living where there aren't any hurricanes. But when the snow shovel comes down from its summer perch in the loft of the garage to its winter stance at the all alert, the South begins to have a lovely look.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE DIGNITY OF THE SENATE

One of the arguments in the current Senatorial debate is that the dignity of the Senate must be preserved. There can be no question about that. And only the Senate can preserve its own dignity.

For instance, when the Senate becomes a rubber stamp of the Executive, a mere affirming body, it loses in dignity. This has often happened and whenever it has, the people have lost confidence in their delegates to the upper house of the national legislature. When, therefore, Senator Frank Carlson speaks of the dignity of the Senate, he ought to review the relationship, according to the Constitution, of the three branches of our government, each of which is to be distinct and seperate from the other.

The Senate loses more dignity when it reduces itself to a body that passes legislation without reading it and without adequate debate, as it did when Mr. Roosevelt was President, than when a Senator appears on the floor drunk and stupefied or when one calls the other an improper name. It is a matter of perspective and balance.

Again, I note that some hold that before Senator William Knowland made his new celebrated speech on the foreign policy, he should have consulted the President or the Secretary of State. For what reason? The Senate is an independent body, separated from the President by constitutional arrangement. It has a definite authority in matters of foreign policy, a supervising authority which can be final. It has the authority to ratify treaties which cannot become part of our law without such ratification and it has the authority to confirm the appointments of all officials concerned in the formulation and conduct of the foreign policy except the President.

Therefore if a Senator chooses to discuss the foreign policy on the floor of the Senate, it is his right as a Senator and his duty as a citizen. The theory that Senators must conform to official policy, stated or secret, overtly announced to the people or suppressed from their knowledge, is untenable in the American theory of government and dangerous from the standpoint of the interest of the people. Imposed conformity could be more harmful in a free society than an erroneous statement. Conformity allays debate and scrutiny.

A further point is made that Senator Knowland, being the Senate leader of his party, which is also the party of the President, owes it to party loyalty to conform to the wishes of the President. In theory, at any rate, the floor leaders of the majority and minority in the Senate are chosen by the Senators and not by the Executive who is precluded from interference with the affairs of the Senate by the Constitution. Only the Senate can determine whether Senator Knowland has transgressed propriety by speaking freely as a Senator chosen by the people of California.

Furthermore, whatever may be a Senator's duties arising from party affiliations and appointments, his first and, in fact, only fixed obligation is to the people of the state which sent him to Congress. No Senator is a member of the administration of government and is forbidden from becoming such by the Constitution, to wit:

"No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the Authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been encreased during such time; and no Person holding any Office under the United States, shall be a Member of either House during his Continuance in Office."

It is, of course, different in Great Britain or France, where Cabinet officers are members of their legislative bodies. Our system of separate powers precludes that. No Senator need ever ask the Executive Branch of Government for advice or for consent about anything. On the other hand, the Executive Branch, in certain specific matters, is required by the Constitution to have the advice and consent of the Congress.

Senator William Knowland, therefore, was wholly within his rights to make a speech on the foreign policy without the advice and consent of President Eisenhower or Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. If, as a matter of personal choice, he desires to ask their advice, he would not transgress propriety; it is altogether wrong to ask their consent; that is, if the Constitution still obtains in this country.

That Body of Yours

CANADIAN GENERAL PRACTICE COLLEGE

Today we live in an age of specialists. These specialists are supposed to spend a number of years in their particular branch of medicine, surgery, gynecology and obstetrics, psychiatry and others, and they are usually kept so busy that they have little time left to do any of the other branches.

Many physicians today doing what is called a general practice, in most cases taking complete care of all patients who consult him, are beginning to wonder if this is not a specialty in itself. Toward the provision of better care for the patient and better opportunities for the family doctor, the College of General Practice of Canada has been formed with the following aims:

1. To establish an academic body with educational aims.
2. To arrange for undergraduate teaching by and for general practitioners.
3. To arrange for the presentation of postgraduate teaching for general practitioners.
4. To arrange for research in general practice.
5. To arrange for publication of original articles by general practitioners.
6. To arrange for hospital staff appointments for general practitioners.
7. To provide suitable recognition to members in the field of general practice.
8. To do all things necessary to maintain the high standard of general practice.

Three types of membership are planned: honorary, active and associate. Honorary members will be persons who have already made an outstanding contribution to the cause of general practice in Canada. Associate members will be those not yet eligible for full membership but working towards the latter.

The rules for active membership are fairly severe and in no case will such membership be conferred for more than two years at a time. At the end, renewal of membership will depend upon the applicant's having undertaken 100 hours of postgraduate study for the doctor to make up his 100 hours by attending formal medical society meetings, attendance at postgraduate courses approved by the college, taking part in hospital rounds, and such activities as reading courses, book reviewing, submission of scientific papers or case reports, and community service.

At the onset it is required that active members should have conformed with the above program, that they should have been in general pracice for five years or its equivalent, and conducted their practice on a high moral and ethical plane, and that they should be willing to undertake the necessary study for continued membership.

As was said by Dr. W. N. Pickles, president of the corresponding college in the United Kingdom, "On the shoulders of the family doctor rests the care of the people."

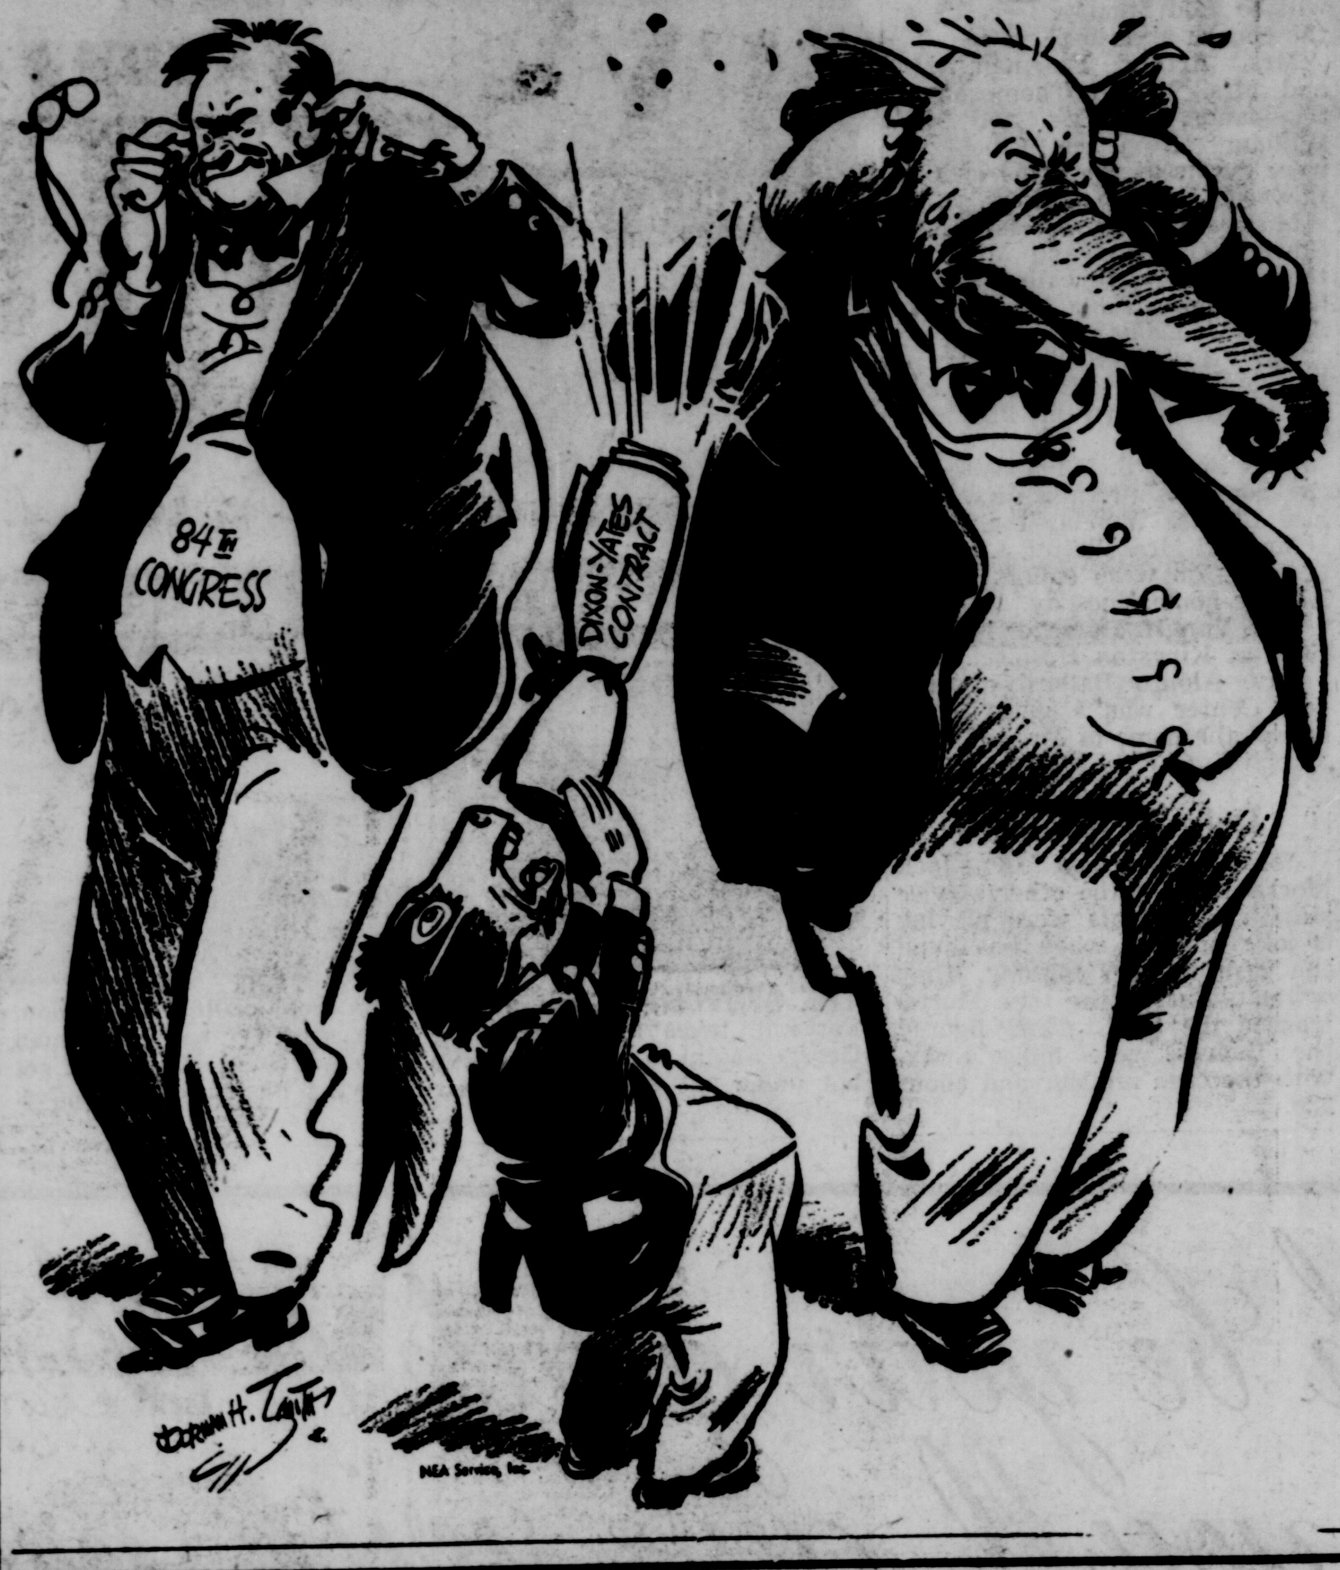
At Least Its Nuisance Value Will Be Great



Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Democratic National Committee has another big problem on its hands in addition to the election of a new national chairman to succeed retiring Stephen A. Mitchell. It is the committee's principal business before its big meeting at New Orleans, Dec. 4.

This is to find a solution for the troublesome party loyalty oath question which darn near wrecked the national convention at Chicago in 1952.

Electing the new national chairman from nearly a dozen candidates now being proposed by various factions will get most of the headlines. But this loyalty oath question is no less important because it looks ahead to writing rules for the Democratic national convention of 1956.

A big rules subcommittee headed by Steve Mitchell himself has been studying this problem, off and on, ever since '52. On the committee are governors, senators, representatives, delegates to the last convention and other party leaders who are not all members of the National Committee. The idea was to get broad representation from every faction and every section of the country, so no one could complain about whatever decision was reached.

IF A SOLUTION is not found at the New Orleans meeting, it is expected that the committee will be instructed to work on the problem some more. And it is possible that Mr. Mitchell will be asked to stay on as chairman of this committee until a new formula is found.

The way the rule reads now, every state delegation seated at a national convention is required to promise that it will "exert every honorable means" to get the names of the party's presidential and vice presidential nominees on its state's Democratic ballots.

The purpose of this rule, worked out by the National Committee prior to the opening of the 1952 Chicago convention, was to prevent a bolt of Southern Dixiecrats. In the 1948 election, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina had refused to support the Truman-Barkley tickets.

They threw their 38 electoral votes to the Dixiecrat, J. Strom Thurmond, instead. Truman won the election in spite of this desertion, but the Democratic leaders naturally wanted to avoid a repetition.

IT WAS THE LATE Sen. Blair Moody of Michigan who was chosen to introduce the resolution calling for the loyalty oath. It started one of the most dramatic fights of any convention.

South Carolina, Virginia and Louisiana delegations refused to accept the oath. South Carolina bolted, but then came back. Louisiana's Sen. Russell Long broke with his state's Gov. Robert F. Kennon over withdrawal and Convention Chairman Sam Rayburn of Texas ruled the Louisiana votes would be cast by the Long faction.

This permitted Senator Long to cast his state's vote for reseating Virginia's delegation. It had objected to the loyalty oath on the grounds that Virginia state law assured the party's nominees of a place on the ticket.

After Virginia was reseated, South Carolina and Louisiana regular delegations were granted full voting rights at the convention. But a compromise to the loyalty oath was adopted "for this convention only." It specified that the loyalty commitment "shall not be in contravention of" state laws or party regulations.

WHAT THE MITCHELL subcommittee on convention rules has to do is provide a new rule that will not cause any flareup of this kind in 1956. In trying to treat this old sore, the Democratic National Committee is really applying medication on a couple of other convention illnesses.

First is the problem of getting the ground rules for the 1956 convention worked out in advance, so as to save time. Second is to speed up convention procedure on polling various state delegations.

The long delays caused when some alternate delegate with a half vote demands a poll of his state have always been a pain in the neck to other delegates and to the radio and TV audiences as well. What the Democrats want for 1956 is a streamlined convention with fewer fights and more harmony.

In a way, this is too bad. Because Democratic conventions have always provided such nice fights to watch.

Censure to Mean End of Further Checks by Congress on Communistic Activities

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 2 — This week marks a milestone in American history. For this week sees the beginning of the end of effective investigation by committees of Congress into communistic activities inside or outside the government.

Adoption of the censure motion against Senator McCarthy means the squelching of all effective efforts in that direction not only by the Wisconsin Senator himself but those of any other senator.

For the die has been cast. In response to a widespread wave of passion throughout the country, the Senate, by an overwhelming majority, has voted resolutions of censure which will frighten any other senator in the future who ventures to pursue an investigation of communism.

Likewise, free speech as the Senate has known it heretofore has now been abolished and only those senators who conform—in their thinking and speaking—to the dictates of a temporary majority in the Senate can thereafter feel safe against the adoption of censure resolutions.

It is ironical that a crusade which began on the theory that Senator McCarthy was stifling free speech and insisting on conformity of thought now has wound up with a restriction upon the members of the United State Senate themselves who may hereafter try to express a dissenting viewpoint.

Many senators—in fact, most of them—will deny vehemently that their censure resolution against Senator McCarthy means any such drastic change. They will insist that investigations of communistic activity will go on with unabated zeal. But, while that will be the claim, realism requires that the true situation be reported. One by one, the chairman of committees investigating communism have been pilloried, beginning with Representative Martin Dies of Texas, Democrat. After the treatment given Senator McCarthy, what Senator will wish to risk censure or public calumny? Recalcitrant witnesses will be encouraged to new defiance of Congressional inquiries.

Already proposals are being made that a joint committee be formed from members of both houses to deal with the investigation of Communists. But anyone familiar with the techniques of Congressional committees knows that this is an insidious way to kill off any effective inquiry. Joint committees have no centralized responsibility, and it is difficult for a staff to be assembled which can do an efficient job under such joint control.

So, for all practical purposes, the fight that has been made by a valiant group of Americans other than Senator McCarthy to expose communism inside America has been lost.

Much of the responsibility for what has happened, curiously enough, must be borne by Senator McCarthy himself. As a tactician in the fight against him personally, he has made blunder after blunder. He had a good case on legal and constitutional grounds but he muffed it—indeed, he forfeited it—by insisting on constant attacks on his fellow senators at the special session that began November 8.

"I realize," a senator who voted against McCarthy said to this correspondent privately, "that there are many good arguments against censure, but Joe simply showed his contempt for his fellow senators and they are all human after all."

So Senator McCarthy lost his own battle, and his colleagues in the Senate were not able to rise above the passions of the hour or their own sense of indignation to refuse to write into the record a precedent that will plague the Senate for decades to come. The closing hours of the debate on Wednesday showed how perplexed and bewildered some of the senators were as they struggled with the legal phases only to find themselves influenced finally by the personality prejudices involved.

Abuse of Senator McCarthy during the debate and the use of intemperate language about him rendered absurd the pious statement that the Senate was trying to uphold its own dignity. As for "traditional conduct," the Senate has never been any different from what it has been this week. Senator Lehman, for instance, made a bitter attack on Senator McCarthy in violation of Senate rules, but all that happened to him was an order to take his seat and a moment later he was permitted to proceed. Nobody mentioned censure for him.

The fact remains that only the man who fought communism has been or will be censured. Senator McCarthy, of course, deserved a rebuke for his attacks on fellow senators, but many of those same attacks were provoked. And the Watkins committee itself held that provocation is a basis for withholding censure in certain circumstances.

The net result of it all is not only a defeat for Senator McCarthy—who will, of course, appeal to the country for vindication—but also a defeat for those who have felt that communistic activities should be exposed through relentless investigations by congressional committees.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The movie industry has made two biographical films of Al Jolson, who was highly regarded in the amusement trade but seems to me to have been otherwise unimportant, although he may have left an impression on our taste or culture which we are not aware of. I have heard that there is a movie in work to exalt Miss Sophie Tucker as a great American and, again, conceding that she may have art and skill discernible to her colleagues, I doubt that her contribution to the generation justifies a memorial that great.

The biographical movie may not be very good merchandise anyway. I can readily understand why it might not be. But if this type of story is a fair risk, the one I would most like to see would be a true, but not hostile, appraisal of William Randolph Hearst both as an editor and as a patriot. He was one of the good giants of his time and I write that knowing most of those facts which will bring a smirk to the features of the knowing reader.

Nevertheless, Hearst was a great man who fought with magnificent courage especially when he took awful chances of economic destruction in his futile effort to keep the United States out of the First World War, which was absolutely no business of ours. He took boycotts, his paper supplies were threatened and the personal abuse which he endured was the worse because so much of it came from quarters where he should have been defended and heartened.

However, Hearst could dish it and when he had to take it he never whimpered but fought back the harder. His International News Service was thrown out of England because he had published a dramatic photograph of a great British battleship going down. We on the United Press, where I was serving as a cub, exulted as though this misfortune of an opponent had some personal flavor. This picture had been snapped from the deck of a passenger liner which came upon the sinking dreadnaught and Hearst used to flaunt it occasionally thereafter, taunting the British Admiralty for its refusal to let the British people know the worst, although, of course, the Germans knew it.

The INS soon established a pipeline into an AP paper here in the States whence the AP report was filched and transmitted to New York. The scheme exploded when the AP planted a fake report of the sinking of the non-existent Russian battleship Fliba, which was some kind of play on the name of the New York Globe. There was hell to pay for a while, but Hearst weathered the embarrassment and I can tell you that we, on the U.P., used to crib most of our Chicago and New York coverage out of the afternoon papers as fast as they came up from the street.

We all were barbarians in those days except the A.P., which was badly overloaded with manpower and couldn't move fast enough to get out of its own way. The A.P. would throw in ten men where the opposition would rely on one cub and the cub often trimmed the ears off A.P.'s team.

But International News is only one phase of Hearst's journalism. He fought communism way back in the early twenties and many individuals who came to power under Roosevelt and Truman both in politics and in the unions were blood-red Communists in those days and were so denounced by Hearst. He realized this iniquity years before most of us began to get uneasy early in the New Deal. It was just our fault that we didn't believe him.

He fought Tammany, in person, on the stump and in his papers, and as one who will always hold Al Smith in affection I nevertheless agree that Hearst was right in his appraisal of the dirty machine which Al represented.

Young Bill once told me that Pops told him in later years that he regretted that he had campaigned for the direct election of senators, a radical departure from the spirit of the Constitution which gave us, actually, just 96 more congressmen-at-large, serving six-year terms and in a separate House. The change brought no improvement in the quality of the Senate and Arthur J. Goldsmith, of the Waldorf Tower, by his use of money in several states, has proved that the evil which the amendment was intended to cure goes on after all these years, probably worse than in the days when corporations kept lobbies in the state capitals to buy votes for their candidates.

There is the makings of tremendous historical drama in the phone call to an elderly millionaire in a castle on a mountain overlooking the Pacific at San Simeon which actually decided the fate of this Republic but in a way which no man could have foreseen. That was the call in which Mr. Hearst released the California and Texas delegations to Roosevelt at Chicago in 1932. That did it and we got the New Deal, Communists all over the capital, packed courts, war, inflation and a very measurable deterioration of our personal moral standards through the influence of bad people on high.

Of course, Mr. Hearst could not forsee Roosevelt's course. He believed Roosevelt as so many millions of us did in that campaign of 1932 and, like the rest of us, either had no evidence or could not believe the evidence that he was an utterly cynical liar and unpatriotic opportunist. Mr. Hearst wrote that he believed the success of the Democratic administration was more important to the nation than to the party and intended to do his best to make it succeed.

But it was the decision of one man on a mountain given by phone that sent Roosevelt to the White House and I challenge the movie industry to come up with any single episode as simple and fateful as that in the life of any other individual.

Hearst should be remembered in the prayers of every newspaper worker in the land, for he took us out of the clutch of the loan-sharks and away from the free-lunch counter and set a scale of pay which was actually lavish at the time and forced his competitors to meet it. I don't want a total eulogy. I want his faults mixed into this story enlivened by the fantastic characters that he chose for some of his executive jobs. He loved his country with great ardor but knew the actual people altogether by hearsay after his brief personal fling at politics.

FOR SAFER RIDING

Automobile industrialists have long been aware that in building powerful cars they are building machines equipped with more speed than the nation's roads can accommodate. They have known that in a faster car an accident can happen faster. Man's reactions are frequently slow, but even the driver possessing the quickest reactions cannot always avoid an accident. He may swerve away from a head-on collision, but too often it is only to turn into another car. Our roads are too crowded to offer much safety in avoiding accidents as long as drivers insist on using the full power.

Consequently, automobile manufacturers have tentatively begun to offer some safety to the riders. Cushioned crash panels are seen and shatter-proof glass, greatly improved driving vision and better windshield wipers. One item in mind for the past few years has been the safety belt. They have been loath to incorporate these in new cars for fear of public reaction.

There is no doubt that such straps would improve riding safety and greatly reduce the danger of being violently flung forward or out of the car. One thinks nothing of strapping oneself to the seat of an airplane. On a boat, life preservers are always in evidence. On a bus, everyone knows where the emergency door is and fire extinguishers are in plain sight.

It is no secret that cars can be dangerous. It is much wiser to admit it and to take precautionary measures than to pretend it is not there. If automobile manufacturers can produce cars of such power, they should be encouraged to help us adapt ourselves by building cars that include every safety device they can conceive.

RED INJUSTICE

Communist China has announced that 13 Americans have been sentenced to terms ranging from four years to life for espionage activities. Our government has labeled the charges false. It is difficult to see what the Chinese Reds hope to gain by this unjust and inhumane action unless they intend to use the Americans as levers to pry concessions from the United States.

What passes for justice in Communist countries is a mockery of the world. Recently two Americans imprisoned behind the Iron Curtain in Europe were freed and officials of governments which had held them in prison for several years admitted that a "mistake" had been made. While these Americans were in prison citizens of other Iron Curtain countries were jailed and executed for playing roles in espionage rings the Americans were supposed to have led.

The President of the United States has assured the mother of one of the Americans held by the Chinese Reds that everything possible is being done to liberate them. Our government should not be the only one to protest. All of our allies should express their formal protests. Perhaps the knowledge that none of the free nations is fooled by the attempts to label these Americans as espionage agents might have some effect.

FOURTH INDUSTRY

Most Americans know that the aircraft and automobile industries and steel are the largest businesses in the United States. Not many, however, would guess the fourth, which is fund raising. According to the new book, "Fund Raising Made Easy," by Edwin S. Newman and Leo J. Margolin, fund-raisers handle $5,000,000,000 a year. This includes local community chests and campaigns for educational and philanthropic institutions.

The vastness of the sum is another proof of the unstinted generosity of the American people.

From the latter part of August until well into November, northerners—that is those not so near the Atlantic coast as New York and New England—are very snooty and satisfied about living where there aren't any hurricanes. But when the snow shovel comes down from its summer perch in the loft of the garage to its winter stance at the all alert, the South begins to have a lovely look.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE DIGNITY OF THE SENATE

One of the arguments in the current Senatorial debate is that the dignity of the Senate must be preserved. There can be no question about that. And only the Senate can preserve its own dignity.

For instance, when the Senate becomes a rubber stamp of the Executive, a mere affirming body, it loses in dignity. This has often happened and whenever it has, the people have lost confidence in their delegates to the upper house of the national legislature. When, therefore, Senator Frank Carlson speaks of the dignity of the Senate, he ought to review the relationship, according to the Constitution, of the three branches of our government, each of which is to be distinct and seperate from the other.

The Senate loses more dignity when it reduces itself to a body that passes legislation without reading it and without adequate debate, as it did when Mr. Roosevelt was President, than when a Senator appears on the floor drunk and stupefied or when one calls the other an improper name. It is a matter of perspective and balance.

Again, I note that some hold that before Senator William Knowland made his new celebrated speech on the foreign policy, he should have consulted the President or the Secretary of State. For what reason? The Senate is an independent body, separated from the President by constitutional arrangement. It has a definite authority in matters of foreign policy, a supervising authority which can be final. It has the authority to ratify treaties which cannot become part of our law without such ratification and it has the authority to confirm the appointments of all officials concerned in the formulation and conduct of the foreign policy except the President.

Therefore if a Senator chooses to discuss the foreign policy on the floor of the Senate, it is his right as a Senator and his duty as a citizen. The theory that Senators must conform to official policy, stated or secret, overtly announced to the people or suppressed from their knowledge, is untenable in the American theory of government and dangerous from the standpoint of the interest of the people. Imposed conformity could be more harmful in a free society than an erroneous statement. Conformity allays debate and scrutiny.

A further point is made that Senator Knowland, being the Senate leader of his party, which is also the party of the President, owes it to party loyalty to conform to the wishes of the President. In theory, at any rate, the floor leaders of the majority and minority in the Senate are chosen by the Senators and not by the Executive who is precluded from interference with the affairs of the Senate by the Constitution. Only the Senate can determine whether Senator Knowland has transgressed propriety by speaking freely as a Senator chosen by the people of California.

Furthermore, whatever may be a Senator's duties arising from party affiliations and appointments, his first and, in fact, only fixed obligation is to the people of the state which sent him to Congress. No Senator is a member of the administration of government and is forbidden from becoming such by the Constitution, to wit:

"No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the Authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been encreased during such time; and no Person holding any Office under the United States, shall be a Member of either House during his Continuance in Office."

It is, of course, different in Great Britain or France, where Cabinet officers are members of their legislative bodies. Our system of separate powers precludes that. No Senator need ever ask the Executive Branch of Government for advice or for consent about anything. On the other hand, the Executive Branch, in certain specific matters, is required by the Constitution to have the advice and consent of the Congress.

Senator William Knowland, therefore, was wholly within his rights to make a speech on the foreign policy without the advice and consent of President Eisenhower or Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. If, as a matter of personal choice, he desires to ask their advice, he would not transgress propriety; it is altogether wrong to ask their consent; that is, if the Constitution still obtains in this country.

That Body of Yours

CANADIAN GENERAL PRACTICE COLLEGE

Today we live in an age of specialists. These specialists are supposed to spend a number of years in their particular branch of medicine, surgery, gynecology and obstetrics, psychiatry and others, and they are usually kept so busy that they have little time left to do any of the other branches.

Many physicians today doing what is called a general practice, in most cases taking complete care of all patients who consult him, are beginning to wonder if this is not a specialty in itself. Toward the provision of better care for the patient and better opportunities for the family doctor, the College of General Practice of Canada has been formed with the following aims:

1. To establish an academic body with educational aims.
2. To arrange for undergraduate teaching by and for general practitioners.
3. To arrange for the presentation of postgraduate teaching for general practitioners.
4. To arrange for research in general practice.
5. To arrange for publication of original articles by general practitioners.
6. To arrange for hospital staff appointments for general practitioners.
7. To provide suitable recognition to members in the field of general practice.
8. To do all things necessary to maintain the high standard of general practice.

Three types of membership are planned: honorary, active and associate. Honorary members will be persons who have already made an outstanding contribution to the cause of general practice in Canada. Associate members will be those not yet eligible for full membership but working towards the latter.

The rules for active membership are fairly severe and in no case will such membership be conferred for more than two years at a time. At the end, renewal of membership will depend upon the applicant's having undertaken 100 hours of postgraduate study for the doctor to make up his 100 hours by attending formal medical society meetings, attendance at postgraduate courses approved by the college, taking part in hospital rounds, and such activities as reading courses, book reviewing, submission of scientific papers or case reports, and community service.

At the onset it is required that active members should have conformed with the above program, that they should have been in general pracice for five years or its equivalent, and conducted their practice on a high moral and ethical plane, and that they should be willing to undertake the necessary study for continued membership.

As was said by Dr. W. N. Pickles, president of the corresponding college in the United Kingdom, "On the shoulders of the family doctor rests the care of the people."

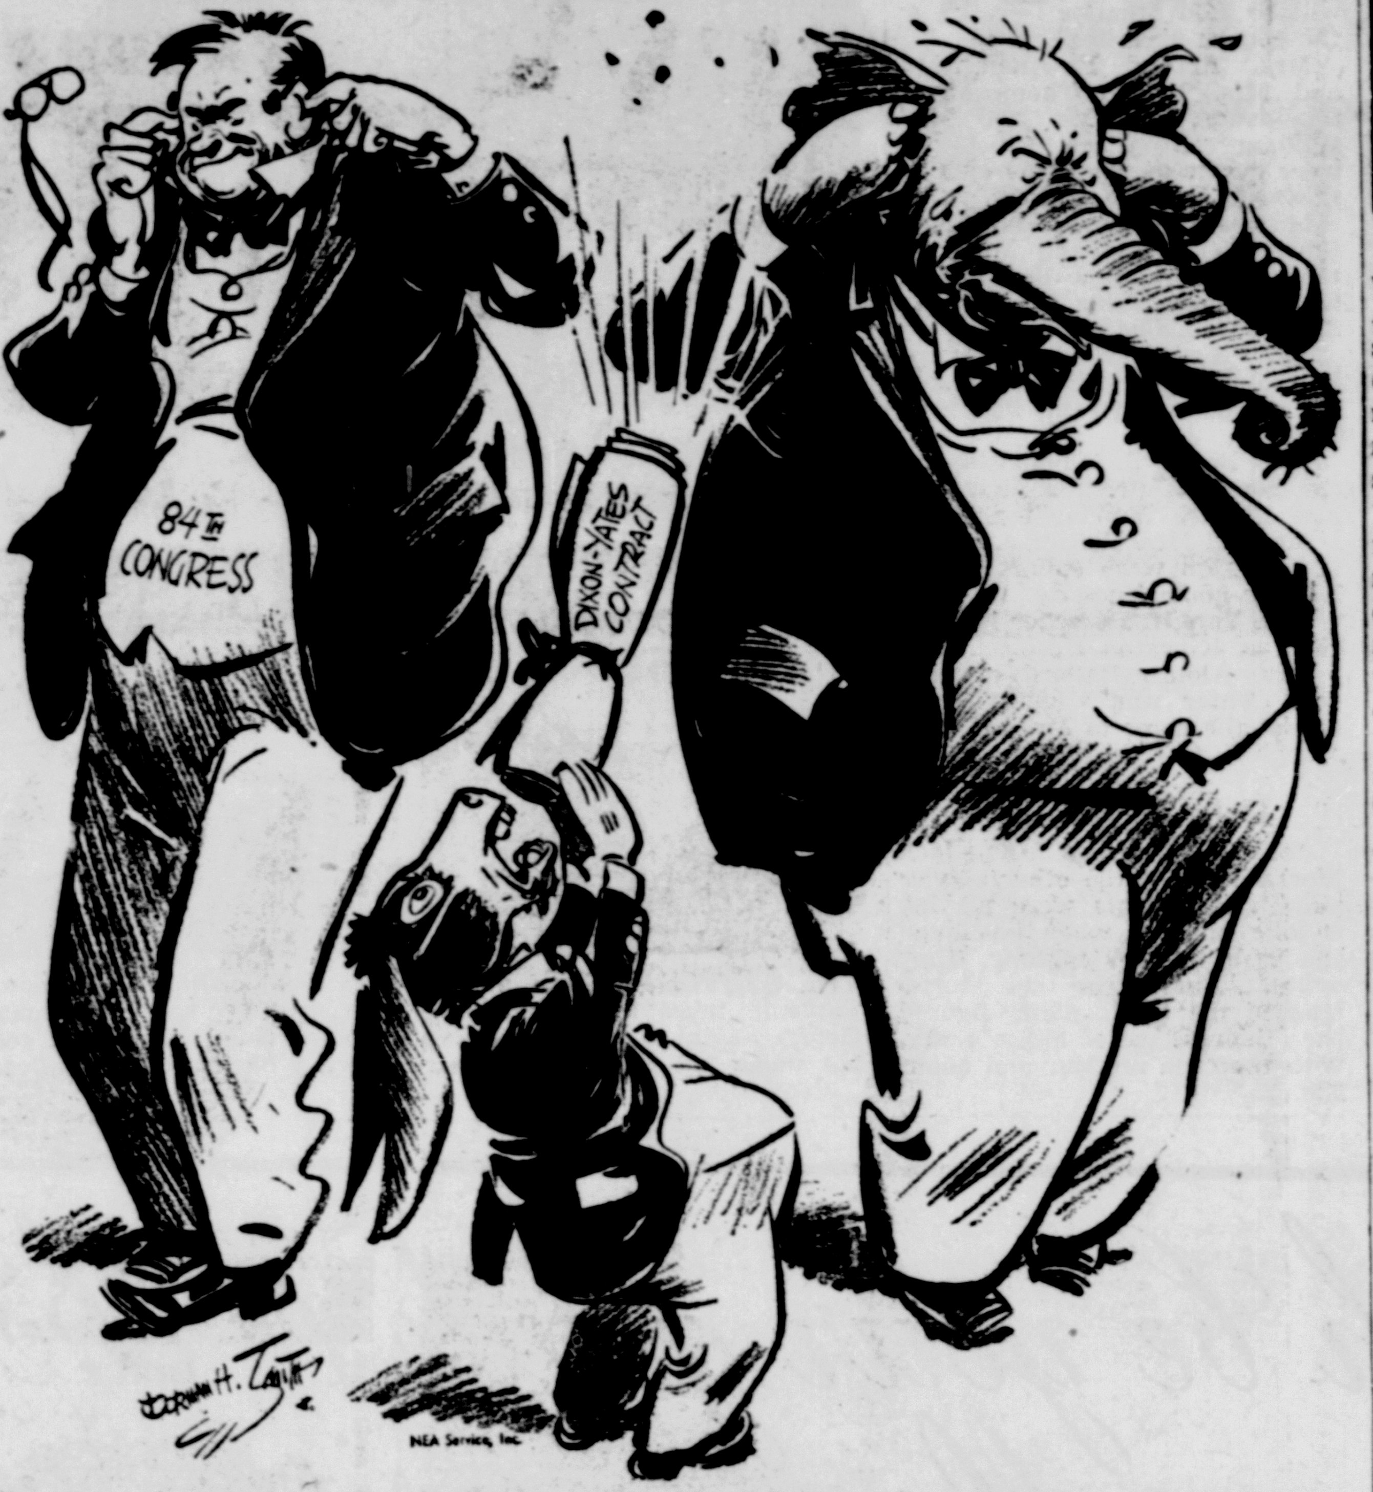
At Least Its Nuisance Value Will Be Great



Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Democratic National Committee has another big problem on its hands in addition to the election of a new national chairman to succeed retiring Stephen A. Mitchell. It is the committee's principal business before its big meeting at New Orleans, Dec. 4.

This is to find a solution for the troublesome party loyalty oath question which darn near wrecked the national convention at Chicago in 1952.

Electing the new national chairman from nearly a dozen candidates now being proposed by various factions will get most of the headlines. But this loyalty oath question is no less important because it looks ahead to writing rules for the Democratic national convention of 1956.

A big rules subcommittee headed by Steve Mitchell himself has been studying this problem, off and on, ever since '52. On the committee are governors, senators, representatives, delegates to the last convention and other party leaders who are not all members of the National Committee. The idea was to get broad representation from every faction and every section of the country, so no one could complain about whatever decision was reached.

IF A SOLUTION is not found at the New Orleans meeting, it is expected that the committee will be instructed to work on the problem some more. And it is possible that Mr. Mitchell will be asked to stay on as chairman of this committee until a new formula is found.

The way the rule reads now, every state delegation seated at a national convention is required to promise that it will "exert every honorable means" to get the names of the party's presidential and vice presidential nominees on its state's Democratic ballots.

The purpose of this rule, worked out by the National Committee prior to the opening of the 1952 Chicago convention, was to prevent a bolt of Southern Dixiecrats. In the 1948 election, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina had refused to support the Truman-Barkley tickets.

They threw their 38 electoral votes to the Dixiecrat, J. Strom Thurmond, instead. Truman won the election in spite of this desertion, but the Democratic leaders naturally wanted to avoid a repetition.

IT WAS THE LATE Sen. Blair Moody of Michigan who was chosen to introduce the resolution calling for the loyalty oath. It started one of the most dramatic fights of any convention.

South Carolina, Virginia and Louisiana delegations refused to accept the oath. South Carolina bolted, but then came back. Louisiana's Sen. Russell Long broke with his state's Gov. Robert F. Kennon over withdrawal and Convention Chairman Sam Rayburn of Texas ruled the Louisiana votes would be cast by the Long faction.

This permitted Senator Long to cast his state's vote for reseating Virginia's delegation. It had objected to the loyalty oath on the grounds that Virginia state law assured the party's nominees of a place on the ticket.

After Virginia was reseated, South Carolina and Louisiana regular delegations were granted full voting rights at the convention. But a compromise to the loyalty oath was adopted "for this convention only." It specified that the loyalty commitment "shall not be in contravention of" state laws or party regulations.

WHAT THE MITCHELL subcommittee on convention rules has to do is provide a new rule that will not cause any flareup of this kind in 1956. In trying to treat this old sore, the Democratic National Committee is really applying medication on a couple of other convention illnesses.

First is the problem of getting the ground rules for the 1956 convention worked out in advance, so as to save time. Second is to speed up convention procedure on polling various state delegations.

The long delays caused when some alternate delegate with a half vote demands a poll of his state have always been a pain in the neck to other delegates and to the radio and TV audiences as well. What the Democrats want for 1956 is a streamlined convention with fewer fights and more harmony.

In a way, this is too bad. Because Democratic conventions have always provided such nice fights to watch.

Censure to Mean End of Further Checks by Congress on Communistic Activities

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 2 — This week marks a milestone in American history. For this week sees the beginning of the end of effective investigation by committees of Congress into communistic activities inside or outside the government.

Adoption of the censure motion against Senator McCarthy means the squelching of all effective efforts in that direction not only by the Wisconsin Senator himself but those of any other senator.

For the die has been cast. In response to a widespread wave of passion throughout the country, the Senate, by an overwhelming majority, has voted resolutions of censure which will frighten any other senator in the future who ventures to pursue an investigation of communism.

Likewise, free speech as the Senate has known it heretofore has now been abolished and only those senators who conform—in their thinking and speaking—to the dictates of a temporary majority in the Senate can thereafter feel safe against the adoption of censure resolutions.

It is ironical that a crusade which began on the theory that Senator McCarthy was stifling free speech and insisting on conformity of thought now has wound up with a restriction upon the members of the United State Senate themselves who may hereafter try to express a dissenting viewpoint.

Many senators—in fact, most of them—will deny vehemently that their censure resolution against Senator McCarthy means any such drastic change. They will insist that investigations of communistic activity will go on with unabated zeal. But, while that will be the claim, realism requires that the true situation be reported. One by one, the chairman of committees investigating communism have been pilloried, beginning with Representative Martin Dies of Texas, Democrat. After the treatment given Senator McCarthy, what Senator will wish to risk censure or public calumny? Recalcitrant witnesses will be encouraged to new defiance of Congressional inquiries.

Already proposals are being made that a joint committee be formed from members of both houses to deal with the investigation of Communists. But anyone familiar with the techniques of Congressional committees knows that this is an insidious way to kill off any effective inquiry. Joint committees have no centralized responsibility, and it is difficult for a staff to be assembled which can do an efficient job under such joint control.

So, for all practical purposes, the fight that has been made by a valiant group of Americans other than Senator McCarthy to expose communism inside America has been lost.

Much of the responsibility for what has happened, curiously enough, must be borne by Senator McCarthy himself. As a tactician in the fight against him personally, he has made blunder after blunder. He had a good case on legal and constitutional grounds but he muffed it—indeed, he forfeited it—by insisting on constant attacks on his fellow senators at the special session that began November 8.

"I realize," a senator who voted against McCarthy said to this correspondent privately, "that there are many good arguments against censure, but Joe simply showed his contempt for his fellow senators and they are all human after all."

So Senator McCarthy lost his own battle, and his colleagues in the Senate were not able to rise above the passions of the hour or their own sense of indignation to refuse to write into the record a precedent that will plague the Senate for decades to come. The closing hours of the debate on Wednesday showed how perplexed and bewildered some of the senators were as they struggled with the legal phases only to find themselves influenced finally by the personality prejudices involved.

Abuse of Senator McCarthy during the debate and the use of intemperate language about him rendered absurd the pious statement that the Senate was trying to uphold its own dignity. As for "traditional conduct," the Senate has never been any different from what it has been this week. Senator Lehman, for instance, made a bitter attack on Senator McCarthy in violation of Senate rules, but all that happened to him was an order to take his seat and a moment later he was permitted to proceed. Nobody mentioned censure for him.

The fact remains that only the man who fought communism has been or will be censured. Senator McCarthy, of course, deserved a rebuke for his attacks on fellow senators, but many of those same attacks were provoked. And the Watkins committee itself held that provocation is a basis for withholding censure in certain circumstances.

The net result of it all is not only a defeat for Senator McCarthy—who will, of course, appeal to the country for vindication—but also a defeat for those who have felt that communistic activities should be exposed through relentless investigations by congressional committees.

FOR SAFER RIDING

Automobile industrialists have long been aware that in building powerful cars they are building machines equipped with more speed than the nation's roads can accommodate. They have known that in a faster car an accident can happen faster. Man's reactions are frequently slow, but even the driver possessing the quickest reactions cannot always avoid an accident. He may swerve away from a head-on collision, but too often it is only to turn into another car. Our roads are too crowded to offer much safety in avoiding accidents as long as drivers insist on using the full power.

Consequently, automobile manufacturers have tentatively begun to offer some safety to the riders. Cushioned crash panels are seen and shatter-proof glass, greatly improved driving vision and better windshield wipers. One item in mind for the past few years has been the safety belt. They have been loath to incorporate these in new cars for fear of public reaction.

There is no doubt that such straps would improve riding safety and greatly reduce the danger of being violently flung forward or out of the car. One thinks nothing of strapping oneself to the seat of an airplane. On a boat, life preservers are always in evidence. On a bus, everyone knows where the emergency door is and fire extinguishers are in plain sight.

It is no secret that cars can be dangerous. It is much wiser to admit it and to take precautionary measures than to pretend it is not there. If automobile manufacturers can produce cars of such power, they should be encouraged to help us adapt ourselves by building cars that include every safety device they can conceive.

RED INJUSTICE

Communist China has announced that 13 Americans have been sentenced to terms ranging from four years to life for espionage activities. Our government has labeled the charges false. It is difficult to see what the Chinese Reds hope to gain by this unjust and inhumane action unless they intend to use the Americans as levers to pry concessions from the United States.

What passes for justice in Communist countries is a mockery of the world. Recently two Americans imprisoned behind the Iron Curtain in Europe were freed and officials of governments which had held them in prison for several years admitted that a "mistake" had been made. While these Americans were in prison citizens of other Iron Curtain countries were jailed and executed for playing roles in espionage rings the Americans were supposed to have led.

The President of the United States has assured the mother of one of the Americans held by the Chinese Reds that everything possible is being done to liberate them. Our government should not be the only one to protest. All of our allies should express their formal protests. Perhaps the knowledge that none of the free nations is fooled by the attempts to label these Americans as espionage agents might have some effect.

FOURTH INDUSTRY

Most Americans know that the aircraft and automobile industries and steel are the largest businesses in the United States. Not many, however, would guess the fourth, which is fund raising. According to the new book, "Fund Raising Made Easy," by Edwin S. Newman and Leo J. Margolin, fund-raisers' handle $5,000,000,000 a year. This includes local community chests and campaigns for educational and philanthropic institutions.

The vastness of the sum is another proof of the unstinted generosity of the American people.

From the latter part of August until well into November, northerners—that is those not so near the Atlantic coast as New York and New England—are very snooty and satisfied about living where there aren't any hurricanes. But when the snow shovel comes down from its summer perch in the loft of the garage to its winter stance at the all alert, the South begins to have a lovely look.

THE DIGNITY OF THE SENATE

One of the arguments in the current Senatorial debate is that the dignity of the Senate must be preserved. There can be no question about that. And only the Senate can preserve its own dignity.

For instance, when the Senate becomes a rubber stamp of the Executive, a mere affirming body, it loses in dignity. This has often happened and whenever it has, the people have lost confidence in their delegates to the upper house of the national legislature. When, therefore, Senator Frank Carlson speaks of the dignity of the Senate, he ought to review the relationship, according to the Constitution, of the three branches of our government, each of which is to be distinct and seperate from the other.

The Senate loses more dignity when it reduces itself to a body that passes legislation without reading it and without adequate debate, as it did when Mr. Roosevelt was President, than when a Senator appears on the floor drunk and stupefied or when one calls the other an improper name. It is a matter of perspective and balance.

Again, I note that some hold that before Senator William Knowland made his new celebrated speech on the foreign policy, he should have consulted the President or the Secretary of State. For what reason? The Senate is an independent body, separated from the President by constitutional arrangement. It has a definite authority in matters of foreign policy, a supervising authority which can be final. It has the authority to ratify treaties which cannot become part of our law without such ratification and it has the authority to confirm the appointments of all officials concerned in the formulation and conduct of the foreign policy except the President.

Therefore if a Senator chooses to discuss the foreign policy on the floor of the Senate, it is his right as a Senator and his duty as a citizen. The theory that Senators must conform to official policy, stated or secret, overtly announced to the people or suppressed from their knowledge, is untenable in the American theory of government and dangerous from the standpoint of the interest of the people. Imposed conformity could be more harmful in a free society than an erroneous statement. Conformity allays debate and scrutiny.

A further point is made that Senator Knowland, being the Senate leader of his party, which is also the party of the President, owes it to party loyalty to conform to the wishes of the President. In theory, at any rate, the floor leaders of the majority and minority in the Senate are chosen by the Senators and not by the Executive who is precluded from interference with the affairs of the Senate by the Constitution. Only the Senate can determine whether Senator Knowland has transgressed propriety by speaking freely as a Senator chosen by the people of California.

Furthermore, whatever may be a Senator's duties arising from party affiliations and appointments, his first and, in fact, only fixed obligation is to the people of the state which sent him to Congress. No Senator is a member of the administration of government and is forbidden from becoming such by the Constitution, to wit:

"No Senator or Representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the Authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been encreased during such time; and no Person holding any Office under the United States, shall be a Member of either House during his Continuance in Office."

It is, of course, different in Great Britain or France, where Cabinet officers are members of their legislative bodies. Our system of separate powers precludes that. No Senator need ever ask the Executive Branch of Government for advice or for consent about anything. On the other hand, the Executive Branch, in certain specific matters, is required by the Constitution to have the advice and consent of the Congress.

Senator William Knowland, therefore, was wholly within his rights to make a speech on the foreign policy without the advice and consent of President Eisenhower or Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. If, as a matter of personal choice, he desires to ask their advice, he would not transgress propriety; it is altogether wrong to ask their consent; that is, if the Constitution still obtains in this country.

CANADIAN GENERAL PRACTICE COLLEGE

Today we live in an age of specialists. These specialists are supposed to spend a number of years in their particular branch of medicine, surgery, gynecology and obstetrics, psychiatry and others, and they are usually kept so busy that they have little time left to do any of the other branches.

Many physicians today doing what is called a general practice, in most cases taking complete care of all patients who consult him, are beginning to wonder if this is not a specialty in itself. Toward the provision of better care for the patient and better opportunities for the family doctor, the College of General Practice of Canada has been formed with the following aims:

1. To establish an academic body with educational aims.
2. To arrange for undergraduate teaching by and for general practitioners.
3. To arrange for the presentation of post-graduate teaching for general practitioners.
4. To arrange for research in general practice.
5. To arrange for publication of original articles by general practitioners.
6. To arrange for hospital staff appointments for general practitioners.
7. To provide suitable recognition to members in the field of general practice.
8. To do all things necessary to maintain the high standard of general practice.

Three types of membership are planned: honorary, active and associate. Honorary members will be persons who have already made an outstanding contribution to the cause of general practice in Canada. Associate members will be those not yet eligible for full membership but working towards the latter.

The rules for active membership are fairly severe and in no case will such membership be conferred for more than two years at a time. At the end, renewal of membership will depend upon the applicant's having undertaken 100 hours of postgraduate study for the doctor to make up his 100 hours by attending formal medical society meetings, attendance at postgraduate courses approved by the college, taking part in hospital rounds, and such activities as reading courses, book reviewing, submission of scientific papers or case reports, and community service.

At the onset it is required that active members should have conformed with the above program, that they should have been in general pracice for five years or its equivalent, and conducted their practice on a high moral and ethical plane, and that they should be willing to undertake the necessary study for continued membership.

As was said by Dr. W. N. Pickles, president of the corresponding college in the United Kingdom, "On the shoulders of the family doctor rests the care of the people."

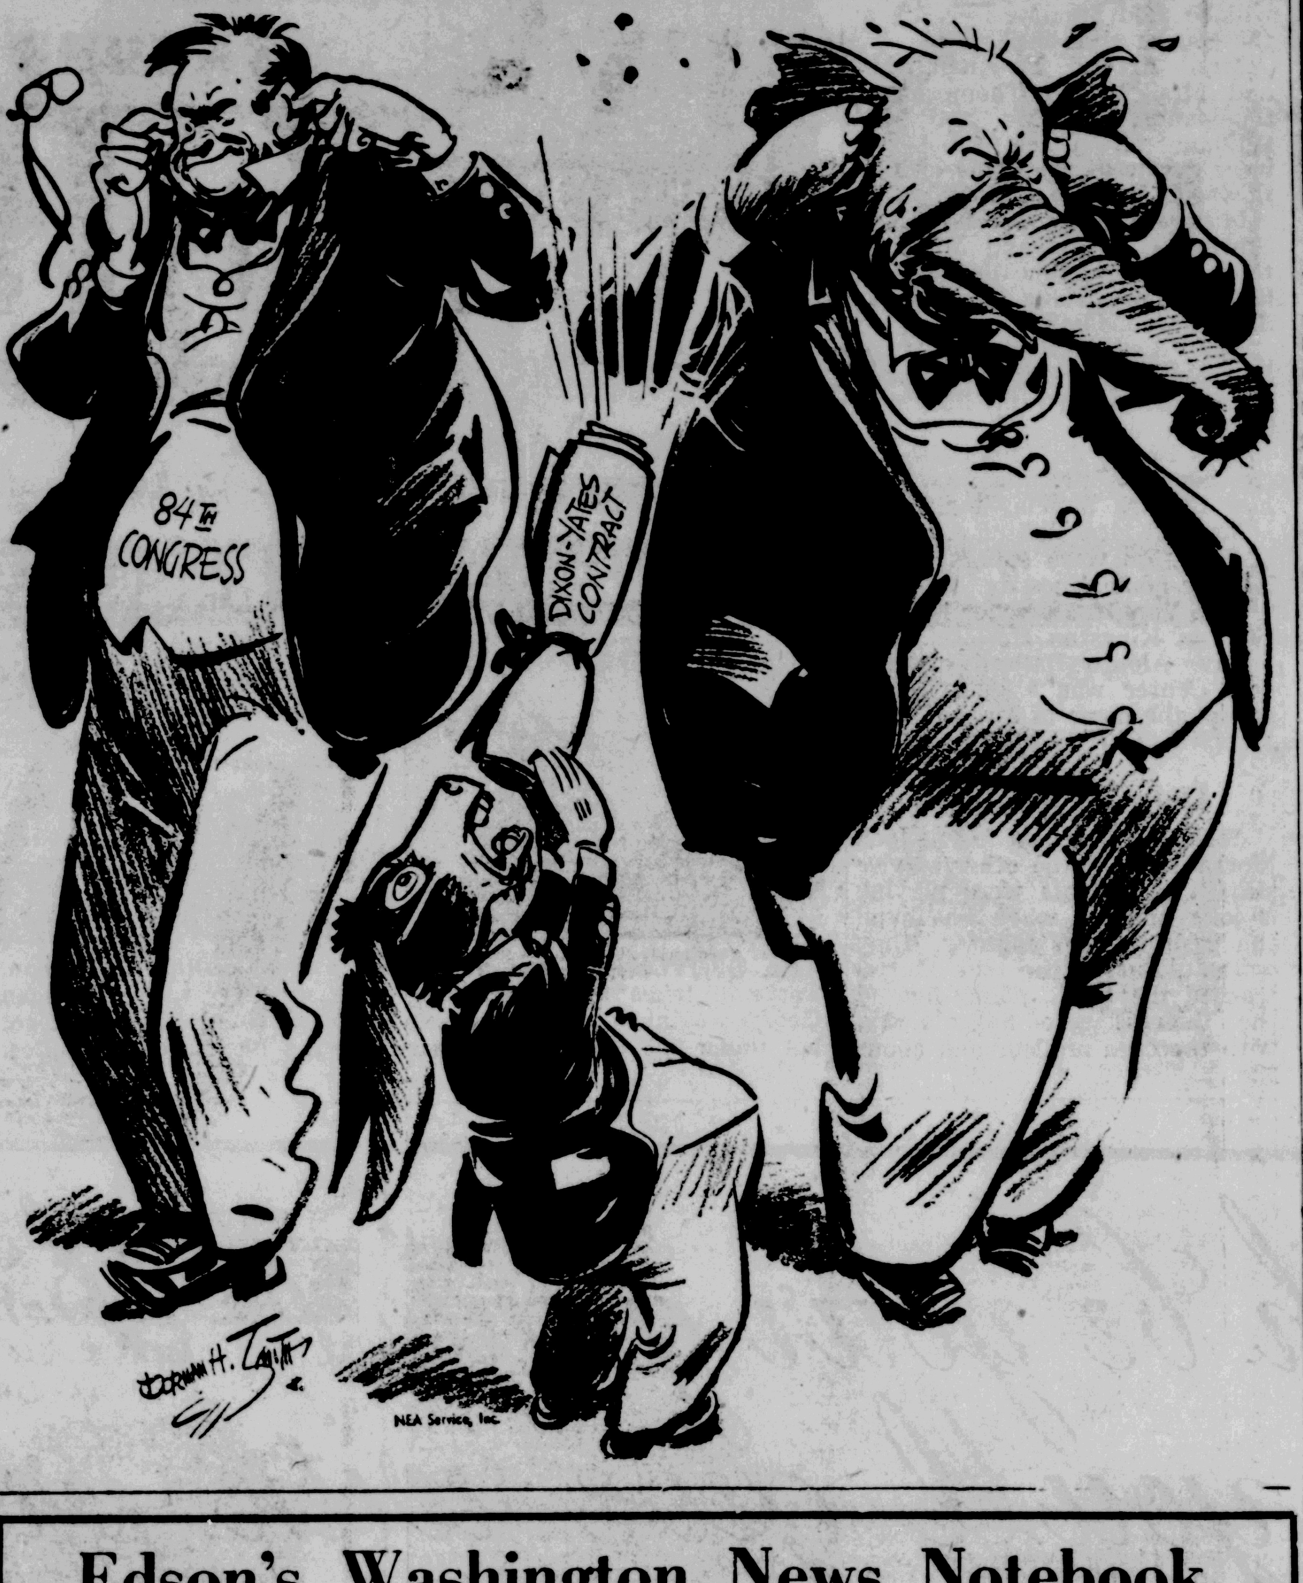
At Least Its Nuisance Value Will Be Great



Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA) — Democratic National Committee has another big problem on its hands in addition to the election of a new national chairman to succeed retiring Stephen A. Mitchell. It is the committee's principal business before its big meeting at New Orleans, Dec. 4.

This is to find a solution for the troublesome party loyalty oath question which darn near wrecked the national convention at Chicago in 1952.

Electing the new national chairman from nearly a dozen candidates now being proposed by various factions will get most of the headlines. But this loyalty oath question is no less important because it looks ahead to writing rules for the Democratic national convention of 1956.

A big rules subcommittee headed by Steve Mitchell himself has been studying this problem, off and on, ever since '52. On the committee are governors, senators, representatives, delegates to the last convention and other party leaders who are not all members of the National Committee. The idea was to get broad representation from every faction and every section of the country, so no one could complain about whatever decision was reached.

IF A SOLUTION is not found at the New Orleans meeting, it is expected that the committee will be instructed to work on the problem some more. And it is possible that Mr. Mitchell will be asked to stay on as chairman of this committee until a new formula is found.

The way the rule reads now, every state delegation seated at a national convention is required to promise that it will "exert every honorable means" to get the names of the party's presidential and vice presidential nominees on its state's Democratic ballots.

The purpose of this rule, worked out by the National Committee prior to the opening of the 1952 Chicago convention, was to prevent a bolt of Southern Dixiecrats. In the 1948 election, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina had refused to support the Truman-Barkley tickets.

They threw their 38 electoral votes to the Dixiecrat, J. Strom Thurmond, instead. Truman won the election in spite of this desertion, but the Democratic leaders naturally wanted to avoid a repetition.

IT WAS THE LATE Sen. Blair Moody of Michigan who was chosen to introduce the resolution calling for the loyalty oath. It started one of the most dramatic fights of any convention.

South Carolina, Virginia and Louisiana delegations refused to accept the oath. South Carolina bolted, but then came back. Louisiana's Sen. Russell Long broke with his state's Gov. Robert F. Kennon over withdrawal and Convention Chairman Sam Rayburn of Texas ruled the Louisiana votes would be cast by the Long faction.

This permitted Senator Long to cast his state's vote for reseating Virginia's delegation. It had objected to the loyalty oath on the grounds that Virginia state law assured the party's nominees of a place on the ticket.

After Virginia was reseated, South Carolina and Louisiana regular delegations were granted full voting rights at the convention. But a compromise to the loyalty oath was adopted "for this convention only." It specified that the loyalty commitment "shall not be in contravention of" state laws or party regulations.

WHAT THE MITCHELL subcommittee on convention rules has to do is provide a new rule that will not cause any flareup of this kind in 1956. In trying to treat this old sore, the Democratic National Committee is really applying medication on a couple of other convention illnesses.

First is the problem of getting the ground rules for the 1956 convention worked out in advance, so as to save time. Second is to speed up convention procedure on polling various state delegations.

The long delays caused when some alternate delegate with a half vote demands a poll of his state have always been a pain in the neck to other delegates and to the radio and TV audiences as well. What the Democrats want for 1956 is a streamlined convention with fewer fights and more harmony.

In a way, this is too bad. Because Democratic conventions have always provided such nice fights to watch.

Censure to Mean End of Further Checks by Congress on Communistic Activities

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 2 — This week marks a milestone in American history. For this week sees the beginning of the end of effective investigation by committees of Congress into communistic activities inside or outside the government.

Adoption of the censure motion against Senator McCarthy means the squelching of all effective efforts in that direction not only by the Wisconsin Senator himself but those of any other senator.

For the die has been cast. In response to a widespread wave of passion throughout the country, the Senate, by an overwhelming majority, has voted resolutions of censure which will frighten any other senator in the future who ventures to pursue an investigation of communism.

Likewise, free speech as the Senate has known it heretofore has now been abolished and only those senators who conform—in their thinking and speaking—to the dictates of a temporary majority in the Senate can thereafter feel safe against the adoption of censure resolutions.

It is ironical that a crusade which began on the theory that Senator McCarthy was stifling free speech and insisting on conformity of thought now has wound up with a restriction upon the members of the United State Senate themselves who may hereafter try to express a dissenting viewpoint.

Many senators—in fact, most of them—will deny vehemently that their censure resolution against Senator McCarthy means any such drastic change. They will insist that investigations of communistic activity will go on with unabated zeal. But, while that will be the claim, realism requires that the true situation be reported. One by one, the chairman of committees investigating communism have been pilloried, beginning with Representative Martin Dies of Texas, Democrat. After the treatment given Senator McCarthy, what Senator will wish to risk censure or public calumny? Recalcitrant witnesses will be encouraged to new defiance of Congressional inquiries.

Already proposals are being made that a joint committee be formed from members of both houses to deal with the investigation of Communists. But anyone familiar with the techniques of Congressional committees knows that this is an insidious way to kill off any effective inquiry. Joint committees have no centralized responsibility, and it is difficult for a staff to be assembled which can do an efficient job under such joint control.

So, for all practical purposes, the fight that has been made by a valiant group of Americans other than Senator McCarthy to expose communism inside America has been lost.

Much of the responsibility for what has happened, curiously enough, must be borne by Senator McCarthy himself. As a tactician in the fight against him personally, he has made blunder after blunder. He had a good case on legal and constitutional grounds but he muffed it—indeed, he forfeited it—by insisting on constant attacks on his fellow senators at the special session that began November 8.

"I realize," a senator who voted against McCarthy said to this correspondent privately, "that there are many good arguments against censure, but Joe simply showed his contempt for his fellow senators and they are all human after all."

So Senator McCarthy lost his own battle, and his colleagues in the Senate were not able to rise above the passions of the hour or their own sense of indignation to refuse to write into the record a precedent that will plague the Senate for decades to come. The closing hours of the debate on Wednesday showed how perplexed and bewildered some of the senators were as they struggled with the legal phases only to find themselves influenced finally by the personality prejudices involved.

Abuse of Senator McCarthy during the debate and the use of intemperate language about him rendered absurd the pious statement that the Senate was trying to uphold its own dignity. As for "traditional conduct," the Senate has never been any different from what it has been this week. Senator Lehman, for instance, made a bitter attack on Senator McCarthy in violation of Senate rules, but all that happened to him was an order to take his seat and a moment later he was permitted to proceed. Nobody mentioned censure for him.

The fact remains that only the man who fought communism has been or will be censured. Senator McCarthy, of course, deserved a rebuke for his attacks on fellow senators, but many of those same attacks were provoked. And the Watkins committee itself held that provocation is a basis for withholding censure in certain circumstances.

The net result of it all is not only a defeat for Senator McCarthy—who will, of course, appeal to the country for vindication—but also a defeat for those who have felt that communistic activities should be exposed through relentless investigations by congressional committees.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The movie industry has made two biographical films of Al Jolson, who was highly regarded in the amusement trade but seems to me to have been otherwise unimportant, although he may have left an impression on our taste or culture which we are not aware of. I have heard that there is a movie in work to exalt Miss Sophie Tucker as a great American and, again, conceding that she may have art and skill discernible to her colleagues, I doubt that her contribution to the generation justifies a memorial that great.

The biographical movie may not be very good merchandise anyway. I can readily understand why it might not be. But if this type of story is a fair risk, the one I would most like to see would be a true, but not hostile, appraisal of William Randolph Hearst both as an editor and as a patriot. He was one of the good giants of his time and I write that knowing most of those facts which will bring a smirk to the features of the knowing reader.

Nevertheless, Hearst was a great man who fought with magnificent courage especially when he took awful chances of economic destruction in his futile effort to keep the United States out of the First World War, which was absolutely no business of ours. He took boycotts, his paper supplies were threatened and the personal abuse which he endured was the worse because so much of it came from quarters where he should have been defended and heartened.

However, Hearst could dish it and when he had to take it he never whimpered but fought back the harder. His International News Service was thrown out of England because he had published a dramatic photograph of a great British battleship going down. We on the United Press, where I was serving as a cub, exulted as though this misfortune of an opponent had some personal flavor. This picture had been snapped from the deck of a passenger liner which came upon the sinking dreadnaught and Hearst used to flaunt it occasionally thereafter, taunting the British Admiralty for its refusal to let the British people know the worst, although, of course, the Germans knew it.

The INS soon established a pipeline into an AP paper here in the States whence the AP report was filched and transmitted to New York. The scheme exploded when the AP planted a fake report of the sinking of the non-existent Russian battleship Fliba, which was some kind of play on the name of the New York Globe. There was hell to pay for a while, but Hearst weathered the embarrassment and I can tell you that we, on the U.P., used to crib most of our Chicago and New York coverage out of the afternoon papers as fast as they came up from the street.

We all were barbarians in those days except the A.P., which was badly overloaded with manpower and couldn't move fast enough to get out of its own way. The A.P. would throw in ten men where the opposition would rely on one cub and the cub often trimmed the ears off A.P.'s team.

But International News is only one phase of Hearst's journalism. He fought communism way back in the early twenties and many individuals who came to power under Roosevelt and Truman both in politics and in the unions were blood-red Communists in those days and were so denounced by Hearst. He realized this iniquity years before most of us began to get uneasy early in the New Deal. It was just our fault that we didn't believe him.

He fought Tammany, in person, on the stump and in his papers, and as one who will always hold Al Smith in affection I nevertheless agree that Hearst was right in his appraisal of the dirty machine which Al represented.

Young Bill once told me that Pops told him in later years that he regretted that he had campaigned for the direct election of senators, a radical departure from the spirit of the Constitution which gave us, actually, just 96 more congressmen-at-large, serving six-year terms and in a separate House. The change brought no improvement in the quality of the Senate and Arthur J. Goldsmith, of the Waldorf Tower, by his use of money in several states, has proved that the evil which the amendment was intended to cure goes on after all these years, probably worse than in the days when corporations kept lobbies in the state capitals to buy votes for their candidates.

There is the makings of tremendous historical drama in the phone call to an elderly millionaire in a castle on a mountain overlooking the Pacific at San Simeon which actually decided the fate of this Republic but in a way which no man could have foreseen. That was the call in which Mr. Hearst released the California and Texas delegations to Roosevelt at Chicago in 1932. That did it and we got the New Deal, Communists all over the capital, packed courts, war, inflation and a very measurable deterioration of our personal moral standards through the influence of bad people on high.

Of course, Mr. Hearst could not forsee Roosevelt's course. He believed Roosevelt as so many millions of us did in that campaign of 1932 and, like the rest of us, either had no evidence or could not believe the evidence that he was an utterly cynical liar and unpatriotic opportunist. Mr. Hearst wrote that he believed the success of the Democratic administration was more important to the nation than to the party and intended to do his best to make it succeed.

But it was the decision of one man on a mountain given by phone that sent Roosevelt to the White House and I challenge the movie industry to come up with any single episode as simple and fateful as that in the life of any other individual.

Hearst should be remembered in the prayers of every newspaper worker in the land, for he took us out of the clutch of the loan-sharks and away from the free-lunch counter and set a scale of pay which was actually lavish at the time and forced his competitors to meet it. I don't want a total eulogy. I want his faults mixed into this story enlivened by the fantastic characters that he chose for some of his executive jobs. He loved his country with great ardor but knew the actual people altogether by hearsay after his brief personal fling at politics.

retired to that couch about midnight for a sleep he said was interrupted by the slaying, which the coroner says was between 3 and 4 a. m.

Prosecution attorneys have emphasized the folding and careful placing of the coat indicated Sheppard had not ripped it off when, he says, he rushed upstairs to answer his wife's cries to save her from the skull-crushing blows of a bushy haired marauder.

ON THE MORNING of the murder, the witness said, he and his wife found the defendant stretched out on the floor of the den when they arrived. He was naked from the waist up, and "I thought he was dead," Dr. Stephen said.

Of his brother's temperament, Dr. Stephen said:

"I always considered him the most level-headed and restrained of our whole family."

There was a harmonious, affectionate relationship between the slain woman and her husband, the witness added. He related incidents to show that relationship. He told how the Sheppards selected the name Stephen for their expected child, if a boy, and how the defendant loved children and played with them often and strenuously.

THE DEFENDANT sobbed at the reference to the unborn child of his slain wife.

The brother's testimony came after Judge Edward Blythin overruled defense motions for a directed verdict of acquittal, saying:

"This is not a case that can be disposed of by court."

His decision leaves the question of guilt for the jury of five women and seven men to decide. The judge emphasized his ruling did not mean he has any opinion "or even the right to have an opinion" as to the guilt or innocence of the accused.

Henderson Is Picked

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—President Eisenhower today picked Loy W. Henderson, now ambassador to Iran, to be deputy undersecretary of state for administration. His nomination will be formally submitted to the Senate when the new Congress convenes in January. The White House said Henderson will return from Iran the latter part of this month and that a successor as ambassador will be named in the near future. Between the time of Henderson's departure and arrival of a new ambassador, William M. Roundtree, counselor of the American embassy in Tehran with the rank of minister, will serve as charge d'affaires of the embassy.

Man Is Held

Los Angeles, Dec. 2 (AP)—A former acquaintance of Mrs. Virginia Hopkins Watson, former women's swimming champion who died following an abortion, was arrested last night. Booked on suspicion of murder was Roger Fred Brenon, 27, a bookkeeper. Police said he denied any knowledge of the surgery from which complications caused the death of Mrs. Watson, 32, Monday.

FOR DEFENSE—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme allied commander in Europe, is in Norway to confer with top defense officials of Norway and NATO's northern headquarters. He will be received by King Haakon VII.

MISS SUSAN HAYES arrives at the criminal court in Cleveland, Dec. 1, to testify that she was intimate with Dr. Samuel Sheppard, and that he had talked to her about divorce. Dr. Sheppard is on trial charged with murdering his wife, Marilyn. (AP Wirephoto).

Brother Supports

retired to that couch about midnight for a sleep he said was interrupted by the slaying, which the coroner says was between 3 and 4 a. m.

Prosecution attorneys have emphasized the folding and careful placing of the coat indicated Sheppard had not ripped it off when, he says, he rushed upstairs to answer his wife's cries to save her from the skull-crushing blows of a bushy haired marauder.

ON THE MORNING of the murder, the witness said, he and his wife found the defendant stretched out on the floor of the den when they arrived. He was naked from the waist up, and "I thought he was dead," Dr. Stephen said.

Of his brother's temperament, Dr. Stephen said:

"I always considered him the most level-headed and restrained of our whole family."

There was a harmonious, affectionate relationship between the slain woman and her husband, the witness added. He related incidents to show that relationship. He told how the Sheppards selected the name Stephen for their expected child, if a boy, and how the defendant loved children and played with them often and strenuously.

THE DEFENDANT sobbed at the reference to the unborn child of his slain wife.

The brother's testimony came after Judge Edward Blythin overruled defense motions for a directed verdict of acquittal, saying:

"This is not a case that can be disposed of by court."

His decision leaves the question of guilt for the jury of five women and seven men to decide. The judge emphasized his ruling did not mean he has any opinion "or even the right to have an opinion" as to the guilt or innocence of the accused.

Lively Is Given Life Term for Murder of Girl

Indianapolis, Dec. 2 (AP)—Victor H. Lively was convicted and immediately sentenced to life imprisonment early today for first degree murder in attempting to rape 18-year-old Dorothy Poore.

A Marion County Criminal Court jury reached a verdict in the dresser drawer murder case after deliberating nine hours. Judge Saul I. Rabb passed sentence immediately, committing Lively to Indiana State Prison.

Lively, 25-year-old Texan, stood hunched over the defense table, his face flushed, when the verdict was read. When Judge Rabb passed sentence, Lively sobbed on the shoulder of his attorney, Ferdinand Samper.

SAMPER TURNED to Lively when a newsman asked for a statement. The lawyer said:

"I saved your life, didn't I?" (The state had asked the death penalty).

"Yeah," Lively answered as he was handcuffed and led from the court room.

The jury's verdict was on the third of three counts charging first degree murder. One charged strangulation, the other, death by means unknown.

THE STATE HAD charged Lively violated the Clinton, Ind., girl's body after her death in the Claypool Hotel room.

Lively had testified that the girl was the aggressor and had stripped off part of her clothing. He told the jury that he had blacked out and couldn't remember what happened after she removed part of his clothing and said "Let's see what kind of a man you are."

The girl's five foot eight body was found July 18, crammed into a four-foot dresser drawer of Lively's hotel room. It was partially decomposed after two days of sweltering temperatures.

LIVELY WAS PICKED up by police a week later at Clayton, Mo.

Eldridge Wagener, jury foreman, told a newsman that the jurors had never questioned Lively's guilt during the long deliberation. The verdict was reached after the fifth ballot after the last of three jurors insisting on the death penalty gave in to a recommendation of life imprisonment, he said.

Lively had made two written statements and three oral ones. All but one of the oral statements, the only one tape recorded, had been admitted as evidence during the trial. In two of these Lively had admitted choking the girl when she resisted his advances.

A mishap during medical examination of the body precluded any finding on whether the girl had been criminally assaulted.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Ellis Island, the first stepping stone to many Europeans who entered the United States, will soon become only a name in history books. One wonders who was the first European to put his foot on the shores of Ellis Island. Perhaps it was Verazzano, the Florentine navigator in the service of France, who visited this country in 1524. According to Captain Andrew Hickey's book, The Story of Kingston, Verazzano visited the bay, but left suddenly after a brief examination of the locality without mentioning the Great River of the North that Hudson discovered 85 years later. Captain Hickey further says "On September 11, 1609, the Half Moon was anchored off Kioshk or Ellis Island as it is now called. If Verazzano did not stop there, then it might be said that Henry Hudson was the first immigrant to knock on the "gate to New York."

At this time of the year when we celebrate two holidays with much feasting it is interesting to note what the men on the Half Moon found here in September. Robert Juet kept a journal of the voyage and from it historians have continued to repeat information he wrote down back in 1609. For instance: "Fish were plentiful in the river, and venison, pumpkins, grapes, melons, corn, vegetables, chestnuts and wild honey on shore. The Indians presented beaver and otter skins to Hudson, who noticed that they also had other kinds. Pigeons, corn, fruits and nuts were served and tobacco provided for smoking." So a goodly feast could be had even then. I often wondered what happened to the original Half Moon. According to Captain Hickey's book, "The Half Moon returned to Holland in July of 1610. She sailed for the East Indies and was wrecked at sea later." It seems little is known of the personal history of Henry Hudson, his wife, Katherine, and their three sons, Oliver, John and Richard. The date of his birth is uncertain, but in 1611, when he was cast adrift, he was around 45 years old.

Of course, history in the days before newspapers, was collected through old letters, word of mouth and such books like Juet's Journal. For instance, it is said in Captain Hickey's book, that Hudson in describing the house of the Indian Chief on our shores as circular in form with an arched roof made of bark. Nowhere does he mention the tepee which the Indians in the East evidently did not have at the time of his visit. It is really strange, how the white man having practically the same resources in Europe were able to make buildings from cement and other materials, have good hardware, and yet natives such as Indians who had certain homemade tools could fashion a canoe and not much else. What advances one race and group of people quicker than another. I feel that in every group of people, no matter where they are, there are always a number who can make the most of things. Yet primitive people stayed far behind the white race of Europe as history proves. What makes one group advance so much faster? Even now there are tribes in various parts of the world who simply cannot catch up to even our colonial conveniences and inventions. A coal stove, kerosene lamp, candle is still a mystery to them. Perhaps the primitive man is happier and really content with what he has and understands.

"I saved your life, didn't I?" (The state had asked the death penalty).

"Yeah," Lively answered as he was handcuffed and led from the court room.

The jury's verdict was on the third of three counts charging first degree murder. One charged strangulation, the other, death by means unknown.

THE STATE HAD charged Lively violated the Clinton, Ind., girl's body after her death in the Claypool Hotel room.

Lively had testified that the girl was the aggressor and had stripped off part of her clothing. He told the jury that he had blacked out and couldn't remember what happened after she removed part of his clothing and said "Let's see what kind of a man you are."

The girl's five foot eight body was found July 18, crammed into a four-foot dresser drawer of Lively's hotel room. It was partially decomposed after two days of sweltering temperatures.

LIVELY WAS PICKED up by police a week later at Clayton, Mo.

Eldridge Wagener, jury foreman, told a newsman that the jurors had never questioned Lively's guilt during the long deliberation. The verdict was reached after the fifth ballot after the last of three jurors insisting on the death penalty gave in to a recommendation of life imprisonment, he said.

Lively had made two written statements and three oral ones. All but one of the oral statements, the only one tape recorded, had been admitted as evidence during the trial. In two of these Lively had admitted choking the girl when she resisted his advances.

A mishap during medical examination of the body precluded any finding on whether the girl had been criminally assaulted.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Ellis Island, the first stepping stone to many Europeans who entered the United States, will soon become only a name in history books. One wonders who was the first European to put his foot on the shores of Ellis Island. Perhaps it was Verazzano, the Florentine navigator in the service of France, who visited this country in 1524. According to Captain Andrew Hickey's book, The Story of Kingston, Verazzano visited the bay, but left suddenly after a brief examination of the locality without mentioning the Great River of the North that Hudson discovered 85 years later. Captain Hickey further says "On September 11, 1609, the Half Moon was anchored off Kioshk or Ellis Island as it is now called. If Verazzano did not stop there, then it might be said that Henry Hudson was the first immigrant to knock on the "gate to New York."

At this time of the year when we celebrate two holidays with much feasting it is interesting to note what the men on the Half Moon found here in September. Robert Juet kept a journal of the voyage and from it historians have continued to repeat information he wrote down back in 1609. For instance: "Fish were plentiful in the river, and venison, pumpkins, grapes, melons, corn, vegetables, chestnuts and wild honey on shore. The Indians presented beaver and otter skins to Hudson, who noticed that they also had other kinds. Pigeons, corn, fruits and nuts were served and tobacco provided for smoking." So a goodly feast could be had even then. I often wondered what happened to the original Half Moon. According to Captain Hickey's book, "The Half Moon returned to Holland in July of 1610. She sailed for the East Indies and was wrecked at sea later." It seems little is known of the personal history of Henry Hudson, his wife, Katherine, and their three sons, Oliver, John and Richard. The date of his birth is uncertain, but in 1611, when he was cast adrift, he was around 45 years old.

Of course, history in the days before newspapers, was collected through old letters, word of mouth and such books like Juet's Journal. For instance, it is said in Captain Hickey's book, that Hudson in describing the house of the Indian Chief on our shores as circular in form with an arched roof made of bark. Nowhere does he mention the tepee which the Indians in the East evidently did not have at the time of his visit. It is really strange, how the white man having practically the same resources in Europe were able to make buildings from cement and other materials, have good hardware, and yet natives such as Indians who had certain home-made tools could fashion a canoe and not much else. What advances one race and group of people quicker than another. I feel that in every group of people, no matter where they are, there are always a number who can make the most of things. Yet primitive people stayed far behind the white race of Europe as history proves. What makes one group advance so much faster? Even now there are tribes in various parts of the world who simply cannot catch up to even our colonial conveniences and inventions. A coal stove, kerosene lamp, candle is still a mystery to them. Perhaps the primitive man is happier and really content with what he has and understands.

A FATHER WEEPS FOR HERO SON—Leon C. Gilliand of Yellville, Ark., wipes tears from his eyes as he holds the Medal of Honor awarded to his 18-year-old son, Cpl. Charles L. Gilliland, for heroism in Korea which cost him his life. The father received the medal in a Pentagon ceremony Wednesday. The son was killed defending his position despite a savage attack by Chinese Communists in April, 1951. (AP Wirephoto).

Mt. Tremper Set To Observe 100th Year of Church

Mt. Tremper, Dec. 2 — The Rev. Harvey I. Todd, pastor of the Shandaken Reformed Church of Mt. Tremper, has announced final plans for the one hundredth anniversary celebration of the founding of the church. There will be an informal reception December 11 in the church hall starting at 4 p. m. and ending with a cafeteria supper at 6 p. m. In the evening at 7:30, there will be an anniversary service in the church. The service will be addressed by the Rev. Daniel Y. Brink, pastor of the First Reformed Church of Scotia and vice president of the Reformed Church Synod of America. His father was pastor of the Mt. Tremper church from 1906 to 1914 and he has recollections of accompanying him on his pastoral duties in this community.

New Paltz to Have Betty Crocker Sale For Kirk League

The Kirk League of the New Paltz Reformed Church is sponsoring a Betty Crocker Meet Your Neighbor Benefit Sale Friday and Saturday in New Paltz.

Members of the organization will be in New Paltz and Ohioville grocery stores on the weekend sale days to serve those friends and neighbors cooperating with the sale of Betty Crocker cake mixes.

Proceeds will be used to purchase chairs for the church Sunday school.

"We hope everyone will take this opportunity to replenish their pantry supply of these increasingly popular mixes and help the Kirk League in their program," said Mrs. Robert Elting, president of the organization.

Team captains assigned to area stores are Mrs. Robert Kelly, Mrs. Douglas Bartow, Mrs. Richard Redfern, Mrs. Kenneth Hasbrouck, Mrs. Peter Fogden, Mrs. Alfred Jensen and Mrs. Gerald DuBois, all of New Paltz.

A FATHER WEEPS FOR HERO SON—Leon C. Gilliand of Yellville, Ark., wipes tears from his eyes as he holds the Medal of Honor awarded to his 18-year-old son, Cpl. Charles L. Gilliland, for heroism in Korea which cost him his life. The father received the medal in a Pentagon ceremony Wednesday. The son was killed defending his position despite a savage attack by Chinese Communists in April, 1951. (AP Wirephoto).

Mt. Tremper Set To Observe 100th Year of Church

Mt. Tremper, Dec. 2 — The Rev. Harvey I. Todd, pastor of the Shandaken Reformed Church of Mt. Tremper, has announced final plans for the one hundredth anniversary celebration of the founding of the church. There will be an informal reception December 11 in the church hall starting at 4 p. m. and ending with a cafeteria supper at 6 p. m. In the evening at 7:30, there will be an anniversary service in the church. The service will be addressed by the Rev. Daniel Y. Brink, pastor of the First Reformed Church of Scotia and vice president of the Reformed Church Synod of America. His father was pastor of the Mt. Tremper church from 1906 to 1914 and he has recollections of accompanying him on his pastoral duties in this community.

Village Notes

Bert Winne Jr. shot a buck during deer hunting season.

The Ladies Sewing Circle met at the home of Mrs. Francis Phillips Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Phillips served refreshments and the members discussed Christmas and anniversary plans.

Mrs. Norman D. Wilber is reported to be ill at her home.

The Mt. Tremper Grange dartball teams played the Lake Katrine Grange teams at Lake Katrine Monday night. The local ladies teams won the first two games and lost out on the third game by a score of 16 to 15. The local men's team took one out of three.

Mrs. Isabel Hrasenek and son William of the Bronx and here spent the holiday weekend at their home on the Wittenberg road.

Fathers Egan and Sullivan, pastor and curate at St. Francis de Sales parish respectively, have announced that two midnight Masses will be celebrated on Christmas this year instead of the usual one. They will be at the Phoenicia and Boiceville churches.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Epstein and children, Barbara, Estelle and Herbert Jr. spent the weekend in New York.

Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Heller of Brooklyn and here spent the weekend at their home on the Wittenberg road.

The Phoenicia Chamber of Commerce is currently distributing a new colorful booklet describing the facilities and beauties of the Township of Shandaken. Copies may be obtained by addressing the Chamber of Commerce at Phoenicia.

BUG-EYED — Claire Mirrer, 10, of Glen Rock, N. J., is wide-eyed with wonder as she looks at a poisonous tarantula at New York City's American Museum of Natural History. Live specimens of various insects are now on display.

New Paltz to Have Betty Crocker Sale For Kirk League

The Kirk League of the New Paltz Reformed Church is sponsoring a Betty Crocker Meet Your Neighbor Benefit Sale Friday and Saturday in New Paltz.

Members of the organization will be in New Paltz and Ohioville grocery stores on the weekend sale days to serve those friends and neighbors cooperating with the sale of Betty Crocker cake mixes.

Proceeds will be used to purchase chairs for the church Sunday school.

"We hope everyone will take this opportunity to replenish their pantry supply of these increasingly popular mixes and help the Kirk League in their program," said Mrs. Robert Elting, president of the organization.

Team captains assigned to area stores are Mrs. Robert Kelly, Mrs. Douglas Bartow, Mrs. Richard Redfern, Mrs. Kenneth Hasbrouck, Mrs. Peter Fogden, Mrs. Alfred Jensen and Mrs. Gerald DuBois, all of New Paltz.

Women Collect $8,055 for Fund

A total of $8,055 toward the Kingston Hospital Development Fund was turned in by the women's committee at its first report meeting Wednesday night at the nurses' home. The report included approximately 40 per cent of the workers.

Mrs. Thomas W. Reynolds, chairman, complimented the teams on their early reports, noting that several teams returned over $2,000.

Bev. C. Anderson, general chairman of the drive, expressed his appreciation to Mrs. Reynolds and to the captains and workers, many of whom are business women and housewives. He stressed the purpose of the drive to provide additional facilities to enable the hospital to provide "more of the finest and best hospital care."

Robert M. Schnitzer, hospital administrator, also spoke briefly, emphasizing the need for "more and better tools" to make it possible for the hospital to operate efficiently.

AMERICAN MENU

Nesselrode Wreath Is a Fine Salute to Santa Claus

NESSELRODE WREATH MOLD will add a festive touch to your Christmas dinner.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Here's a festive Christmas special — Nesselrode Wreath — delicate and beautiful with green-tinted cream, bright cherries and citron or pineapple leaves.

It comes from Mrs. Raymond Huttenlocher of Des Moines, Ia. She says this eggnog chiffon appears as a dessert in many guises throughout the year in her home. It can be spooned into sherbet glasses and chilled or turned into a baked pastry shell and fruit trimmed. For Christmas, she adds cherries and nuts to the basic mixture and turns the now "nesselrode" chiffon into a ring mold, with Christmas wreath decoration.

Nesselrode Wreath
(Yield: 10 servings)

Two envelopes unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup sugar, 1 quart battled nonalcoholic eggnog, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, optional, 4 teaspoons rum flavoring, optional, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped, 1/3 cup chopped drained maraschino cherries, 1/3 cup chopped nuts.

Combine gelatin and sugar in top of double boiler. Stir in 1 cup of the cold eggnog. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Remove from heat; add remaining eggnog. If additional flavoring is desired, add nutmeg and flavoring.

Chill until slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Whip gelatin mixture until light and fluffy; fold in whipped cream. Fold in maraschino cherries and nuts. Turn into a 5-cup ring mold; chill until firm. To garnish, whip additional ½ cup heavy cream. Tint green. Garnish top with maraschino cherries and green-colored citron or pineapple to represent "wreath."

Here's a pie version of the eggnog recipe:

Eggnog Holly Pie
(Yield: 1 ten-inch pie)

One envelope unflavored gelatin, ½ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1¾ cups milk, 3 eggs, separated, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 tablespoon rum flavoring, 1 ten-inch baked pie shell.

Combine gelatin, ¼ cup of the sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Stir in milk. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Beat egg yolks slightly; gradually stir in small amount of the hot mixture. Return to double boiler and cook until mixture is slightly thickened. Remove from heat; add nutmeg and flavoring. Chill mixture until slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; gradually beat in remaining ¼ cup sugar. Fold in gelatin mixture. Turn into pie shell; chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream, pieces of maraschino cherries and citron to resemble holly wreath.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Creamed tuna and sliced stuffed olives, steamed rice, buttered broccoli, enriched bread, butter or margarine, cole slaw, canned pears, brownies, coffee, tea, milk.

Po'keepsie Manager's Mother Dies at 68

Poughkeepsie, Dec. 2 (AP)—Mrs. Roger A. Johnson of New York city, mother of Poughkeepsie City Manager Hayden B. Johnson, died Wednesday after a three-month illness. She was 68.

Mrs. Johnson was the widow of the former head of the Mathematics Department at Brooklyn College. Her husband retired in 1953 and died last February.

She formerly was president of the United Parents Assns. of New York city, serving two terms in the early 1930's, and also had been president of the College Women's Club of Jackson Heights, Queens, where her home was located at 35-36 79th street.

Mrs. Johnson, the former Elizabeth Hayden Briggs, taught biology before her marriage in York, Me., and Amherst and Arlington, Mass. She was a native of Boston.

Surviving her in addition to the son in Poughkeepsie are two other sons, Roger A. Johnson Jr., of Utica, N. Y., and Dr. Duncan G. Johnson, Owensboro, Ky.

Private funeral services are planned at Amherst.

Nesselrode Wreath Is a Fine Salute to Santa Claus

NESSELRODE WREATH MOLD will add a festive touch to your Christmas dinner.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Here's a festive Christmas special — Nesselrode Wreath — delicate and beautiful with green-tinted cream, bright cherries and citron or pineapple leaves.

It comes from Mrs. Raymond Huttenlocher of Des Moines, Ia. She says this eggnog chiffon appears as a dessert in many guises throughout the year in her home. It can be spooned into sherbet glasses and chilled or turned into a baked pastry shell and fruit trimmed. For Christmas, she adds cherries and nuts to the basic mixture and turns the now "nesselrode" chiffon into a ring mold, with Christmas wreath decoration.

Nesselrode Wreath
(Yield: 10 servings)

Two envelopes unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup sugar, 1 quart battled nonalcoholic eggnog, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, optional, 4 teaspoons rum flavoring, optional, 1 cup heavy cream, whipped, 1/3 cup chopped drained maraschino cherries, 1/3 cup chopped nuts.

Combine gelatin and sugar in top of double boiler. Stir in 1 cup of the cold eggnog. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Remove from heat; add remaining eggnog. If additional flavoring is desired, add nutmeg and flavoring.

Chill until slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Whip gelatin mixture until light and fluffy; fold in whipped cream. Fold in maraschino cherries and nuts. Turn into a 5-cup ring mold; chill until firm. To garnish, whip additional ½ cup heavy cream. Tint green. Garnish top with maraschino cherries and green-colored citron or pineapple to represent "wreath."

Here's a pie version of the eggnog recipe:

Eggnog Holly Pie
(Yield: 1 ten-inch pie)

One envelope unflavored gelatin, ½ cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1¾ cups milk, 3 eggs, separated, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 tablespoon rum flavoring, 1 ten-inch baked pie shell.

Combine gelatin, ¼ cup of the sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Stir in milk. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatin and sugar are dissolved. Beat egg yolks slightly; gradually stir in small amount of the hot mixture. Return to double boiler and cook until mixture is slightly thickened. Remove from heat; add nutmeg and flavoring. Chill mixture until slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry; gradually beat in remaining ¼ cup sugar. Fold in gelatin mixture. Turn into pie shell; chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream, pieces of maraschino cherries and citron to resemble holly wreath.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Creamed tuna and sliced stuffed olives, steamed rice, buttered broccoli, enriched bread, butter or margarine, cole slaw, canned pears, brownies, coffee, tea, milk.

PRINCIPALS AT HEALTH MEETING—Mrs. Vincent Connelly, chairman of Heart Committee of Ulster county; Robert W. Osborne, executive secretary of State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health, and Dr. Frederic Holcomb, president of Ulster County TB and Health Association. (Freeman photo).

Heart Program Is Topic at Meeting

Tuberculosis associations of eight counties from the Mid-Hudson area and representatives of the New York State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health met here Wednesday in an all-day session to discuss the heart program.

Addressing delegates meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel, John L. Wallace, secretary of the Heart Fund of the state committee, discussed fund raising for the heart program.

VARIOUS PROGRAMS designed to call attention to heart conditions and foster better health were outlined by John T. Connolly, former health education assistant of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, who is presently heart work consultant for the state committee. Heart diagnostic services and rheumatic fever penicillin treatment were among the programs discussed.

Robert W. Osborn, executive secretary of the New York State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health, was the luncheon speaker. He urged each TB association present to enlarge its heart committee and strive for advancement in all phases of the work.

HEART COMMITTEES are relatively young in the field of public health and have a large task ahead of them, Osborn said. He pointed out the importance of the volunteer worker, who "can and does enrich the program, aid the professional workers and is part of a well rounded organization that represents the people it serves."

transferred them from the bleak mountaintop to the Berlin-Milan Airport here, about eight miles from the scene of the crash.

Bountis, who was riding as an observer in a Northeast plane piloted by Capt. Peter Dana, told newsmen: "I spotted the outline of the DC-3's tail against the mountain. About four or five inches of snow covered the wreckage."

HE SAID THE plane crashed and broke approximately in half as it neared its destination on a regular flight from Boston to the Berlin-Milan Airport on Tuesday morning. Both sections of the plane appeared intact.

Bountis estimated the plane struck the mountain about 75 feet from the summit of the 3,600-foot peak. It sliced off treetops as it moved into relatively flat snow-covered ground.

The accident marked the first fatality on Northeast Airlines in its 21 years in business.

Miss McEttrick wore a heavy coat over blue and white pajamas as she stepped from the helicopter. The three passengers had on warm overcoats and walked to ambulances.

Vice President Robert L. Turnner of Northeast Airlines saw Carey at St. Louis Hospital and quoted him as saying McNulty and McCormick "died soon after the crash."

Miss McEttrick complained of a stiff neck when she reached the hospital. Miller said of her:

"She was terrific. She was the life of the party. She held us all together."

THE HELICOPTER which completed the rescue work in swift trips was piloted by Lt. Kenneth M. Richardson of Warren, R. I., stationed at Westover Air Force Base, Mass.

After he flew the survivors to Milan he took Medical Referee Dr. R. H. McVetty to view the bodies.

Frank T. Morelock, of Crackers Neck, Va., an air force medical technician, was with Richardson as the five survivors were removed. He first lowered himself on a sling and tried to lift Carey. The pilot was so rigid from cold the helicopter had to move to a nearby clearing before lifting Carey into the hatch.

THE OTHER FOUR survivors were removed in one trip.

Bountis said that when he spotted the wreckage he saw one of the survivors waving a flag to attract attention.

WEATHER BUREAU officials said it was unlikely searchers could have seen the plane yesterday because of a low ceiling. Clouds virtually hid the mountain tops.

Bountis knew Carey only slightly. Asked why he was up searching on his day off, he replied quickly:

"If I am ever down I want someone to look for me too."

The wrecked plane was making a routine flight on Tuesday from Boston to Berlin. The airport is located in Milan, 8 miles north of Berlin in the northeastern end of New Hampshire.

Carey made his regular stop at Laconia, N. H., and took off for Berlin at 10:37 a. m. The plane acknowledged receipt of a weather report from northeast at 11:15 a. m. There was no further contact with the ship until it was sighted today—about 45 hours later.

The planes began an immediate search once the ship was reported overdue but the weather grew worse with snow and low clouds reducing visibility. Poor conditions prevailed again yesterday but the sky was clearer this morning.

SEARCHES FOR LOST PLANE—A Coast Guard helicopter from Salem, Mass., takes off at Milan, N.H., Wednesday in search of the Northeast Airliner missing Nov. 30, on a flight from Laconia to Berlin, N.H. A Northeast plane, similar to the missing one is being readied in background. (AP Wirephoto).

Mayors Told Of Danger

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The nation's mayors were told by the continental air defense commander today that the outbreak of a global war could mean "100 pinpointed minutes of atomic hell on earth" for a hundred big American cities.

Gen. Benjamin W. Chidlaw posed this frightening possibility, saying it is the United States which stands "the most likely chance of being hit all-out in a mighty aerial blow" before Russia strikes anywhere else in starting a full scale war.

Building Permits Total $136,845

S. Burrell Schwarzwaelder, superintendent of buildings, today reported issuing 46 building permits in November, representing a total estimated cost of $136,845.

This was $11,233 more than in October when 71 permits were issued.

Of last month's total, nine permits were issued for new buildings at an estimated cost of $75,700, nine for additions to buildings at $41,400, 12 for oil burners at $9,346, seven for fire escapes at $4,214, six for gas burners at $3,785, two for new garages at $1,800, and one for a 2,000-gallon tank at $600.

Blake Is Elected

Boston, Dec. 2 (AP)—Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, a leading Presbyterian churchman and an eloquent spokesman for Christian unity, today was elected president of the nation's largest religious organization, the National Council of Churches. A cordial, scholarly man, Dr. Blake has been a major figure both in his own church and in the interdenominational Christian movement for the last decade. He has been a pastor, missionary, educator and holder of numerous high church posts. The council's biennial assembly elected him unanimously with a standing vote.

Building New Pool

A filtered swimming pool is being built at Twin Lakes Mountain House, Lucas avenue extension, which when completed will be one of the most modern pools in the area. The pool, 30 by 70 feet in size and seven feet deep at the deep portion, will be ready for use next spring and a limited number of memberships for local people will be available, the management announced recently. Change of water and filtering operations will be automatic with the water being completely filtered every eight hours. Work of pouring the concrete will be completed this season.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—The stock market moved higher today along a narrow path in the early afternoon.

Gains at the best in key areas came to between 1 and 2 points while losses amounted to about a point at the outside.

Trading was at a moderate pace of around three million shares as compared with 3,100,000 shares yesterday.

The modest incline today replaced falling prices of the past two days.

Two Collisions Reported in City

One person was injured in a city accident last night and occupants of two vehicles in a collision this morning escaped uninjured.

Mildred Lincoln, 55, of Box 126, Kingston, suffered a bruised forehead in collision at Broadway and Andrew street last night.

A police report at 8 p. m., said Harry Lincoln, 61, of Sleightsburg, was headed north on Broadway in a station wagon and was in collision with the sedan of David S. Rich, 39, of Port Ewen after passing a car that was double parked near Kingston Hospital.

THE INJURED WOMAN, whose head struck a windshield, was taken to a doctor for treatment, the report said.

Officers Thomas Tomshaw and George Dougherty reported at 8:05 a. m., today that the sedan of Bartolo J. Berinato, 48 of 10 Webster street, was headed north on Wilbur avenue, and a sedan of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., was going south when they collided at Wilbur avenue and West O'Reilly street.

Berinato told the officers that he had "swerved his car to avoid hitting a dog."

The Central Hudson car was driven by Robert Atkinson, 58, of 330 Hurley avenue. Both vehicles were towed from the scene.

Gen. Benjamin W. Chidlaw posed this frightening possibility, saying it is the United States which stands "the most likely chance of being hit all-out in a mighty aerial blow" before Russia strikes anywhere else in starting a full scale war.

transferred them from the bleak mountaintop to the Berlin-Milan Airport here, about eight miles from the scene of the crash.

Bountis, who was riding as an observer in a Northeast plane piloted by Capt. Peter Dana, told newsmen: "I spotted the outline of the DC-3's tail against the mountain. About four or five inches of snow covered the wreckage."

HE SAID THE plane crashed and broke approximately in half as it neared its destination on a regular flight from Boston to the Berlin-Milan Airport on Tuesday morning. Both sections of the plane appeared intact.

Bountis estimated the plane struck the mountain about 75 feet from the summit of the 3,600-foot peak. It sliced off treetops as it moved into relatively flat snow-covered ground.

The accident marked the first fatality on Northeast Airlines in its 21 years in business.

Miss McEttrick wore a heavy coat over blue and white pajamas as she stepped from the helicopter. The three passengers had on warm overcoats and walked to ambulances.

Vice President Robert L. Turner of Northeast Airlines saw Carey at St. Louis Hospital and quoted him as saying McNulty and McCormick "died soon after the crash."

Miss McEttrick complained of a stiff neck when she reached the hospital. Miller said of her:

"She was terrific. She was the life of the party. She held us all together."

THE HELICOPTER which completed the rescue work in swift trips was piloted by Lt. Kenneth M. Richardson of Warren, R. I., stationed at Westover Air Force Base, Mass.

After he flew the survivors to Milan he took Medical Referee Dr. R. H. McVetty to view the bodies.

Frank T. Morelock, of Crackers Neck, Va., an air force medical technician, was with Richardson as the five survivors were removed. He first lowered himself on a sling and tried to lift Carey. The pilot was so rigid from cold the helicopter had to move to a nearby clearing before lifting Carey into the hatch.

THE OTHER FOUR survivors were removed in one trip.

Bountis said that when he spotted the wreckage he saw one of the survivors waving a flag to attract attention.

WEATHER BUREAU officials said it was unlikely searchers could have seen the plane yesterday because of a low ceiling. Clouds virtually hid the mountain tops.

Bountis knew Carey only slightly. Asked why he was up searching on his day off, he replied quickly:

"If I am ever down I want someone to look for me too."

The wrecked plane was making a routine flight on Tuesday from Boston to Berlin. The airport is located in Milan, 8 miles north of Berlin in the northeastern end of New Hampshire.

Carey made his regular stop at Laconia, N. H., and took off for Berlin at 10:37 a. m. The plane acknowledged receipt of a weather report from northeast at 11:15 a. m. There was no further contact with the ship until it was sighted today—about 45 hours later.

The planes began an immediate search once the ship was reported overdue but the weather grew worse with snow and low clouds reducing visibility. Poor conditions prevailed again yesterday but the sky was clearer this morning.

Building Permits Total $136,845

S. Burrell Schwarzwaelder, superintendent of buildings, today reported issuing 46 building permits in November, representing a total estimated cost of $136,845.

This was $11,233 more than in October when 71 permits were issued.

Of last month's total, nine permits were issued for new buildings at an estimated cost of $75,700, nine for additions to buildings at $41,400, 12 for oil burners at $9,346, seven for fire escapes at $4,214, six for gas burners at $3,785, two for new garages at $1,800, and one for a 2,000-gallon tank at $600.

Blake Is Elected

Boston, Dec. 2 (AP)—Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, a leading Presbyterian churchman and an eloquent spokesman for Christian unity, today was elected president of the nation's largest religious organization, the National Council of Churches. A cordial, scholarly man, Dr. Blake has been a major figure both in his own church and in the interdenominational Christian movement for the last decade. He has been a pastor, missionary, educator and holder of numerous high church posts. The council's biennial assembly elected him unanimously with a standing vote.

Building New Pool

A filtered swimming pool is being built at Twin Lakes Mountain House, Lucas avenue extension, which when completed will be one of the most modern pools in the area. The pool, 30 by 70 feet in size and seven feet deep at the deep portion, will be ready for use next spring and a limited number of memberships for local people will be available, the management announced recently. Change of water and filtering operations will be automatic with the water being completely filtered every eight hours. Work of pouring the concrete will be completed this season.

SEARCHES FOR LOST PLANE—A Coast Guard helicopter from Salem, Mass., takes off at Milan, N. H., Wednesday in search of the Northeast Airliner missing Nov. 30, on a flight from Laconia to Berlin, N.H. A Northeast plane, similar to the missing one is being readied in background. (AP Wirephoto).

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—The stock market moved higher today along a narrow path in the early afternoon.

Gains at the best in key areas came to between 1 and 2 points while losses amounted to about a point at the outside.

Trading was at a moderate pace of around three million shares as compared with 3,100,000 shares yesterday.

Zwicker 'Abuse' Due for Discard

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Senate today refused to table the second of the censure counts against Sen. McCarthy—that he "intemperately abused" Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker. But it appeared headed for the discard on an agreement by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) that it could be dropped. The vote against tabling was 55-33.

Two Collisions Reported in City

One person was injured in a city accident last night and occupants of two vehicles in a collision this morning escaped uninjured.

Mildred Lincoln, 55, of Box 126, Kingston, suffered a bruised forehead in collision at Broadway and Andrew street last night.

A police report at 8 p. m., said Harry Lincoln, 61, of Sleightsburg, was headed north on Broadway in a station wagon and was in collision with the sedan of David S. Rich, 39, of Port Ewen after passing a car that was double parked near Kingston Hospital.

THE INJURED WOMAN, whose head struck a windshield, was taken to a doctor for treatment, the report said.

Officers Thomas Tomshaw and George Dougherty reported at 8:05 a. m., today that the sedan of Bartolo J. Berinato, 48 of 10 Webster street, was headed north on Wilbur avenue, and a sedan of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., was going south when they collided at Wilbur avenue and West O'Reilly street.

Berinato told the officers that he had "swerved his car to avoid hitting a dog."

The Central Hudson car was driven by Robert Atkinson, 58, of 330 Hurley avenue. Both vehicles were towed from the scene.

Heart Program Is Topic at Meeting

Tuberculosis associations of eight counties from the Mid-Hudson area and representatives of the New York State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health met here Wednesday in an all-day session to discuss the heart program.

Addressing delegates meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel, John L. Wallace, secretary of the Heart Fund of the state committee, discussed fund raising for the heart program.

VARIOUS PROGRAMS designed to call attention to heart conditions and foster better health were outlined by John T. Connolly, former health education assistant of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, who is presently heart work consultant for the state committee. Heart diagnostic services and rheumatic fever penicillin treatment were among the programs discussed.

Robert W. Osborn, executive secretary of the New York State Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health, was the luncheon speaker. He urged each TB association present to enlarge its heart committee and strive for advancement in all phases of the work.

HEART COMMITTEES are relatively young in the field of public health and have a large task ahead of them, Osborn said. He pointed out the importance of the volunteer worker, who "can and does enrich the program, aid the professional workers and is part of a well rounded organization that represents the people it serves."

Speaking of the progress made by research and science, the speaker noted an "increasing awareness" of much remaining to be done in the cardio-vascular disease field.

Zwicker 'Abuse' Due for Discard

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Senate today refused to table the second of the censure counts against Sen. McCarthy—that he "intemperately abused" Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker. But it appeared headed for the discard on an agreement by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) that it could be dropped. The vote against tabling was 55-33.

Two Collisions Reported in City

One person was injured in a city accident last night and occupants of two vehicles in a collision this morning escaped uninjured.

Mildred Lincoln, 55, of Box 126, Kingston, suffered a bruised forehead in collision at Broadway and Andrew street last night.

A police report at 8 p. m., said Harry Lincoln, 61, of Sleightsburg, was headed north on Broadway in a station wagon and was in collision with the sedan of David S. Rich, 39, of Port Ewen after passing a car that was double parked near Kingston Hospital.

THE INJURED WOMAN, whose head struck a windshield, was taken to a doctor for treatment, the report said.

Officers Thomas Tomshaw and George Dougherty reported at 8:05 a. m., today that the sedan of Bartolo J. Berinato, 48 of 10 Webster street, was headed north on Wilbur avenue, and a sedan of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., was going south when they collided at Wilbur avenue and West O'Reilly street.

Berinato told the officers that he had "swerved his car to avoid hitting a dog."

The Central Hudson car was driven by Robert Atkinson, 58, of 330 Hurley avenue. Both vehicles were towed from the scene.

Stang Will Speak

Mayor Frederick H. Stang will be the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Men's Club of the Old Dutch Church on Wednesday, Dec. 8, in Bethany Hall. The meeting will follow a dinner at 6:30 p. m.

Three Are Indicted

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 2 (AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted three prisoners at Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary on a general charge of murder in the slaying of former government economist William W. Remington. After less than five hours testimony yesterday, the grand jury indicted Lewis Cagle Jr., 17, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Robert Carl Parker, 21, Washington, D. C., and George Junior McCoy, 34, Grundy, Va. No date has been set for the trial.

Salute to Burress

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—The whole harbor echoed today with the final salute given retiring Lt. Gen. Withers A. Burress. Leaving Governors Island, where he commanded the First Army, the 60-year-old general got a loud and colorful tribute from a battery of big guns, whistles of harbor craft, military band, a fireboat sending a stream of water high into the air and a color guard.

Duck Roasting

Does duckling taste best to you when it has a crisp skin? Then roast it at a moderate (350 degrees) temperature for two to two-and-one-half hours.

Check to Be Made

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—A special two-man Senate committee, created only last night, hoped to report some results today in its efforts to pin down responsibility for a check of Sen. McCarthy's mail during a 1952 Senate investigation of his financial affairs. Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.), named with Sen. George (D-Ga.) to handle the job, said he believed the special committee could report some progress to the Senate before final votes on censure charges against McCarthy. Ferguson held out the possibility of a public hearing this morning.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Santa Will Arrive At Parade Dec. 10

Saugerties, Dec. 2 — Otto Bumb, chairman of the Community Christmas observance, sponsored by the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce, has announced details of arrangements.

Included in the plans is the usual parade featuring the arrival of Santa Claus in Saugerties which will take place Friday, Dec. 10, at 8 p. m. The parade chairman will be Willett Overbaugh.

Other features of the observance will be a kiddie Christmas party and the home and business decorating contests.

The kiddie's Christmas party, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Marzell Roming will follow immediately after the parade with Santa Claus arriving at municipal auditorium.

At that time prizes will be awarded to the merchants whose store windows or businesses are adjudged the best combining originality, artistry and embodying the Christmas theme.

The first prize will be a large trophy which the winner will keep for one year. Each succeeding year the trophy will be passed on to the new winner. The merchant winning three years in a row will retain permanent possession.

Prizes for home decoration will be judged and awarded following the holidays as many of the homes are not decorated for Christmas until a few days before the holiday.

The first prize for home decorations will also be a cup which will be awarded according to the rules set forth for the merchants' competition.

Others on the committee organizing the event include Mrs. Louise Fatum, Ben Fein, Arnold Stanley, and the Rev. Theodore E. Hammer.

Legion Maps Plans For War Memorial

Saugerties, Dec. 2—The Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion announced preliminary plans for securing a permanent memorial to both the living and the dead of all wars, to be located in a conspicuous place in Saugerties.

The purpose of the proposed bronze plaque will be to have the name of every veteran inscribed who has faithfully served his country and was honorably discharged upon completion of duty.

At the last meeting of the Legion it was pointed out that the present plaques located in Saugerties are not complete. There are approximately 1,800 veterans in the township and only a partial list of names are inscribed on either permanent or temporary memorials in the township .

The campaign to fulfill the hopes of securing such a memorial will get underway shortly. The Legionnaires voted $50 towards initiating the campaign. It is expected that a public drive will be needed to gain financial support for the project. The drive will be geared for completion by Memorial Day 1955 when the memorial will be dedicated.

The steering committee appointed by Commander Robert Messinger includes Peter Williams, Leonard Gilmore, James Maines, William Vozdik, Fred Linden and Henry Genthner.

Streams Are Stocked For 1955 Anglers

Saugerties, Dec. 2—The Saugerties Fish and Game Club at the regular monthly meeting held Monday night heard reports on the continuing program of the organizations to replenish fish and game in local streams and fields.

Robert Thompson and Ross Snyder reported that 3,500 fingerling trout were planted in the Plattekill and its tributaries at Blue Mountain above the dam and some below the dam. Rainbow trout were also reported stocked above Renner's past the gorge. Ted Longendyke and Carlton B. King with Snyder and Thompson did the actual planting.

Longendyke reported that additional hen pheasants were placed recently in Saugerties area lands.

In the absence of President Richard L. Melius, Secretary-Treasurer W. Burt Pettinger presided and Harold Van Voorhis was acting secretary for the evening.

The chair appointed a nominating committee which included William Lang, Ross Snyder, and Floyd Shultis who are to report at the January meeting with a full slate of officers for presentation at the annual election of officers to be held at that time.

The meeting was held in the R. A. Snyder Fire Company rooms where refreshments were served with the committee in charge headed by Longendyke.

Couples Elect New Officers at Dinner

Saugerties, Dec. 2—Edward G. Kiernan was elected president of the Couples Club of Atonement Lutheran Church at the annual banquet of the group held at the Flamingo Restaurant on the Saugerties-Kingston Road Saturday night.

Kiernan replaces Eugene H. Davis who has held that office for the past year.

Others elected were Ralph Brannigan, vice president; Mrs. Helen Hildebrandt, treasurer and Mrs. Henry Breitenbach, secretary.

The Couples Club sponsors a cub scouting unit, Pack 32 of which Kiernan serves as cubmaster.

Area Meetings

Saugerties, Dec. 2—The Saugerties District Scouters will hold their regular monthly meeting today at 8 p. m. in the VFW Hall, Livingston street. District Chairman John J. Wood, Sr., will preside. Neighborhood Commissioner Eugene Davis will preside at the Cubbers Roundtable where the holiday program for the district cub scouts will be outlined. District Commissioner William Plimley will preside at the Scouters Roundtable which will work on plans for National Boy Scout Week in February.

The First Baptist Church of Saugerties will conduct its regular Thursday evening Hour of Power, the Church Prayer meeting at 7:45 p. m. The regular church business meeting will follow the service.

The Brotherhood of Atonement Church will conduct its annual sauerkraut supper today with three servings at 5, 6 and 7 p. m. The meal will be the traditional family style serving of sauerkraut and fresh roasted ham. The chef will be Philip Breithaupt, Sr.

The Luther League of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the parish hall.

The Saugerties Reformed Church will hold its annual congregational meeting today at 7:30 p. m. Reports on church organization will be heard and officers for the coming year will be elected.

The Sunday school of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp will hold a rehearsal Saturday at 10 a. m. in the parish hall for the Sunday school Christmas worship program.

Society to Sponsor Memory Yule Tree

Saugerties, Dec. 2—The Saugerties Society of Little Gardens will again sponsor a community memory Christmas tree which will be located in Cantine Memorial Park opposite Saugerties High School.

This will be the second consecutive year for the project which last year received outstanding support.

Last year a 20-foot tree was set up in the park and was lighted by over 140 bulbs donated by local residents who contributed $1 to have a light placed on the tree in memory of a departed loved one.

Due to the excellent response a much larger tree will be acquired in order to hold all the bulbs expected to be purchased.

Those wishing to sponsor a bulb may contact members of the committee which includes Mrs. William Plimley, Mrs. Richard Maines and Mrs. Richard B. Overbaugh.

To date more than 20 bulbs have been sponsored for this year's tree.

Santa Will Arrive At Parade Dec. 10

Saugerties, Dec. 2 — Otto Bumb, chairman of the Community Christmas observance, sponsored by the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce, has announced details of arrangements.

Included in the plans is the usual parade featuring the arrival of Santa Claus in Saugerties which will take place Friday, Dec. 10, at 8 p. m. The parade chairman will be Willett Overbaugh.

Other features of the observance will be a kiddie Christmas party and the home and business decorating contests.

The kiddie's Christmas party, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Marzell Roming will follow immediately after the parade with Santa Claus arriving at municipal auditorium.

At that time prizes will be awarded to the merchants whose store windows or businesses are adjudged the best combining originality, artistry and embodying the Christmas theme.

The first prize will be a large trophy which the winner will keep for one year. Each succeeding year the trophy will be passed on to the new winner. The merchant winning three years in a row will retain permanent possession.

Prizes for home decoration will be judged and awarded following the holidays as many of the homes are not decorated for Christmas until a few days before the holiday.

The first prize for home decorations will also be a cup which will be awarded according to the rules set forth for the merchants' competition.

Others on the committee organizing the event include Mrs. Louise Fatum, Ben Fein, Arnold Stanley, and the Rev. Theodore E. Hammer.

Legion Maps Plans For War Memorial

Saugerties, Dec. 2—The Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion announced preliminary plans for securing a permanent memorial to both the living and the dead of all wars, to be located in a conspicuous place in Saugerties.

The purpose of the proposed bronze plaque will be to have the name of every veteran inscribed who has faithfully served his country and was honorably discharged upon completion of duty.

At the last meeting of the Legion it was pointed out that the present plaques located in Saugerties are not complete. There are approximately 1,800 veterans in the township and only a partial list of names are inscribed on either permanent or temporary memorials in the township .

The campaign to fulfill the hopes of securing such a memorial will get underway shortly. The Legionnaires voted $50 towards initiating the campaign. It is expected that a public drive will be needed to gain financial support for the project. The drive will be geared for completion by Memorial Day 1955 when the memorial will be dedicated.

The steering committee appointed by Commander Robert Messinger includes Peter Williams, Leonard Gilmore, James Maines, William Vozdik, Fred Linden and Henry Genthner.

Streams Are Stocked For 1955 Anglers

Saugerties, Dec. 2—The Saugerties Fish and Game Club at the regular monthly meeting held Monday night heard reports on the continuing program of the organizations to replenish fish and game in local streams and fields.

Robert Thompson and Ross Snyder reported that 3,500 fingerling trout were planted in the Plattekill and its tributaries at Blue Mountain above the dam and some below the dam. Rainbow trout were also reported stocked above Renner's past the gorge. Ted Longendyke and Carlton B. King with Snyder and Thompson did the actual planting.

Longendyke reported that additional hen pheasants were placed recently in Saugerties area lands.

In the absence of President Richard L. Melius, Secretary-Treasurer W. Burt Pettinger presided and Harold Van Voorhis was acting secretary for the evening.

The chair appointed a nominating committee which included William Lang, Ross Snyder, and Floyd Shultis who are to report at the January meeting with a full slate of officers for presentation at the annual election of officers to be held at that time.

The meeting was held in the R. A. Snyder Fire Company rooms where refreshments were served with the committee in charge headed by Longendyke.

Couples Elect New Officers at Dinner

Saugerties, Dec. 2—Edward G. Kiernan was elected president of the Couples Club of Atonement Lutheran Church at the annual banquet of the group held at the Flamingo Restaurant on the Saugerties-Kingston Road Saturday night.

Kiernan replaces Eugene H. Davis who has held that office for the past year.

Others elected were Ralph Brannigan, vice president; Mrs. Helen Hildebrandt, treasurer and Mrs. Henry Breitenbach, secretary.

The Couples Club sponsors a cub scouting unit, Pack 32 of which Kiernan serves as cubmaster.

Area Meetings

Saugerties, Dec. 2—The Saugerties District Scouters will hold their regular monthly meeting today at 8 p. m. in the VFW Hall, Livingston street. District Chairman John J. Wood, Sr., will preside. Neighborhood Commissioner Eugene Davis will preside at the Cubbers Roundtable where the holiday program for the district cub scouts will be outlined. District Commissioner William Plimley will preside at the Scouters Roundtable which will work on plans for National Boy Scout Week in February.

The First Baptist Church of Saugerties will conduct its regular Thursday evening Hour of Power, the Church Prayer meeting at 7:45 p. m. The regular church business meeting will follow the service.

The Brotherhood of Atonement Church will conduct its annual sauerkraut supper today with three servings at 5, 6 and 7 p. m. The meal will be the traditional family style serving of sauerkraut and fresh roasted ham. The chef will be Philip Breithaupt, Sr.

The Luther League of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the parish hall.

The Saugerties Reformed Church will hold its annual congregational meeting today at 7:30 p. m. Reports on church organization will be heard and officers for the coming year will be elected.

The Sunday school of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church of West Camp will hold a rehearsal Saturday at 10 a. m. in the parish hall for the Sunday school Christmas worship program.

Society to Sponsor Memory Yule Tree

Saugerties, Dec. 2—The Saugerties Society of Little Gardens will again sponsor a community memory Christmas tree which will be located in Cantine Memorial Park opposite Saugerties High School.

This will be the second consecutive year for the project which last year received outstanding support.

Last year a 20-foot tree was set up in the park and was lighted by over 140 bulbs donated by local residents who contributed $1 to have a light placed on the tree in memory of a departed loved one.

Due to the excellent response a much larger tree will be acquired in order to hold all the bulbs expected to be purchased.

Those wishing to sponsor a bulb may contact members of the committee which includes Mrs. William Plimley, Mrs. Richard Maines and Mrs. Richard B. Overbaugh.

To date more than 20 bulbs have been sponsored for this year's tree.

Imperial Opens The Men's Shop

Thomas A. Imperial, who has been associated with Electrol, Incorporated, as a junior engineer since completion of service in the U. S. Navy, has opened The Men's Shop at 251 Clinton avenue in the store formerly occupied by LaSalle Cleaners and Dyers, opposite the Stuyvesant Garage.

The shop opened today and Imperial will carry a complete line of men's haberdashery featuring the better lines of merchandise including slacks, sport jackets, Marx Cross leatherwear, Charles MacIntosh topcoats and rainwear for men, Hathaway shirts, sweaters and other men's furnshings as well as Lady MacIntosh and Hathaway allied lines for women.

The interior of the store has been tastefully decorated under the supervision of John Pike of Woodstock, well known illustrator and artist.

LaSalle Cleaners, who vacated the premises, has moved its establishment to new quarters on Albany avenue extension.

22,849 Are Enrolled

Albany, Dec. 2 (AP)—A total of 22,849 full-time students were enrolled in the 27 units of the State University this fall, 1,581 more than last year. In addition 7,732 full-time, part-time and extension students were enrolled, the university reported. The 10 community colleges within the university enrolled 14,239, for an overall total of 44,820. Men outnumber women among the full-time students. There were 12,450 men and 10,399 women enrolled this year.

Aquatic Mink

The mink is a semiaquatic animal, being commonly at home where water is found. It not only swims and dives with facility, but can remain long underwater, and pursues and catches fish.

Try dampening the string when tying packages for mailing. You'll find as the string dries, it shrinks, giving a tighter wrap.

Consumers Get Break In Tug-of-War on Prices

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—Prices of finished goods and raw materials are caught in a tug-of-war today—with consumers getting a break here and there.

Price weakness in some lines—going counter to the usual upward pull of advancing business activity—is being watched closely by businessmen planning their next year's schedules.

Consumers watch most closely the battles in the stores, at the filling stations, and at the auto dealers.

PRICE CUTTING by some of the big stores to meet the competition of the discount houses is giving many a Christmas shopper a break. But it's a headache to manufacturers who are trying to maintain a uniform price on their branded products.

Gasoline price wars—a recurring item in some states—is on the official carpet in New Jersey, where 12 major oil companies are accused of violating state laws by offering rebates and discounts. Retail prices of regular gasoline in that state range from 20 to 26 cents a gallon.

Prices on the new automobile models are pretty well scrambled this time. Many entirely new models are out, making comparison impossible. With others there have been some price hikes, credited to increased costs, but these have often been offset by a drop in freight charges.

DEALERS ENTER the picture with their varying policies on trade-in allowances. And the consumers are reported ordering the new cars freely, but shopping hard for price concessions.

At the manufacturing level the interest centers on recent price weakness in some raw materials—at a time when rising industrial production schedules would seem to pull prices in the opposite direction.

The price of steel scrap, for example, has been taking the low road of late, although steel mills are increasing output and scrap prices usually rise at such a time. Some mills explain they laid in good supplies of scrap last fall. Others report they have been putting more pig iron and less scrap in their mix.

COPPER SCRAP prices have been weak of late, too, although the strike-caused shortage in refined copper still continues. But rising costs of labor and of some metals, like zinc, which it uses along with copper, are given by Chase Brass & Copper as the reasons for raising prices on its products. The fabricating subsidiary of Kennecott Copper Corp. is hiking prices on all copper products and some brass and bronze products.

Prices of titanium metal sponge, whose end product is used in the high-speed aircraft manufacturing industry, are being cut by du Pont. Increased production gets the credit.

Synthetic rubber producers will also be getting the benefit of a price cut in monomer styrene by Dow Chemical and Koppers. Private industry henceforth will get stryenne at the same price that formerly only the government synthetic rubber plants enjoyed.

SHOE MAKERS are increasing their output, but the price of hides is taking the other direction. One grade of shoemaking hides is now selling at around 13 cents a pound, two cents under a year ago, when shoe production was 10 per cent lower than now.

The down pull on hides, as in most commodities now, comes from large supplies and competition among producers.

The tug-of-war team pulling at the other end of the price rope includes the rise in industrial production and operation of "fair trade" laws and other business practices. But even more important perhaps are government price supports and stockpiling programs which keep a free market from operating.

They Like Canes

Buena Vista, Va. (AP)—A retired clergyman and his banker son here have one of the top collections of canes in the country. Dr. Edward A. Shugart, the minister, began the collection about 50 years ago. His son took it over after World War 2. It now numbers some 350 canes, most of them collector's items. Included is one made by a slave and used by President Andrew Johnson. The newest is from a cedar used as a Christmas tree at the last reunion of the seven Shugart sons and daughters at their home.

Identification!

Oklahoma City (AP) — Eleven-year-old Gary Haskins, on a visitor's tour of the jail, got his fingerprints taken. After the prints were recorded, Gary commented: "Now I'll get stuck for every crime committed around the house."

Detroit (AP) — Suburban Roseville and St. Clair Shores have banned new home construction while they work out a plan to curb "growing pains." Both are considering adding $150 to $300 to the cost of building permits, saying rapid expansion has outdistanced ability to provide sufficient schools or adequate water and sewer facilities without additional revenue. Roseville's ban includes new commercial as well as home construction.

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—Prices of finished goods and raw materials are caught in a tug-of-war today—with consumers getting a break here and there.

Price weakness in some lines—going counter to the usual upward pull of advancing business activity—is being watched closely by businessmen planning their next year's schedules.

Consumers watch most closely the battles in the stores, at the filling stations, and at the auto dealers.

PRICE CUTTING by some of the big stores to meet the competition of the discount houses is giving many a Christmas shopper a break. But it's a headache to manufacturers who are trying to maintain a uniform price on their branded products.

Gasoline price wars—a recurring item in some states—is on the official carpet in New Jersey, where 12 major oil companies are accused of violating state laws by offering rebates and discounts. Retail prices of regular gasoline in that state range from 20 to 26 cents a gallon.

Prices on the new automobile models are pretty well scrambled this time. Many entirely new models are out, making comparison impossible. With others there have been some price hikes, credited to increased costs, but these have often been offset by a drop in freight charges.

DEALERS ENTER the picture with their varying policies on trade-in allowances. And the consumers are reported ordering the new cars freely, but shopping hard for price concessions.

At the manufacturing level the interest centers on recent price weakness in some raw materials—at a time when rising industrial production schedules would seem to pull prices in the opposite direction.

The price of steel scrap, for example, has been taking the low road of late, although steel mills are increasing output and scrap prices usually rise at such a time. Some mills explain they laid in good supplies of scrap last fall. Others report they have been putting more pig iron and less scrap in their mix.

COPPER SCRAP prices have been weak of late, too, although the strike-caused shortage in refined copper still continues. But rising costs of labor and of some metals, like zinc, which it uses along with copper, are given by Chase Brass & Copper as the reasons for raising prices on its products. The fabricating subsidiary of Kennecott Copper Corp. is hiking prices on all copper products and some brass and bronze products.

Prices of titanium metal sponge, whose end product is used in the high-speed aircraft manufacturing industry, are being cut by du Pont. Increased production gets the credit.

Synthetic rubber producers will also be getting the benefit of a price cut in monomer styrene by Dow Chemical and Koppers. Private industry henceforth will get stryenne at the same price that formerly only the government synthetic rubber plants enjoyed.

SHOE MAKERS are increasing their output, but the price of hides is taking the other direction. One grade of shoemaking hides is now selling at around 13 cents a pound, two cents under a year ago, when shoe production was 10 per cent lower than now.

The down pull on hides, as in most commodities now, comes from large supplies and competition among producers.

The tug-of-war team pulling at the other end of the price rope includes the rise in industrial production and operation of "fair trade" laws and other business practices. But even more important perhaps are government price supports and stockpiling programs which keep a free market from operating.

They Like Canes

Buena Vista, Va. (AP)—A retired clergyman and his banker son here have one of the top collections of canes in the country. Dr. Edward A. Shugart, the minister, began the collection about 50 years ago. His son took it over after World War 2. It now numbers some 350 canes, most of them collector's items. Included is one made by a slave and used by President Andrew Johnson. The newest is from a cedar used as a Christmas tree at the last reunion of the seven Shugart sons and daughters at their home.

Identification!

Imperial Opens The Men's Shop

Thomas A. Imperial, who has been associated with Electrol, Incorporated, as a junior engineer since completion of service in the U. S. Navy, has opened The Men's Shop at 251 Clinton avenue in the store formerly occupied by LaSalle Cleaners and Dyers, opposite the Stuyvesant Garage.

The shop opened today and Imperial will carry a complete line of men's haberdashery featuring the better lines of merchandise including slacks, sport jackets, Marx Cross leatherwear, Charles MacIntosh topcoats and rainwear for men, Hathaway shirts, sweaters and other men's furnshings as well as Lady-MacIntosh and Hathaway allied lines for women.

The interior of the store has been tastefully decorated under the supervision of John Pike of Woodstock, well known illustrator and artist.

LaSalle Cleaners, who vacated the premises, has moved its establishment to new quarters on Albany avenue extension.

Expansion Stopped

Detroit (AP) — Suburban Roseville and St. Clair Shores have banned new home construction while they work out a plan to curb "growing pains." Both are considering adding $150 to $300 to the cost of building permits, saying rapid expansion has outdistanced ability to provide sufficient schools or adequate water and sewer facilities without additional revenue. Roseville's ban includes new commercial as well as home construction.

22,849 Are Enrolled

Albany, Dec. 2 (AP)—A total of 22,849 full-time students were enrolled in the 27 units of the State University this fall, 1,581 more than last year. In addition 7,732 full-time, part-time and extension students were enrolled, the university reported. The 10 community colleges within the university enrolled 14,239, for an overall total of 44,820. Men outnumber women among the full-time students. There were 12,450 men and 10,399 women enrolled this year.

Girl Returns With Husband

Newark, N. J., Dec. 2 (AP)—Barbara Billingsley, daughter of the owner of the Stork Club in New York city, landed here last night with her husband, but had little to say about her elopement to a small Georgia town.

The pretty, 18-year-old bride hedged when asked about her father's attitude concerning the marriage. Her husband, John Rogers Christoffers, a 28-year-old commercial photographer, stood on the sidelines at Newark Airport as newsmen descended on Barbara.

SHE WOULDN'T comment on whether she and her husband, who uses the name John Rogers professionally, would meet her father soon.

Barbara and the World War 2 veteran were wed Monday in Folkstown, Ga., and had a short honeymoon in Daytona Beach, Fla. She had joined Rogers Saturday night at the home of his brother in Rahway, N. J.

After returning here last night, the couple went to the brother's home and planned to leave today for Rogers' Park avenue apartment in New York.

Girl Teaches Soldiers

Tokyo (AP)—It would have been a shocker in prewar days in Japan, but hardly an eyebrow was raised when a woman was appointed to the faculty of the Defense University, Japan's West Point. She is Teruko Sobeya, 40, pretty, demure, who was appointed by the Japanese Defense Board to head the university's physics department.

Pork, Lamb, Chickens, Some Cuts of Beef Are Best Buys

(By The Associated Press)

Pork, lamb and frying chickens will be favored features in markets across the country this weekend. You'll also find specials on selected cuts of beef.

Loins will get the top billing in the pork line. Legs of lamb will be featured widely at slightly lower prices. Beef generally is on the expensive side, but many stores have singled out one cut or another for weekend shoppers. Among them are sirloin steak, chuck roast and round roast.

BROILING AND frying chickens will be on the bargain counter again, and the poultry industry fervently hopes you'll eat your share. The U. S. Department of Agriculture figures production this year at well over a billion birds, the highest in history. And marketings in December are expected to be much heavier than a year ago.

"Low-priced, light-weight, easy-to-cook broilers and fryers can stretch the food dollar at a time when consumers need it most—after Thanksgiving and before the Christmas holidays," the USDA remarks.

Poultrymen in New York state, faced with huge supplies and unusually low prices, are asking families to eat at least two stewing chickens each before the end of the year to help them out of their financial stew.

EGGS ARE a problem, too. During the week, wholesale quotations in New York dropped to the lowest of the year, despite the fact that spring is the traditional time for low egg prices.

One big chain is cutting egg prices all over the country this week, with reductions ranging from four to six cents a dozen.

Produce men favor cabbage, potatoes, eggplant, escarole, romaine lettuce, Brussels Sprouts, radishes and turnips this week. And they also consider beans, cucumbers, broccoli, onions, and peppers to be worth-while buys. Tomatoes, carrots and artichokes are described as moderately priced.

In the fruit line, good values can be had in limes, tangerines, emperor grapes and avocadoes. Florida oranges and grapefruit also are fairly low. Western apples are moderately priced.

Too Much Spinach

Schenectady, N. Y. (AP)—The iron content of some germs prevents their destruction by ultraviolet rays, researchers have discovered. The discovery is expected to prove valuable from a public health standpoint. The General Electric Research Laboratory announced the finding.

After returning here last night, the couple went to the brother's home and planned to leave today for Rogers' Park avenue apartment in New York.

Tokyo (AP)—It would have been a shocker in prewar days in Japan, but hardly an eyebrow was raised when a woman was appointed to the faculty of the Defense University, Japan's West Point. She is Teruko Sobeya, 40, pretty, demure, who was appointed by the Japanese Defense Board to head the university's physics department.

MAKES BREATHING EASIER—Bedfast polio patients can now travel down the corridors of the Miami Valley Hospital, in Dayton, Ohio, thanks to this combination truck-wheel chair-chest respirator constructed by hospital attendants. Pork, Lamb, Chickens, Some Cuts of Beef Are Best Buys

(By The Associated Press)

Pork, lamb and frying chickens will be favored features in markets across the country this weekend. You'll also find specials on selected cuts of beef.

Loins will get the top billing in the pork line. Legs of lamb will be featured widely at slightly lower prices. Beef generally is on the expensive side, but many stores have singled out one cut or another for weekend shoppers. Among them are sirloin steak, chuck roast and round roast.

BROILING AND frying chickens will be on the bargain counter again, and the poultry industry fervently hopes you'll eat your share. The U. S. Department of Agriculture figures production this year at well over a billion birds, the highest in history. And marketings in December are expected to be much heavier than a year ago.

"Low-priced, light-weight, easy-to-cook broilers and fryers can stretch the food dollar at a time when consumers need it most—after Thanksgiving and before the Christmas holidays," the USDA remarks.

Poultrymen in New York state, faced with huge supplies and unusually low prices, are asking families to eat at least two stewing chickens each before the end of the year to help them out of their financial stew.

EGGS ARE a problem, too. During the week, wholesale quotations in New York dropped to the lowest of the year, despite the fact that spring is the traditional time for low egg prices.

One big chain is cutting egg prices all over the country this week, with reductions ranging from four to six cents a dozen.

Produce men favor cabbage, potatoes, eggplant, escarole, romaine lettuce, Brussels Sprouts, radishes and turnips this week. And they also consider beans, cucumbers, broccoli, onions, and peppers to be worth-while buys. Tomatoes, carrots and artichokes are described as moderately priced.

In the fruit line, good values can be had in limes, tangerines, emperor grapes and avocadoes. Florida oranges and grapefruit also are fairly low. Western apples are moderately priced.

Girl Returns With Husband

Newark, N. J., Dec. 2 (AP)—Barbara Billingsley, daughter of the owner of the Stork Club in New York city, landed here last night with her husband, but had little to say about her elopement to a small Georgia town.

The pretty, 18-year-old bride hedged when asked about her father's attitude concerning the marriage. Her husband, John Rogers Christoffers, a 28-year-old commercial photographer, stood on the sidelines at Newark Airport as newsmen descended on Barbara.

SHE WOULDN'T comment on whether she and her husband, who uses the name John Rogers professionally, would meet her father soon.

Barbara and the World War 2 veteran were wed Monday in Folkstown, Ga., and had a short honeymoon in Daytona Beach, Fla. She had joined Rogers Saturday night at the home of his brother in Rahway, N. J.

After returning here last night, the couple went to the brother's home and planned to leave today for Rogers' Park avenue apartment in New York.

Jurors to Meet On Monday Night

The regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Grand Juror's Association will be held Monday at 8 p. m. at the Court House, Thomas J. Murphy, president, has announced.

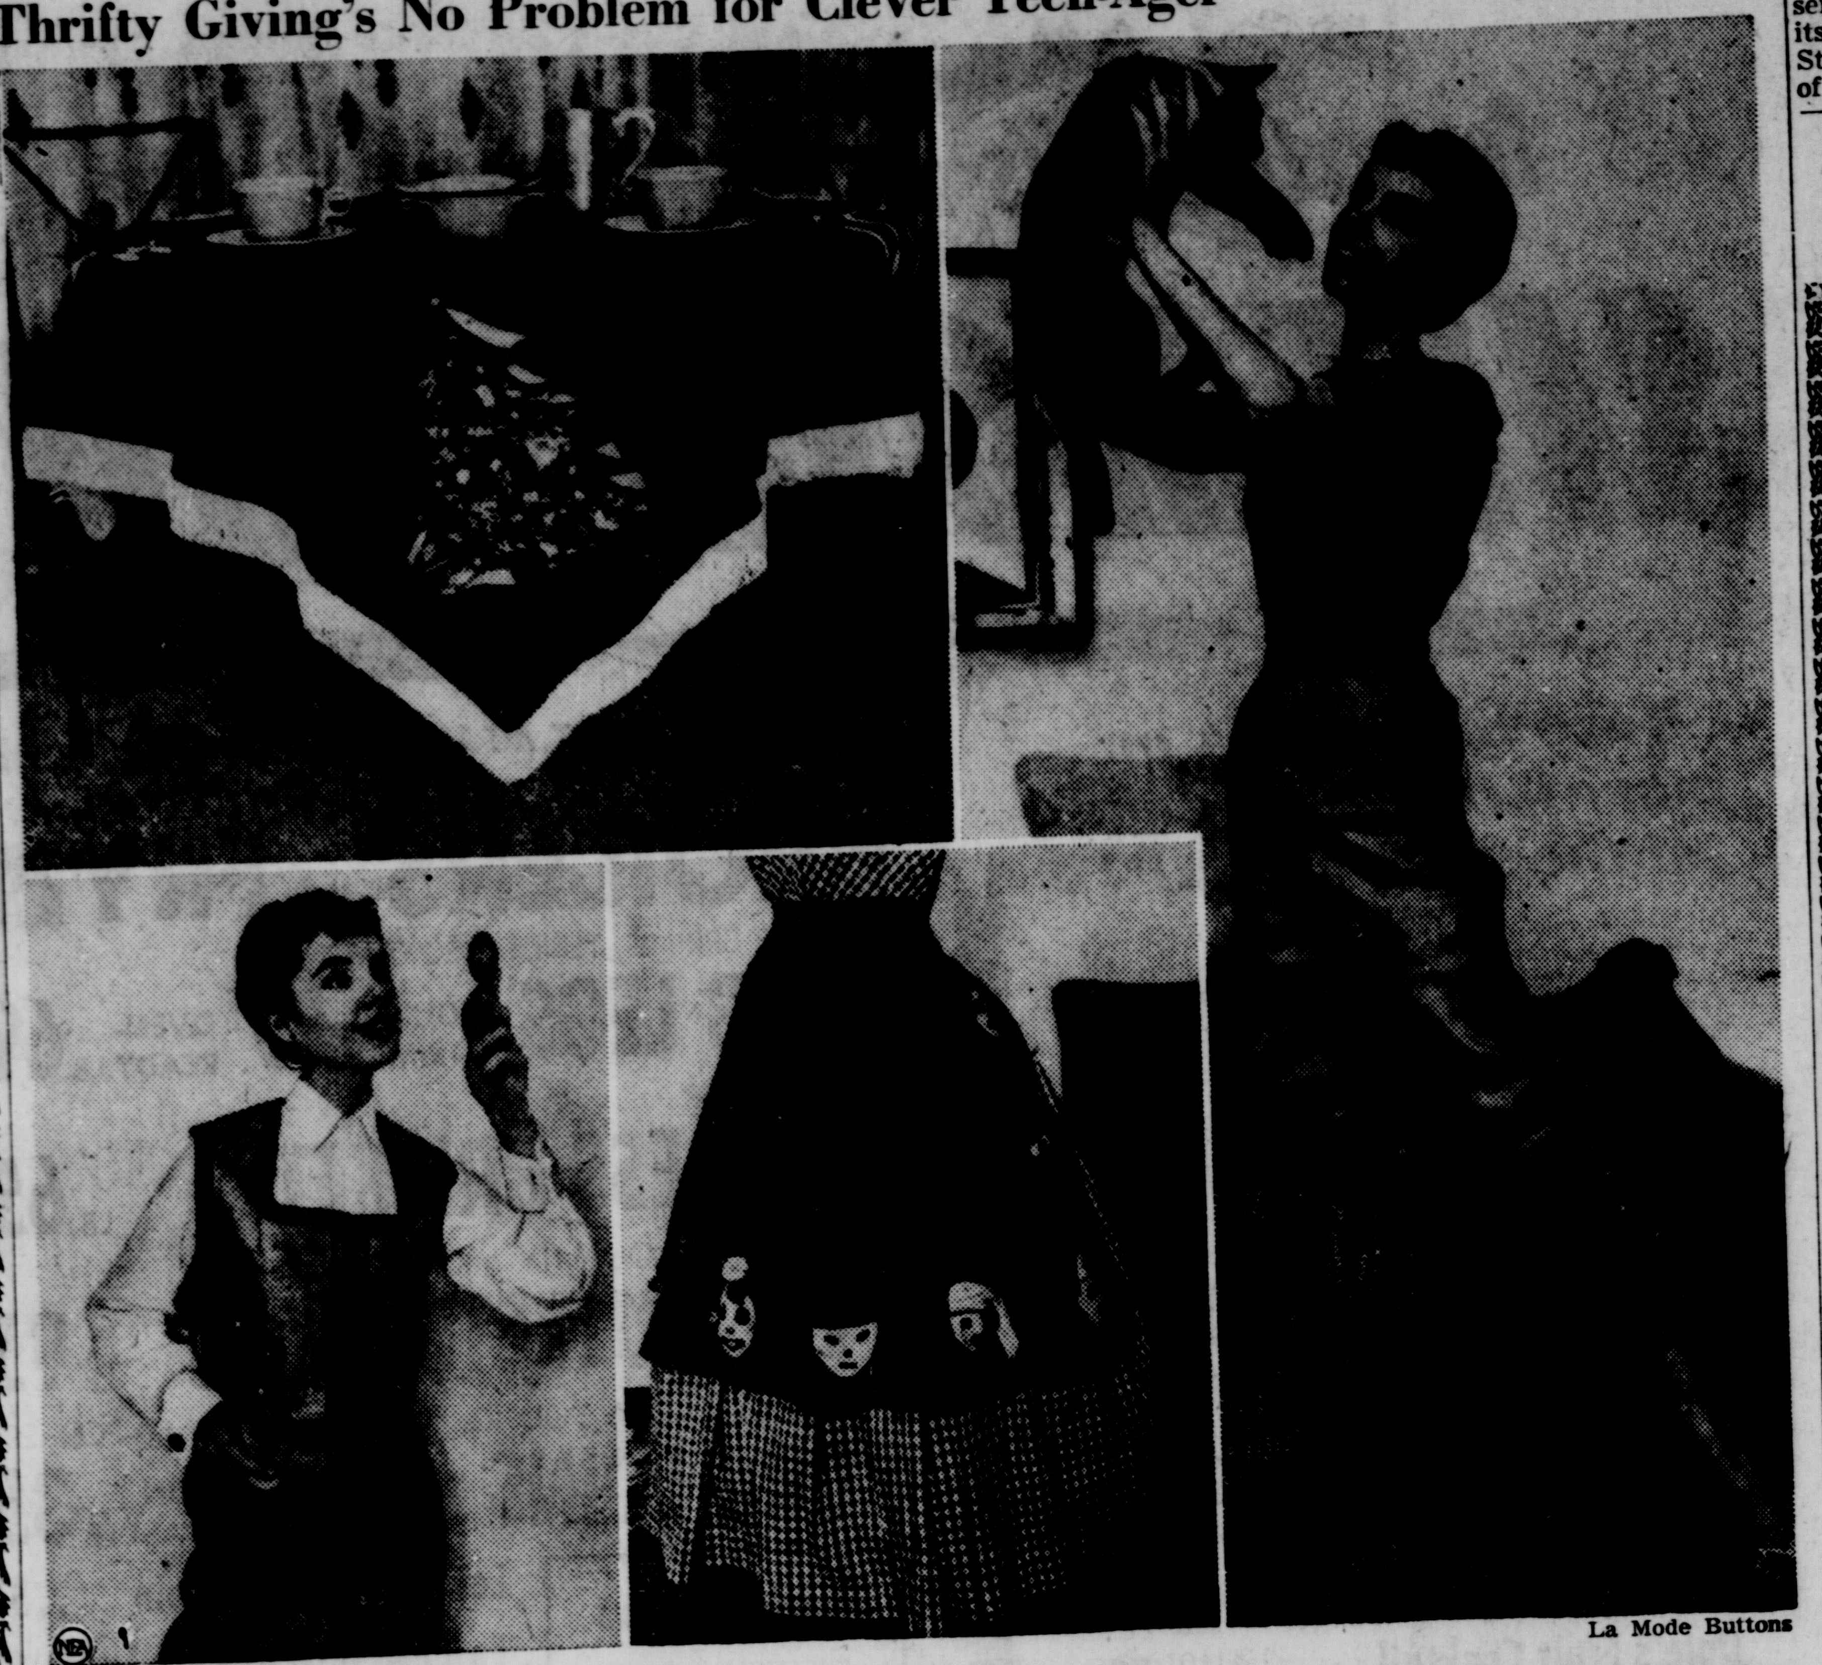
Many important matters will be discussed and a large attendance is requested as this will be the final meeting of the year.

The raccoon is one of the few American mammals which has no living relatives in the Old World.

Dismissals Authorized

Montevideo, Uruguay, Dec. 2 (AP)—The UNESCO Administrative Commission last night authorized Director General Luther H. Evans, an American, to dismiss staff members "lacking the highest standards of integrity." The action cleared one obstacle to Evans' firing of three American employes who refused to answer U. S. Loyalty Board questions. Members of the American delegation have hinted that failure to do something about the three might jeopardize congressional appropriations for UNESCO.

Thrifty Giving's No Problem for Clever Teen-Ager



La Mode Buttons

For the teenager with a small Christmas budget and a big list, here are handsome gifts she can make herself. With Mom's sewing kit, leftover materials and an assortment of trim and buttons, the finished products will rival all other gifts under the Christmas tree. A huge square of fir-tree green felt becomes a holiday tablecloth (upper left) when trimmed with a decorated-Christmas tree motif and sparkling white silk fringe. Any girl who likes casual clothes will love these easy-to-make felt 'lantern' pants, trimmed with black velvet ribbon and rhinestone buttons (right). A fancy 'jeweled' vest (lower left) is made from a basic vest pattern using inexpensive gold-sprayed material. The motif is cut from felt fragments and decorated with variously-colored glass buttons for a sparkling effect. A conversation-piece apron is this one (upper center) made of felt and trimmed with faces that include a one-eyed pirate, a masked cowboy and a doctor with a real-looking stethoscope (it's a button).

Friendliness Is Concluding Note Of Conference

Quitandinha, Brazil, Dec. 2 (AP) — The first inter-American economic conference headed for adjournment today on a friendly note. The United States pledged financial help to Latin America but kept a firm hold on its purse strings.

The only formal U. S. commitment was a maximum of 1½ million dollars for the technical assistance program of the Organization of American States (OAS), plus unspecified millions in loans from the Export-Import bank, World Bank and the new International Finance Corporation Washington has said it will establish.

THE WINDUP ceremonies were scheduled this afternoon (3:30 p. m., EST) with Antonio Carrillo-Flores, Mexican Finance minister, to deliver the farewell address to the delegates.

The Latin-Americans generally expressed satisfaction with results of the parley. Some said they felt they did not get all they wanted. But they admitted the United States had been sympathetic and cooperatively inclined toward their problems.

A NUMBER OF study groups created by the conference and scheduled to report within the next six months could lay the groundwork for even closer cooperation between the United States and the Latin-American nations.

Counted in dollars, little hard cash was given out. The Latin Americans had hoped for possible commitments from the United States running toward a billion dollars yearly.

The U. S. delegates refused to discuss actual figures but did pledge that the recently expanded Export-Import Bank would give a green light to worthwhile Latin-American requests for development funds.

Jurors to Meet On Monday Night

The regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Grand Juror's Association will be held Monday at 8 p. m. at the Court House, Thomas J. Murphy, president, has announced.

Many important matters will be discussed and a large attendance is requested as this will be the final meeting of the year.

The raccoon is one of the few American mammals which has no living relatives in the Old World.

Dismissals Authorized

Montevideo, Uruguay, Dec. 2 (AP)—The UNESCO Administrative Commission last night authorized Director General Luther H. Evans, an American, to dismiss staff members "lacking the highest standards of integrity." The action cleared one obstacle to Evans' firing of three American employes who refused to answer U. S. Loyalty Board questions. Members of the American delegation have hinted that failure to do something about the three might jeopardize congressional appropriations for UNESCO.

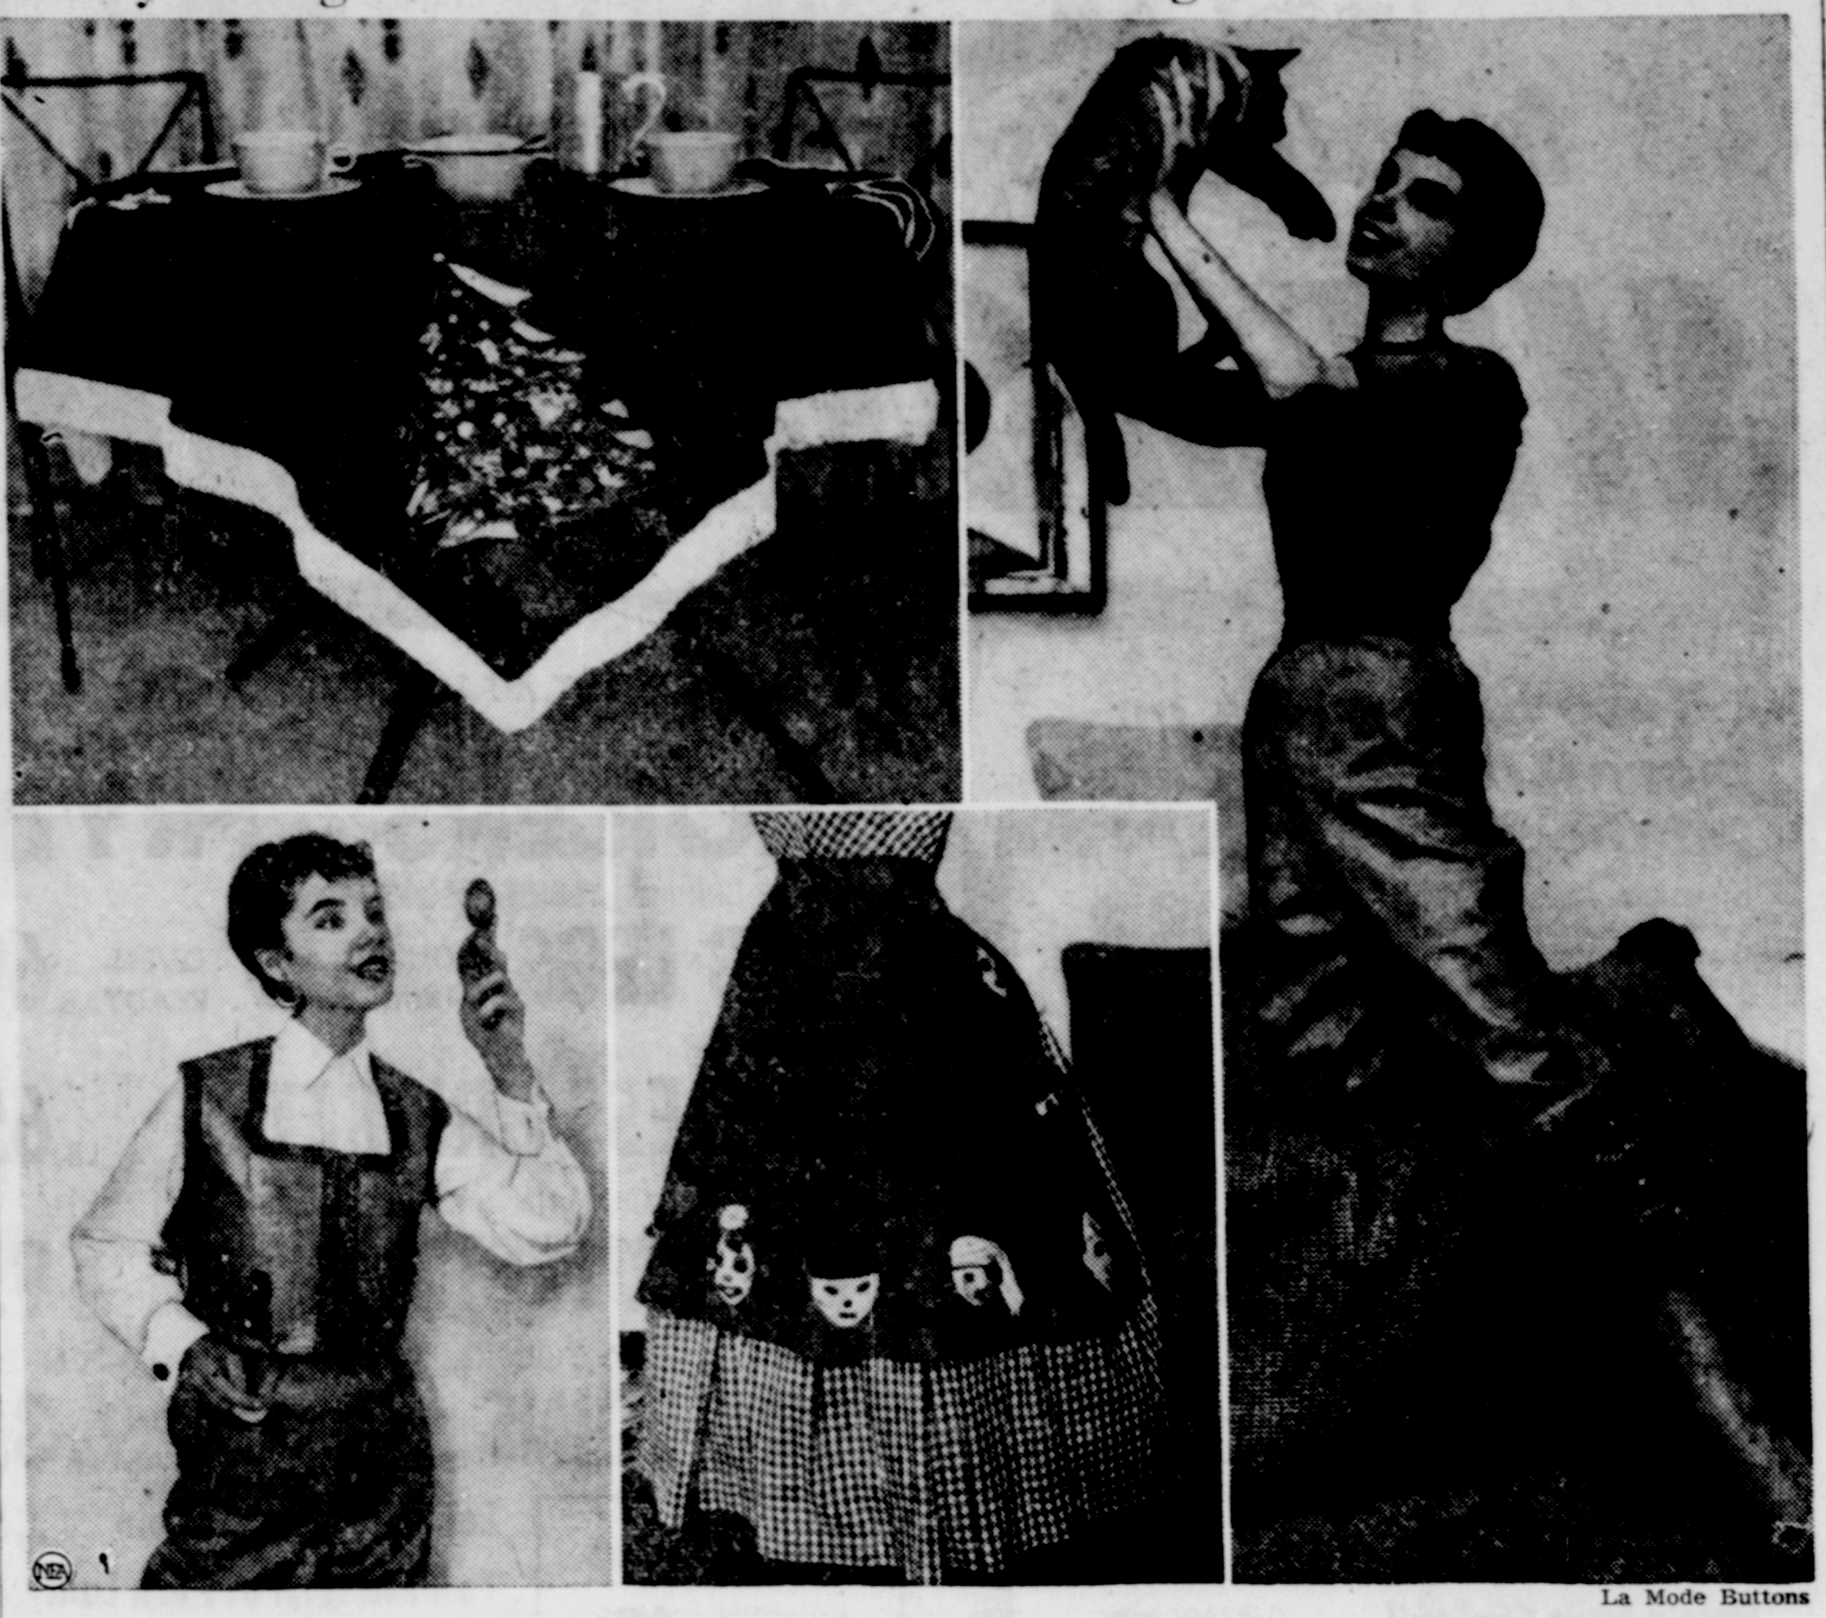
Thrifty Giving's No Problem for Clever Teen-Ager



La Mode Buttons

For the teenager with a small Christmas budget and a big list, here are handsome gifts she can make herself. With Mom's sewing kit, leftover materials and an assortment of trim and buttons, the finished products will rival all other gifts under the Christmas tree. A huge square of fir-tree green felt becomes a holiday tablecloth (upper left) when trimmed with a decorated-Christmas tree motif and sparkling white silk fringe. Any girl who likes casual clothes will love these easy-to-make felt 'lantern' pants, trimmed with black velvet ribbon and rhinestone buttons (right). A fancy 'jeweled' vest (lower left) is made from a basic vest pattern using inexpensive gold-sprayed material. The motif is cut from felt fragments and decorated with variously-colored glass buttons for a sparkling effect. A conversation-piece apron is this one (upper center) made of felt and trimmed with faces that include a one-eyed pirate, a masked cowboy and a doctor with a real-looking stethoscope (it's a button).

Friendliness Is Concluding Note Of Conference

Quitandinha, Brazil, Dec. 2 (AP) — The first inter-American economic conference headed for adjournment today on a friendly note. The United States pledged financial help to Latin America but kept a firm hold on its purse strings.

The only formal U. S. commitment was a maximum of 1½ million dollars for the technical assistance program of the Organization of American States (OAS), plus unspecified millions in loans from the Export-Import bank, World Bank and the new International Finance Corporation Washington has said it will establish.

THE WINDUP ceremonies were scheduled this afternoon (3:30 p. m., EST) with Antonio Carrillo-Flores, Mexican Finance minister, to deliver the farewell address to the delegates.

The Latin-Americans generally expressed satisfaction with results of the parley. Some said they felt they did not get all they wanted. But they admitted the United States had been sympathetic and cooperatively inclined toward their problems.

A NUMBER OF study groups created by the conference and scheduled to report within the next six months could lay the groundwork for even closer cooperation between the United States and the Latin-American nations.

Counted in dollars, little hard cash was given out. The Latin Americans had hoped for possible commitments from the United States running toward a billion dollars yearly.

The U. S. delegates refused to discuss actual figures but did pledge that the recently expanded Export-Import Bank would give a green light to worthwhile Latin-American requests for development funds.

Sahara's Oases

Oases in the Sahara Desert result from Springs, underground streams, or the nearness of the mountains, which are sufficiently high to cause moisture in the air to condense and rain to fall.

75 Anniversary

The Salvation Army, as it observes the 75th anniversary of its founding, in the United States, has a record of growth of which to be proud. The first official landing party was composed of seven officers. Today the organization consists of 1,893 centers of operation, and the work is carried on by 5,179 officers and 8,734 employes.

'Hen Parties' to Solve Farm Problem of Poultry Surplus

Albany, Dec. 2 — Real "hen parties," at which juicy stewing hens will be the piece de resistance of succulent old-fashioned chicken dinners, are being arranged throughout New York state in honor of Poultry Week, designated for December 6 to 12 by Governor Dewey.

Poultrymen are planning dinners in their own communities and have enlisted the support of hotels, granges, churches, service organizations, schools, restaurants and others in calling attention to the quality virtues and consistent popularity of the hen in New York state menus, according to the New York State Department of Commerce.

THE WEEK-LONG celebration will be the start of a mid-winter drive by the poultrymen, aimed not only at emphasizing the importance and economy of hens as a food item, but also to aid in disposing of a current surplus of mature fowl.

In Albany, in mid-January, the New York State Poultry Council will stage a big dinner climaxing the drive, at which the lowly hen will be the center of attenion, not only as a delectable dish but the subject of laudatory addresses. Governor-elect Harriman and other state leaders have been invited to attend.

The poultrymen point out that the mature hen, weighing five to seven pounds, is ideal for stewing and will usually provide two meals for all but the larger families, with some juicy tidbits left over for a midnight raid on the icebox.

It's the "housewife's friend," they say, because of the many available recipes, price economy and the ease of preparing tasty meals. There is scarcely a restaurant in the state, they point out, which does not feature chicken menus in infinite variety. Sportsmen, epicures, business tycoons—and folks generally—have vivid nostalgic recollections from childhood days of steaming platters of chicken and dumplings. As a further aid to housewives and others, Cornell University's Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics have prepared model recipes for scalloped chicken, chicken a la king, chicken salad, chicken pie, Brunswick stew and many other toothsome chicken dishes.

Disposal of the hens will have an effect on the egg market, which also is threatened with a surplus. The State Department of Commerce notes that poultry constitutes the largest source of farm income in the state next to dairy products. In 1953, the state's marketed production totalled 191,200,000 dozen eggs and 23,955,000 chickens and broilers.

Home Bureau

ACCORD UNIT of the Home Bureau held its monthly meeting last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Kay DeBus, with Mrs. Millard Davis and Mrs. Albert Myers on the committee. After a short business meeting presided over by Mrs. Roy Latimer, Mrs. Ben Davis gave a book review on Harbin's Ridge by Henry Giles, which was attentively absorbed by 22 members. The group voted to visit the home for the aged twice a month, in pairs. The next meeting will be a Christmas party to start with a pot luck supper on Thursday, Dec. 9, at the home of Mrs. Ben Davis.

THE PLANK ROAD Home Bureau will meet in Boice's Hall, Tuesday at 6:30 o'clock. A Christmas party will be held for members and friends. Each member is asked to bring a covered dish and a place setting. Miss Rachel Merritt will be present to talk on furniture care. Santa Claus will be present and a small gift is requested of each member for Santa's pack. Mrs. L. Aiella, Mrs. D. Manfro and Mrs. M. Elting will be on the refreshment committee.

Two Are Divorced

Las Vegas, Nev., Dec. 2 (AP)—Estranged for six years, bandleader Fred Waring and Mrs. Evalyn Nair Waring are divorced today. She obtained the decree yesterday. A financial settlement and other terms of the divorce were sealed. No grounds for the divorce other than the long separation was contained in the complaint. She was awarded custody of the three children, Dixie Lyn, 20; Frederick Monroe, 18, and William Griffith, 16.

TAKING IT ALL IN—Like many another parent, Queen Juliana, of The Netherlands, right, eavesdrops as her daughters tell Santa Claus what they'd like for Christmas. Princess Margariet, with plaid scarf, looks on as her sister, Princess Marijke, shakes hands with St. Nicholas. Behind the queen is Trygve Lie, former UN secretary general, who also turned out to greet St. Nicholas on his arrival in Amsterdam.

'Hen Parties' to Solve Farm Problem of Poultry Surplus

Albany, Dec. 2 — Real "hen parties," at which juicy stewing hens will be the piece de resistance of succulent old-fashioned chicken dinners, are being arranged throughout New York state in honor of Poultry Week, designated for December 6 to 12 by Governor Dewey.

Poultrymen are planning dinners in their own communities and have enlisted the support of hotels, granges, churches, service organizations, schools, restaurants and others in calling attention to the quality virtues and consistent popularity of the hen in New York state menus, according to the New York State Department of Commerce.

THE WEEK-LONG celebration will be the start of a midwinter drive by the poultrymen, aimed not only at emphasizing the importance and economy of hens as a food item, but also to aid in disposing of a current surplus of mature fowl.

In Albany, in mid-January, the New York State Poultry Council will stage a big dinner climaxing the drive, at which the lowly hen will be the center of attenion, not only as a delectable dish but the subject of laudatory addresses. Governor-elect Harriman and other state leaders have been invited to attend.

The poultrymen point out that the mature hen, weighing five to seven pounds, is ideal for stewing and will usually provide two meals for all but the larger families, with some juicy tidbits left over for a midnight raid on the icebox.

It's the "housewife's friend," they say, because of the many available recipes, price economy and the ease of preparing tasty meals. There is scarcely a restaurant in the state, they point out, which does not feature chicken menus in infinite variety. Sportsmen, epicures, business tycoons—and folks generally—have vivid nostalgic recollections from childhood days of steaming platters of chicken and dumplings. As a further aid to housewives and others, Cornell University's Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics have prepared model recipes for scalloped chicken, chicken a la king, chicken salad, chicken pie, Brunswick stew and many other toothsome chicken dishes.

Disposal of the hens will have an effect on the egg market, which also is threatened with a surplus. The State Department of Commerce notes that poultry constitutes the largest source of farm income in the state next to dairy products. In 1953, the state's marketed production totalled 191,200,000 dozen eggs and 23,955,000 chickens and broilers.

Home Bureau

ACCORD UNIT of the Home Bureau held its monthly meeting last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Kay DeBus, with Mrs. Millard Davis and Mrs. Albert Myers on the committee. After a short business meeting presided over by Mrs. Roy Latimer, Mrs. Ben Davis gave a book review on Harbin's Ridge by Henry Giles, which was attentively absorbed by 22 members. The group voted to visit the home for the aged twice a month, in pairs. The next meeting will be a Christmas party to start with a pot luck supper on Thursday, Dec. 9, at the home of Mrs. Ben Davis.

THE PLANK ROAD Home Bureau will meet in Boice's Hall, Tuesday at 6:30 o'clock. A Christmas party will be held for members and friends. Each member is asked to bring a covered dish and a place setting. Miss Rachel Merritt will be present to talk on furniture care. Santa Claus will be present and a small gift is requested of each member for Santa's pack. Mrs. L. Aiella, Mrs. D. Manfro and Mrs. M. Elting will be on the refreshment committee.

Two Are Divorced

Las Vegas, Nev., Dec. 2 (AP)—Estranged for six years, bandleader Fred Waring and Mrs. Evalyn Nair Waring are divorced today. She obtained the decree yesterday. A financial settlement and other terms of the divorce were sealed. No grounds for the divorce other than the long separation was contained in the complaint. She was awarded custody of the three children, Dixie Lyn, 20; Frederick Monroe, 18, and William Griffith, 16.

TAKING IT ALL IN—Like many another parent, Queen Juliana, of The Netherlands, right, eavesdrops as her daughters tell Santa Claus what they'd like for Christmas. Princess Margariet, with plaid scarf, looks on as her sister, Princess Marijke, shakes hands with St. Nicholas. Behind the queen is Trygve Lie, former UN secretary general, who also turned out to greet St. Nicholas on his arrival in Amsterdam.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slowdown of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Kingston High Football Squad Guests of Rotary

Members of the Kingston High School football team, which completed a very successful season, and the coaching staff of the school were guests Wednesday of the Rotary Club at its luncheon-meeting at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

COACH WILLARD E. BURKE, who was accompanied by Coaches Cunningham and Hurley, introduced the players who will receive their letters in football this year and praised the boys for their efforts and spirit. He also described the training of the football aspirants from their intramural contests up to varsity competition.

He said the few minor injuries suffered by members of the squad was very encouraging and reflected the manner in which the boys kept in good physical condition.

THE COACH MENTIONED the names of some 20 Kingston High School football players who made college football teams in the last nine years since he had been coaching here. A large percentage of these boys, he said, had the opportunity for higher education through their ability to play football.

Harriman Survey Mentions Revival Of Hudson Ports

Hudson, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP)—Averell Harriman's economic surveyors, completing a three-day study of upstate unemployment, Wednesday examined the possibility of reviving river commerce in this industrial city.

Frank W. Wise, chairman of the mayor's industrial committee, took representatives of the governor-elect on a tour of the Hudson river waterfront, where freight stops were located up to 15 or 20 years ago. Now only a power boat association remains.

Isador Lubin, Harriman's choice as state industrial commissioner, said the group considered the unemployment situation here—as it has in the four other communities it has visited—as "serious."

"I CONSIDER the situation serious in any area where there is unemployment," Lubin said. "We think something can be done. The community itself can do something because something has been done in other communities. We are going to help your community help itself."

While here, the group also toured local industries in the company of Wise and a group of community leaders.

No statement was issued. Lubin said he would make his report to Harriman after his return to New York city by train this afternoon.

UNEMPLOYMENT in the Hudson area is estimated unofficially at 1,300, including about 700 left without work when the A. D. Julliard knitting mill closed several months ago.

Wise said his committee would cooperate "100 per cent" with the Harriman team and expressed hope that unemployment would be relieved.

Daniel Egan, manager of the local office of the State Division of Employment, estimated the total labor force in Hudson and surrounding areas of Columbia county between 17,000 and 18,000, including agricultural workers. He said 500 now were collecting unemployment insurance benefits.

After a luncheon meeting here, Wood planned to return to Schenectady for a talk with A. C. Stevens, manager of relations and utilities for the General Electric Co.

Boy Scout News

CUB PACK 9, BSA, sponsored by the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, held its first meeting Monday night in the assembly room of the church at Wurts and Rogers streets.

Following the opening ceremony conducted by den chiefs of the pack, the Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of the sponsoring church, greeted the large assemblage of Cubs and their families. He then introduced Cubmaster Bob Elliott, Pack Committee Chairman Jud Markle, and [illegible]orhood Commissioner Ole Christensen.

[illegible] Dave Brown and Bob Campbell, junior leaders of Troop 9 and "big brothers" to the newly-formed pack, led the Cubs in games in another room, a parents' meeting was held. During this time, plans were made for a Christmas party for the December pack meeting.

A highlight of the evening was the formal induction of 12 boys and their parents in a bobcat ceremony conducted around the council fire by Cubmaster Bob Elliott. The new Cub Scouts are: Craig Alderman, Frank Allen, William Bloom, Michael Boomhower, John Coutant, William Daum, Robert Elliott, William Kracht, Donald Lane, Dennis Markle, John Sherlock and Maris Tirums.

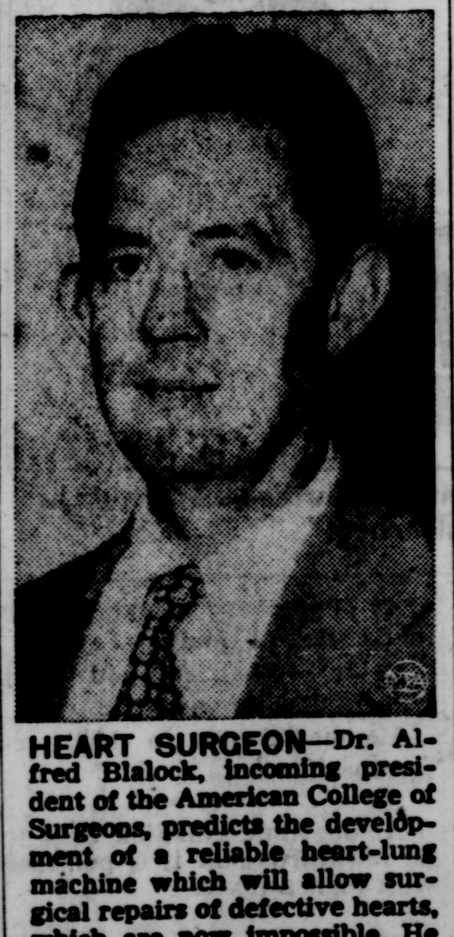
Official recognition of Den Chiefs John Guido, Rudy Hopkins, Gaidis Tirums, Tom Wisneski, Richard Engstrom and Robert Gollnick was made by Bill Daum, Scoutmaster of Troop 9, who presented the chiefs with their den books, warrants, and uniform insignia.

In keeping with the theme of the month for all Cub Packs, both dens presented skits based on Adventures in History. Den 1, under the direction of Mrs. William Daum, den mother, portrayed Henry Hudson's exploration of the Hudson river and his crew's trading with the Esopus Indians. Den 2, directed by Mrs. Ethan Allen and Mrs. John Sherlock, den mothers, depicted the history of Kingston, showing the Senate House, Ulster Academy, the Mary Powell and Old Dutch Church.

Following an informal period of songs and stunts, the Cub Scouts formed the living circle in a closing ceremony conducted by the cubmaster. Refreshments were served by mothers of both dens.

Fast Friends

Atco, N. J., (AP)—Friends of James Gauker, 70, a broommaker, worked so fast after fire destroyed his tiny home that he had a new one before the embers were cold. One company donated a 10 by 12 tool shed. Another hauled it to the side. Volunteer firemen, in a canvass of the town, collected heating and cooking stoves, bed, table, chairs, shades, curtains, blankets, bed linen and towels. A volunteer work crew put on a new roof, repaired the floor, replaced broken windows and painted the place. As the grateful Gauker prepared to go to bed in his new home, firemen were still wetting down the embers of the old.



HEART SURGEON—Dr. Alfred Blalock, incoming president of the American College of Surgeons, predicts the development of a reliable heart-lung machine which will allow surgical repairs of defective hearts, which are now impossible. He is a professor at Johns Hopkins University and inventor of the "blue baby" operation.

Watch It!

Greenville, S. C. (AP)—A man slipped and fell while at work, was knocked unconscious, broke his glasses, sprained his shoulder and wrist, and got a bump on his head. He hobbled to a doctor, who wrapped him up, told him to be careful, and sent him home. There, his wife saturated the bandages on his arm with alcohol in an effort to relieve the pain of the sprains. He then sat down in an easy chair and started to smoke his pipe but when he lit the pipe he also lit his alcohol-soaked bandages. The resulting burns required hospital treatment.

Harriman Survey Mentions Revival Of Hudson Ports

Hudson, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP)—Averell Harriman's economic surveyors, completing a three-day study of upstate unemployment, Wednesday examined the possibility of reviving river commerce in this industrial city.

Frank W. Wise, chairman of the mayor's industrial committee, took representatives of the governor-elect on a tour of the Hudson river waterfront, where freight stops were located up to 15 or 20 years ago. Now only a power boat association remains.

Isador Lubin, Harriman's choice as state industrial commissioner, said the group considered the unemployment situation here—as it has in the four other communities it has visited—as "serious."

"I CONSIDER the situation serious in any area where there is unemployment," Lubin said. "We think something can be done. The community itself can do something because something has been done in other communities. We are going to help your community help itself."

While here, the group also toured local industries in the company of Wise and a group of community leaders.

No statement was issued. Lubin said he would make his report to Harriman after his return to New York city by train this afternoon.

UNEMPLOYMENT in the Hudson area is estimated unofficially at 1,300, including about 700 left without work when the A. D. Juilliard knitting mill closed several months ago.

Wise said his committee would cooperate "100 per cent" with the Harriman team and expressed hope that unemployment would be relieved.

Daniel Egan, manager of the local office of the State Division of Employment, estimated the total labor force in Hudson and surrounding areas of Columbia county between 17,000 and 18,000, including agricultural workers. He said 500 now were collecting unemployment insurance benefits.

After a luncheon meeting here, Wood planned to return to Schenectady for a talk with A. C. Stevens, manager of relations and utilities for the General Electric Co.

Boy Scout News

CUB PACK 9, BSA, sponsored by the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, held its first meeting Monday night in the assembly room of the church at Wurts and Rogers streets.

Following the opening ceremony conducted by den chiefs of the pack, the Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of the sponsoring church, greeted the large assemblage of Cubs and their families. He then introduced Cubmaster Bob Elliott, Pack Committee Chairman Jud Markle, and [illegible]orhood Commissioner Ole Christensen.

[illegible] Dave Brown and Bob Campbell, junior leaders of Troop 9 and "big brothers" to the newly-formed pack, led the Cubs in games in another room, a parents' meeting was held. During this time, plans were made for a Christmas party for the December pack meeting.

A highlight of the evening was the formal induction of 12 boys and their parents in a bobcat ceremony conducted around the council fire by Cubmaster Bob Elliott. The new Cub Scouts are: Craig Alderman, Frank Allen, William Bloom, Michael Boomhower, John Coutant, William Daum, Robert Elliott, William Kracht, Donald Lane, Dennis Markle, John Sherlock and Maris Tirums.

Official recognition of Den Chiefs John Guido, Rudy Hopkins, Gaidis Tirums, Tom Wisneski, Richard Engstrom and Robert Gollnick was made by Bill Daum, Scoutmaster of Troop 9, who presented the chiefs with their den books, warrants, and uniform insignia.

In keeping with the theme of the month for all Cub Packs, both dens presented skits based on Adventures in History. Den 1, under the direction of Mrs. William Daum, den mother, portrayed Henry Hudson's exploration of the Hudson river and his crew's trading with the Esopus Indians. Den 2, directed by Mrs. Ethan Allen and Mrs. John Sherlock, den mothers, depicted the history of Kingston, showing the Senate House, Ulster Academy, the Mary Powell and Old Dutch Church.

Following an informal period of songs and stunts, the Cub Scouts formed the living circle in a closing ceremony conducted by the cubmaster. Refreshments were served by mothers of both dens.

Fast Friends

Atco, N. J., (AP)—Friends of James Gauker, 70, a broommaker, worked so fast after fire destroyed his tiny home that he had a new one before the embers were cold. One company donated a 10 by 12 tool shed. Another hauled it to the side. Volunteer firemen, in a canvass of the town, collected heating and cooking stoves, bed, table, chairs, shades, curtains, blankets, bed linen and towels. A volunteer work crew put on a new roof, repaired the floor, replaced broken windows and painted the place. As the grateful Gauker prepared to go to bed in his new home, firemen were still wetting down the embers of the old.

HEART SURGEON—Dr. Alfred Blalock, incoming president of the American College of Surgeons, predicts the development of a reliable heart-lung machine which will allow surgical repairs of defective hearts, which are now impossible. He is a professor at Johns Hopkins University and inventor of the "blue baby" operation.

Watch It!

Greenville, S. C. (AP)—A man slipped and fell while at work, was knocked unconscious, broke his glasses, sprained his shoulder and wrist, and got a bump on his head. He hobbled to a doctor, who wrapped him up, told him to be careful, and sent him home. There, his wife saturated the bandages on his arm with alcohol in an effort to relieve the pain of the sprains. He then sat down in an easy chair and started to smoke his pipe but when he lit the pipe he also lit his alcohol-soaked bandages. The resulting burns required hospital treatment.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . . .

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slowdown of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Kingston High Football Squad Guests of Rotary

Members of the Kingston High School football team, which completed a very successful season, and the coaching staff of the school were guests Wednesday of the Rotary Club at its luncheon-meeting at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

COACH WILLARD E. BURKE, who was accompanied by Coaches Cunningham and Hurley, introduced the players who will receive their letters in football this year and praised the boys for their efforts and spirit. He also described the training of the football aspirants from their intramural contests up to varsity competition.

He said the few minor injuries suffered by members of the squad was very encouraging and reflected the manner in which the boys kept in good physical condition.

THE COACH MENTIONED the names of some 20 Kingston High School football players who made college football teams in the last nine years since he had been coaching here. A large percentage of these boys, he said, had the opportunity for higher education through their ability to play football.

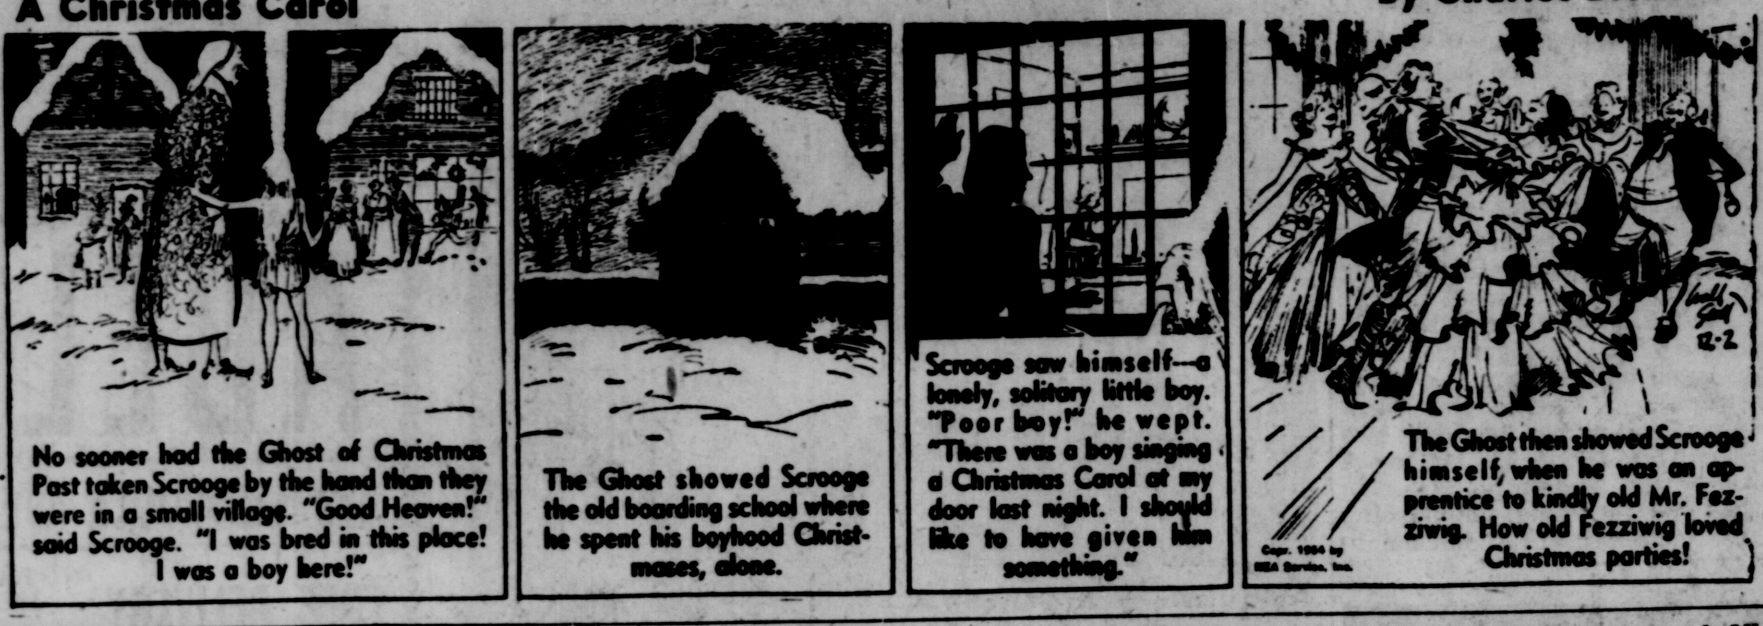
A Christmas Carol

By Charles Dickens



No sooner had the Ghost of Christmas Past taken Scrooge by the hand than they were in a small village. "Good Heaven!" said Scrooge. "I was bred in this place! I was a boy here!"
The Ghost showed Scrooge the old boarding school where he spent his boyhood Christmases, alone.
Scrooge saw himself—a lonely, solitary little boy. "Poor boy!" he wept. "There was a boy singing a Christmas Carol at my door last night. I should like to have given him something."
12-2
The Ghost then showed Scrooge himself, when he was an apprentice to kindly old Mr. Fezziwig. How old Fezziwig loved Christmas parties!

The Mature Parent

Protecting Baby Calls for Gentleness, Not Severity

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Babsy is our darling baby whom we wish earnestly to preserve against aggression by nameless hordes of germs.

So as we watch her, snow-suited and rosy, flopped down on the park's faded grass, our smile turns to horror. For Babsy, exploring her environment has found the silver foil of a discarded candy wrapper.

We get to her in time. Shaken by her narrow escape, our voice is sharp. Our "No, no, no! Dirty paper. Not in the mouth!" has the urgency of fear.

A few minutes later, we make a decision. We decide that we can no longer temporize with the threat of who-knows-what disaster to Babsy. We rush at her with determination.

We fling away the sodden cigar butt she's lifting to her mouth—and spank the hand that held it: "Nasty!" we cry. "Not in the mouth! Not in your mouth again—or Mummy will have to spank harder!"

Babsy turns her blue eyes up to us in astonishment. It is quite clear that she doesn't understand us.

But we—we are very certain that we understand Babsy.

I think we do not if we use excessive severity to control her passion to eat tinfoil, cigar butts, Grandma's beads, thimbles and dead leaves.

For to our baby girl, a mouth is not what it is to us.

To Babsy, so recently emerged from her passive and dependent darkness as a baby yet unborn, her mouth is relationship. As it has connected her to the breast or the bottle Mother has given her, it focuses all her experience of love.

Thus, when she attempts to eat thimbles and other old things, she is attempting to embrace them with the only love of which she is currently capable. If we understand this, we'll control this young passion of hers with tenderness instead of severity.

For Babsy is too young in friendship to discover that we find her "acquaintances" disgusting and contaminating.

I hope that no reader will conclude from this column that I am urging a diet of discarded candy foil or cigar butts for young children.

I am not. I am just suggesting that in a world in which such things abound, along with their threat of who-knows-what disaster, it is hard for Babsy to retain the spontaneous friendliness toward the world which was planned for her.

If we balance our fears with the realization that retaining this friendliness can be just as important to Babsy as any other kind of health, we'll remove her unhygienic "friends" gently, instead of with frightening alarms.

She'll soon learn to extend her embraces elsewhere.

Guild and News To Meet Mediator

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—Representatives of the New York Daily News and of the CIO American Newspaper Guild, which has set a strike against the News for next Wednesday, were scheduled to meet again today with Federal Mediator Thomas G. Dougherty.

A Guild spokesman expressed hope yesterday that there would be no strike. He said, however, that the strike would go on as scheduled unless agreement on a contract dispute is reached before the deadline.

A contract between the Guild and the tabloid newspaper, which has the largest circulation in the country, expired Oct. 31.

THE UNION, which announced the strike yesterday, said management proposals during negotiations would reduce gains previously won by the Guild with reference to a union shop.

P. B. Stephens, business manager of the News, said: "We don't feel the contract, viewed as a whole, can be characterized as retrogression. We particularly don't believe our proposal on the Guild shop can be criticized by them (the Guild), as it is similar to one they agreed to on another New York newspaper."

The Guild, which called "contract retrogression" the chief issue in the dispute, said other matters also were unsettled.

The Guild said about 1,200 News employes were covered by the expired contract. They are largely editorial and business office workers.

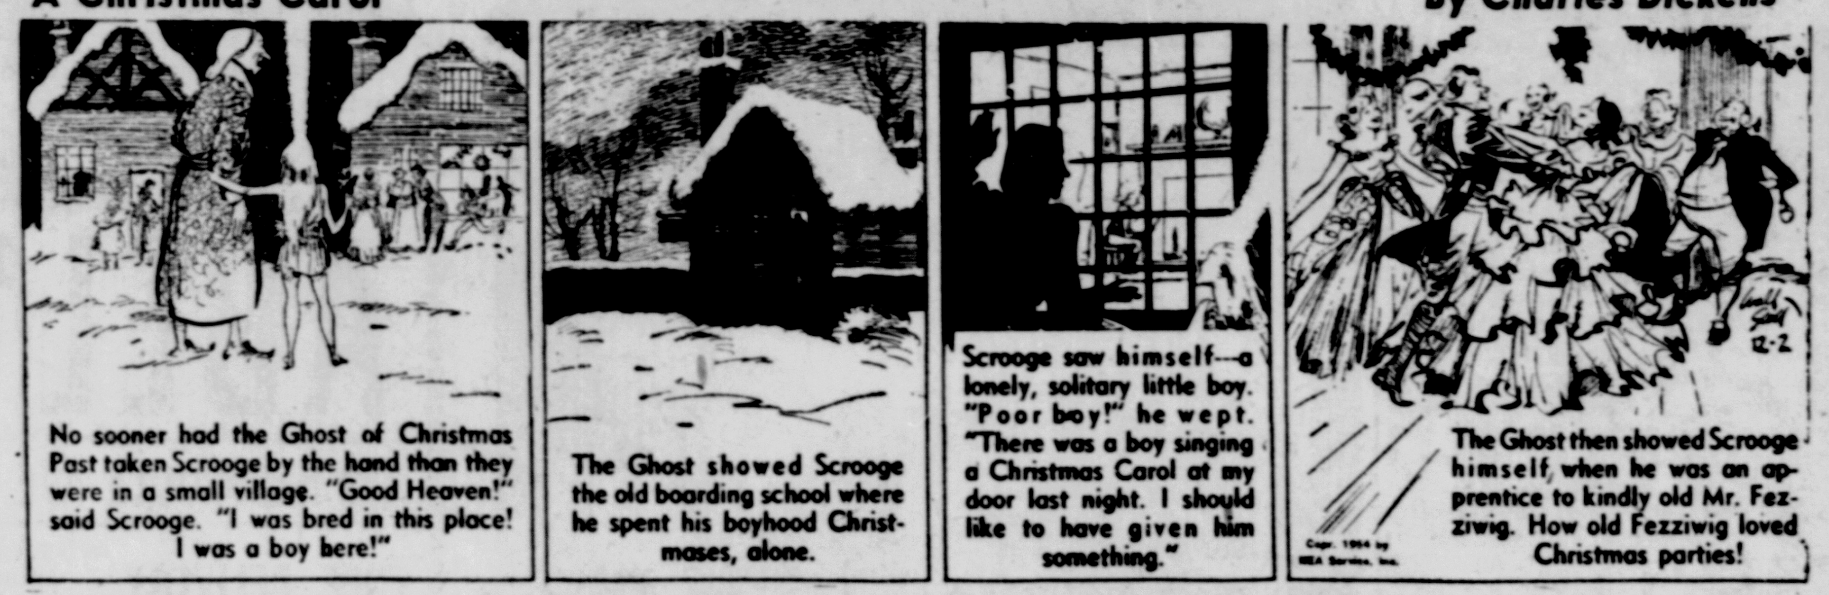
A Christmas Carol

By Charles Dickens



No sooner had the Ghost of Christmas Past taken Scrooge by the hand than they were in a small village. "Good Heaven!" said Scrooge. "I was bred in this place! I was a boy here!"
The Ghost showed Scrooge the old boarding school where he spent his boyhood Christmases, alone.
Scrooge saw himself—a lonely, solitary little boy. "Poor boy!" he wept. "There was a boy singing a Christmas Carol at my door last night. I should like to have given him something."

The Ghost then showed Scrooge himself, when he was an apprentice to kindly old Mr. Fezziwig. How old Fezziwig loved Christmas parties!

Protecting Baby Calls for Gentleness, Not Severity

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Babsy is our darling baby whom we wish earnestly to preserve against aggression by nameless hordes of germs.

So as we watch her, snow-suited and rosy, flopped down on the park's faded grass, our smile turns to horror. For Babsy, exploring her environment has found the silver foil of a discarded candy wrapper.

We get to her in time. Shaken by her narrow escape, our voice is sharp. Our "No, no, no! Dirty paper. Not in the mouth!" has the urgency of fear.

A few minutes later, we make a decision. We decide that we can no longer temporize with the threat of who-knows-what disaster to Babsy. We rush at her with determination.

We fling away the sodden cigar butt she's lifting to her mouth—and spank the hand that held it: "Nasty!" we cry. "Not in the mouth! Not in your mouth again—or Mummy will have to spank harder!"

Babsy turns her blue eyes up to us in astonishment. It is quite clear that she doesn't understand us.

But we—we are very certain that we understand Babsy.

I think we do not if we use excessive severity to control her passion to eat tinfoil, cigar butts, Grandma's beads, thimbles and dead leaves.

For to our baby girl, a mouth is not what it is to us.

To Babsy, so recently emerged from her passive and dependent darkness as a baby yet unborn, her mouth is relationship. As it has connected her to the breast or the bottle Mother has given her, it focuses all her experience of love.

Thus, when she attempts to eat thimbles and other old things, she is attempting to embrace them with the only love of which she is currently capable. If we understand this, we'll control this young passion of hers with tenderness instead of severity.

For Babsy is too young in friendship to discover that we find her "acquaintances" disgusting and contaminating.

I hope that no reader will conclude from this column that I am urging a diet of discarded candy foil or cigar butts for young children.

I am not. I am just suggesting that in a world in which such things abound, along with their threat of who-knows-what disaster, it is hard for Babsy to retain the spontaneous friendliness toward the world which was planned for her.

If we balance our fears with the realization that retaining this friendliness can be just as important to Babsy as any other kind of health, we'll remove her unhygienic "friends" gently, instead of with frightening alarms.

She'll soon learn to extend her embraces elsewhere.

Guild and News To Meet Mediator

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—Representatives of the New York Daily News and of the CIO American Newspaper Guild, which has set a strike against the News for next Wednesday, were scheduled to meet again today with Federal Mediator Thomas G. Dougherty.

A Guild spokesman expressed hope yesterday that there would be no strike. He said, however, that the strike would go on as scheduled unless agreement on a contract dispute is reached before the deadline.

A contract between the Guild and the tabloid newspaper, which has the largest circulation in the country, expired Oct. 31.

THE UNION, which announced the strike yesterday, said management proposals during negotiations would reduce gains previously won by the Guild with reference to a union shop.

P. B. Stephens, business manager of the News, said: "We don't feel the contract, viewed as a whole, can be characterized as retrogression. We particularly don't believe our proposal on the Guild shop can be criticized by them (the Guild), as it is similar to one they agreed to on another New York newspaper."

The Guild, which called "contract retrogression" the chief issue in the dispute, said other matters also were unsettled.

The Guild said about 1,200 News employes were covered by the expired contract. They are largely editorial and business office workers.

Write It Right

Knoxville, Tenn. (AP) The University of Tennessee decided that college students ought to be able to speak and write English —and that too many of them can't. Now instructors in every class—from agronomy to zoology—will graduate their students not only on the subject at hand, but also on their ability to use English. If two or more of the professors find a student deficient, he'll be required to attend a special, noncredit workshop. "It is a matter of national concern," says English Prof. Kenneth L. Knickerbocker."

To Hold Hearing

Mobile, Ala., Dec. 2 (AP)—A preliminary hearing originally set for today will be held Monday for a 36-year-old Mobilian charged with killing Larry Roger Piotrowski, 19, of Woodside, N. Y. The hearing for Grant Cooper was postponed yesterday. Cooper is charged with shooting Piotrowski in a dense thicket near suburban Prichard Nov. 22 because of an "old grudge" that developed between the two while they roomed together here last year. Cooper has served two prison terms, one for slaying a brother in Andalusia, Ala., in 1936, and the other for slashing three soldiers at Andalusia in 1944.

New $150,000 Wing on Boys' Home to Be Started Friday

Groundbreaking for a new $150,000 wing at the Astor Home for psychiatric care of emotionally disturbed boys at Rhinebeck, on Friday December 3 will mark the start of a program looking to an expansion of study and training for expert direction in this work, according to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James J. Lynch, PA, director of New York Catholic Charities.

The specialized effort at the Astor Home is carried on under the direction of Catholic Charities by the Sisters of Charity of Emmitsburg, Md., who are especially trained in this phase of child care and have come into the New York Archidocese to establish, promote and expand this area of child care work.

THIS PROJECT is one of three in the state assisted by grants from the New York State Mental Hygiene Commission under which boys aged from 6 to 11 are accepted for treatment without regard to race, color or creed.

It is anticipated that the expansion of the facilities contemplated in the new construction will enable the home to embark upon a training for students in clinical psychology, psychiatric nursing and psychiatric social work, which will be as important adjunct to its research in providing the best possible care for emotionally ill children and in adding to the number of specialists trained and equipped to carry on this work.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael P. O'Shea, PA, dean of Putnam and Dutchess counties will officiate at the ground breaking ceremonies at 11:30 a. m.

At present the home, which accommodates 25 emotionally ill boys from 6 to 11 years of age, has 24 members on the staff. The average length of stay for the children is from 6 months to one year. The Astor Home is one of 29 child-caring institutions and agencies coordinated under New York Catholic Charities.

To Hold Hearing

Mobile, Ala., Dec. 2 (AP)—A preliminary hearing originally set for today will be held Monday for a 36-year-old Mobilian charged with killing Larry Roger Piotrowski, 19, of Woodside, N. Y. The hearing for Grant Cooper was postponed yesterday. Cooper is charged with shooting Piotrowski in a dense thicket near suburban Prichard Nov. 22 because of an "old grudge" that developed between the two while they roomed together here last year. Cooper has served two prison terms, one for slaying a brother in Andalusia, Ala., in 1936, and the other for slashing three soldiers at Andalusia in 1944.

New $150,000 Wing on Boys' Home to Be Started Friday

Groundbreaking for a new $150,000 wing at the Astor Home for psychiatric care of emotionally disturbed boys at Rhinebeck, on Friday December 3 will mark the start of a program looking to an expansion of study and training for expert direction in this work, according to the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James J. Lynch, PA, director of New York Catholic Charities.

The specialized effort at the Astor Home is carried on under the direction of Catholic Charities by the Sisters of Charity of Emmitsburg, Md., who are especially trained in this phase of child care and have come into the New York Archidocese to establish, promote and expand this area of child care work.

THIS PROJECT is one of three in the state assisted by grants from the New York State Mental Hygiene Commission under which boys aged from 6 to 11 are accepted for treatment without regard to race, color or creed.

It is anticipated that the expansion of the facilities contemplated in the new construction will enable the home to embark upon a training for students in clinical psychology, psychiatric nursing and psychiatric social work, which will be as important adjunct to its research in providing the best possible care for emotionally ill children and in adding to the number of specialists trained and equipped to carry on this work.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael P. O'Shea, PA, dean of Putnam and Dutchess counties will officiate at the ground breaking ceremonies at 11:30 a. m.

At present the home, which accommodates 25 emotionally ill boys from 6 to 11 years of age, has 24 members on the staff. The average length of stay for the children is from 6 months to one year. The Astor Home is one of 29 child-caring institutions and agencies coordinated under New York Catholic Charities.

Shokan

Shokan, Dec. 2—Members of the WSCS of the Ashokan Methodist Church met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Gulnack. The November meeting of the society took place at Mrs. Virgil Gordon's.

Charles Brown, formerly a member of the Kingston paid fire department, is occupying the Alfred Iapoce cottage on the Onteora Trail. Charlie moved here about four months ago. The Iapoces have as tenants in their rental apartment, the George Laughton family which includes Richard, 16, and James, 17. The Laughtons came here in late summer from Glen Cove, L. I.

Howard Richards and assistant, Eddie Brace, came up from New York Sunday to repair the roof of the shop of Richards summer home in the village.

Mrs. Albin Emler, the former Macel Greene of Shokan, and her son, John, spent the Thanksgiving holiday at the home of Mrs. Emler's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Van Steenburgh.

Ben Swanson, local carpenter, who during the past few years has built several bungalows on his hillside property, the one-time Black Place, is reported to have secured employment in Kingston.

A number of local Methodists plan to attend the Youth Evangelism Institute, a sub-district MYF meeting, at Trinity Methodist Church, Kingston, Saturday evening.

A wedding anniversary falling Monday, Dec. 6 is that of Clarence and Edith (Gray) Phillips, Glenford couple who formerly resided here and at Ashokan. Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, who were married, 1912, by the Rev. G. L. Tiffany, pastor of the West Hurley Methodist Church, have five grown children.

Kathryn Sheeley of the Sheldon Hill road has employment in uptown Kingston. The Sheeley family moved here from Newburgh about a year ago.

Mrs. Henry Gebelein who was taken ill Monday of last week, is able to get outdoors again.

Gerald Westcott, Newburgh resident and Kingston businessman, was a caller in the hub of the reservoir country Tuesday.

The Methodist Sunday School Christmas program will be given Wednesday evening, Dec. 22, in the church.

"Many hunters but few bucks," sums up the open season for deer in this immediate vicinity. Does of the species appeared to be fairly numerous until the last three days when deer of both sexes, apparently having been scared back into isolated spots, were conspicuous by their absence.

Two Hunters Found

Greenville, Maine, Nov. 30 (AP)—A message scrawled on freshly-fallen snow advised the Fish and Game Dept. today that two young Connecticut hunters have been found. Warden-pilot Bill Turgeon, flying over the desolate area east of the northern end of Moosehead Lake, spotted the message spelled out by Wardens David Priest and William Gordon. A northeast storm dumped 14 inches of snow on the region yesterday. There was no immediate word as to the condition of Thomas Lessar and Bruce Stevens, both 17 and from Cromwell, Conn.

Prepared

Morehead, Ky. (AP)—There was no confusion when the Morehead Fire Department attended church in a group and the fire alarm sounded. Chief C. B. McCullough, had arranged for his men to sit on the aisle. At the sound of the siren they walked quietly from the church — then ran to the fire station.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Take a Tip From This Classic Play

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Yesterday's story about a doubtful penalty double reminds me of another classic example, played some years ago in Europe. Sophocles Venizelos, Greek statesman and one-time international bridge star, bid the South hand with his customary optimism up to a slam in hearts. Thereupon East made the aforementioned doubtful double.

If West had been an expert, the double would have said: "Don't lead spades, my bid suit, partner. Make an unusual lead—probably the first suit bid by dummy." In this case there would have been some point to the double, for a diamond lead by West would have clarified the situation beyond all power of Venizelos to obscure it.

Since West wasn't an expert, he led the deuce of spades. East should have known what sort of partner he had and that the double would merely inform declarer without producing the right opening lead. Hence the double was doubtful at best.

At any rate, West opened the deuce of spades, and East won with the ace. East returned his singleton heart, and Venizelos won with the ace. Venizelos next led the jack of diamonds to dummy's ace and returned a low diamond from dummy.

East wavered and thought things over. The more he thought, however, the less he knew. If declarer had no more diamonds, it might be fatal to put up the king; but if declarer still had the ten of diamonds, it might be fatal to withhold the king. What to do?

East finally decided to play low, and Venizelos won the trick with the ten of diamonds. Declarer now led all the rest of the trumps and the two high spades, saving just the ace and queen of clubs in the dummy. East likewise had to come down to two cards. East didn't dare blank his king of clubs, so he threw away the king of diamonds.

Thereupon Venizelos calmly produced the nine of diamonds and won the last trick with dummy's ace of clubs. Poor East managed to put on some sort of sickly smile about his performance, but it was several days before he doubled another contract.

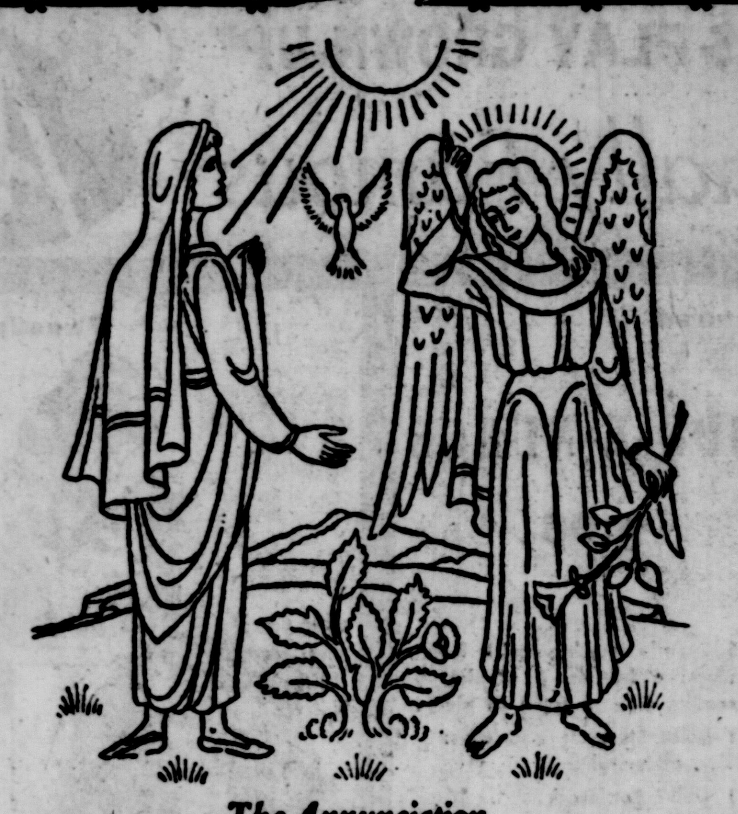
The Christmas Story

Retold in the words of the Holy Bible
by Norman Vincent Peale
Illustrated by Valenti Angelo



The Annunciation

AND the angel said unto her, Fear not, Mary: for thou hast found favor with God. And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name Jesus. He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest: and the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David: And he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end.

Red Faces Only

Moscow, Va. (AP) — The only thing red in this town in Augusta county is the face of a resident who is asked how it got its name. C. E. Simmons, who own a store nearby—the only one in Moscow burned sometime ago—said he tried his best to find out where the place got its name. He had no luck.

Shandaken

Shandaken, Dec. 2—Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gossoo spent Thanksgiving Day with relatives in White Plains.

Two Hunters Found

Greenville, Maine, Nov. 30 (AP)—A message scrawled on freshly-fallen snow advised the Fish and Game Dept. today that two young Connecticut hunters have been found. Warden-pilot Bill Turgeon, flying over the desolate area east of the northern end of Moosehead Lake, spotted the message spelled out by Wardens David Priest and William Gordon. A northeast storm dumped 14 inches of snow on the region yesterday. There was no immediate word as to the condition of Thomas Lessar and Bruce Stevens, both 17 and from Cromwell, Conn.

Prepared

Morehead, Ky. (AP)—There was no confusion when the Morehead Fire Department attended church in a group and the fire alarm sounded. Chief C. B. McCullough, had arranged for his men to sit on the aisle. At the sound of the siren they walked quietly from the church — then ran to the fire station.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Yesterday's story about a doubtful penalty double reminds me of another classic example, played some years ago in Europe. Sophocles Venizelos, Greek statesman and one-time international bridge star, bid the South hand with his customary optimism up to a slam in hearts. Thereupon East made the aforementioned doubtful double.

If West had been an expert, the double would have said: "Don't lead spades, my bid suit, partner. Make an unusual lead—probably the first suit bid by dummy." In this case there would have been some point to the double, for a diamond lead by West would have clarified the situation beyond all power of Venizelos to obscure it.

Since West wasn't an expert, he led the deuce of spades. East should have known what sort of partner he had and that the double would merely inform declarer without producing the right opening lead. Hence the double was doubtful at best.

At any rate, West opened the deuce of spades, and East won with the ace. East returned his singleton heart, and Venizelos won with the ace. Venizelos next led the jack of diamonds to dummy's ace and returned a low diamond from dummy.

East wavered and thought things over. The more he thought, however, the less he knew. If declarer had no more diamonds, it might be fatal to put up the king; but if declarer still had the ten of diamonds, it might be fatal to withhold the king. What to do?

East finally decided to play low, and Venizelos won the trick with the ten of diamonds. Declarer now led all the rest of the trumps and the two high spades, saving just the ace and queen of clubs in the dummy. East likewise had to come down to two cards. East didn't dare blank his king of clubs, so he threw away the king of diamonds.

Thereupon Venizelos calmly produced the nine of diamonds and won the last trick with dummy's ace of clubs. Poor East managed to put on some sort of sickly smile about his performance, but it was several days before he doubled another contract.

Red Faces Only

Moscow, Va. (AP) — The only thing red in this town in Augusta county is the face of a resident who is asked how it got its name. C. E. Simmons, who own a store nearby—the only one in Moscow burned sometime ago—said he tried his best to find out where the place got its name. He had no luck.

Brilliant Tiles

The clay tiles that line the dome of the famous mosque of Sidi Okba, Kairwan, Tunisia, still retain their brilliance though they were installed more than 1000 years ago.

Bonds for Christmas

Give U. S. Savings Bonds this Christmas. They provide security for the future, a promise of the good things to come, such as leisure, travel, a home, and education for the children.

White Head

Feathers of the head and neck of the bald eagle become pure white at the age of three years and always remain so. "Bald" in its name is from a middle English word meaning "white."

Silenced Carillon

The famous carillon of the Leaning Tower of Pisa was silenced some 20 years ago for fear that the vibrations would hasten the eventual collapse of the tower.

Fifth Capitol

Nebraska's present capitol is the fifth to be erected by that state. Base of the present building is 437 feet square and two stories high, with the tower rising 400 feet above the base.

Mighty Migrator

The Arctic tern flies farther in its migration than any other bird known. Some travel 22,000 miles in a year, from the Arctic Circle to the Antarctic Circle and back again.

Drowning of Man

fession continued, Mittman hit Menter in the face, knocking him down.

As Menter started to get up, Koslow was quoted as telling Duggan: "I took a swing. I brought it up from the floor. I missed. He fell into the water. The last I saw of him he was floating on his back toward the barges . . . that was the supreme adventure of them all."

Duggan said Koslow admitted going "bum hunting" in the Brooklyn park on the night Menter was drowned. Koslow was quoted as saying: "I had an abstract hatred for bums and any one who drinks."

Koslow reportedly related that Lieberman and Robert Trachtenberg, 15, followed behind as Koslow and Mittman marched Menter to the edge of the pier.

Trachtenberg has been granted a separate trial on a murder charge and is expected to testify against his one-time buddies.

Detective Casimir Czarnowski testified yesterday that Lieberman said he and Trachtenberg stood off and waited while the crime was committed.

As Czarnowski mentioned Mittman's name, the youth's father, Samuel Mittman, 45, collapsed in the crowded court room. Kings County Judge Hyman Barshay ordered the all-male jury to leave the room as Mittman was revived and assisted out by court attendants. He later returned to the court room.

Defense cross-examination of Duggan was scheduled for today.

cut normal and progressive federal taxes on corporation incomes and to lower surtaxes on personal incomes by $8,400,000,000.

Cutting the normal tax rate on personal incomes—20 per cent of income after exemptions and deductions — was recommended in general terms.

Fred Maytag 2nd, president of the Maytag Co., Newton, Iowa, said the proposed tax reductions would be offset by the nation's average economic growth of three per cent a year, leaving total federal revenues intact.

As outlined by Maytag, the plan calls for:

Five equal 16 per cent cuts in present personal income surtax rates, one each year, until the government could get no more than 35 per cent from normal and surtax rates. Each cut would be computed on the original amount, rather than on the declining balance.

A reduction of five percentage points in the normal tax on corporate incomes the first year, followed by cuts of three percentage points from surtax rates in each of the next four years, until the combined rates would be a maximum of 35 per cent. The present combined rate is 52 per cent.

The three-day convention will wind up tomorrow night with an address by Clarence B. Randall, special consultant to the president on foreign economic policy, at the annual dinner.

ULSTER COTILLION committees are planning a second dance, to be held Christmas night in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. Members of the group at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parker Friday evening are, seated, Karl Meyers, chairman; Miss Mathilda Cordts, treasurer and secretary, and William Davenport. Standing, Frank Reis, Miss Barbara Davenport, Miss Nancy Herzog, Miss Judy Parker and Nicholas Shea. (Freeman photo)

Nita Silvernail, William Bryant Wed in Oneonta

Miss Nita Lillian Silvernail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland J. Silvernail, 5 Kearney street, Oneonta, became the bride of William Murdock Bryant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marquis V. Bryant of Lomontville, in a ceremorny held Saturday, Nov. 27, at Elm Park Methodist Church, Oneonta. The Rev. Russell Lowry officiated at the double ring ceremony held before the altar decorated with white pompons and lighted tapers.

Mrs. Floyd Baker, organist, played traditional wedding music. Donald Shaver was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz-length strapless white tulle gown trimmed with ovals of satin, iridescent sequins and seed pearls, a princess style taffeta coat worn over the gown, was styled with three quarter length sleeves and wide boat neckline fastened at the back. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from leaves of satin outlined with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white pompons with white lacelon ribbons with a detachable corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. J. Clifford Bell of Oneonta, was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a waltz-length gown of turquoise taffeta with full skirt and V neckline and empire waist. A face veil was secured to a turquoise band of taffeta trimmed with pearls. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of bronze Yolandi pompons with goid lacelon ribbons.

Miss Dorothy Nichols of Montclair, N. J., was bridesmaid. She wore a gown of rose taffeta styled identically to that worn by the matron of honor and a similar headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow pompons with pale pink lacelon ribbon.

George Schmid of Hurley served as best man. The ushers were Frederick Silvernail of Oneonta, brother of the bride, and Virgil H. Crisman, 3rd, of Lomontville, and Richard Kubolak of Falls Church, Va., brothers-in-law of the bridegroom.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church social rooms. The bride's table was centered with a four-tier wedding cake.

The bride graduated from Oneonta High School and attended the State University at Morrisville. She has been employed by Frank Fetta and Co., Realtors, for the past two years.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School and the State University at Morrisville. He has just completed two years service with the army.

Following a wedding trip to New York city, Philadelphia, Pa. and Washington, D. C., Mr. and Bryant will make their home in Cottekill.

The city of Hamtramck covers an area of two square miles inside the city of Detroit, Mich.

Cotillion Group Is Entertained At Dinner Party

Committee members of the Ulster Cotillion were entertained Friday evening at a progressive dinner party at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parker, 7 Burgevin street, Mr. and Mrs. John Cordts, 63 West Chestnut street, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Herzog, 61 Lounsbery place.

The group met to formulate plans for the second Ulster Cotillion to be held Christmas night in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel. Artie Suggs and his orchestra, of Peg Legg Bates Country Club, Napanoch, will play for the informal dance which will begin at 9 p. m.

Invitations will be sent out next week to the Cotillion.

Nita Silvernail, William Bryant Wed in Oneonta

Miss Nita Lillian Silvernail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland J. Silvernail, 5 Kearney street, Oneonta, became the bride of William Murdock Bryant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marquis V. Bryant of Lomontville, in a ceremorny held Saturday, Nov. 27, at Elm Park Methodist Church, Oneonta. The Rev. Russell Lowry officiated at the double ring ceremony held before the altar decorated with white pompons and lighted tapers.

Mrs. Floyd Baker, organist, played traditional wedding music. Donald Shaver was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waltz-length strapless white tulle gown trimmed with ovals of satin, iridescent sequins and seed pearls, a princess style taffeta coat worn over the gown, was styled with three quarter length sleeves and wide boat neckline fastened at the back. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from leaves of satin outlined with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white pompons with white lacelon ribbons with a detachable corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. J. Clifford Bell of Oneonta, was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a waltz-length gown of turquoise taffeta with full skirt and V neckline and empire waist. A face veil was secured to a turquoise band of taffeta trimmed with pearls. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of bronze Yolandi pompons with goid lacelon ribbons.

Miss Dorothy Nichols of Montclair, N. J., was bridesmaid. She wore a gown of rose taffeta styled identically to that worn by the matron of honor and a similar headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow pompons with pale pink lacelon ribbon.

George Schmid of Hurley served as best man. The ushers were Frederick Silvernail of Oneonta, brother of the bride, and Virgil H. Crisman, 3rd, of Lomontville, and Richard Kubolak of Falls Church, Va., brothers-in-law of the bridegroom.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the church social rooms. The bride's table was centered with a four-tier wedding cake.

The bride graduated from Oneonta High School and attended the State University at Morrisville. She has been employed by Frank Fetta and Co., Realtors, for the past two years.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School and the State University at Morrisville. He has just completed two years service with the army.

Following a wedding trip to New York city, Philadelphia, Pa. and Washington, D. C., Mr. and Bryant will make their home in Cottekill.

Success Story of Teresa and Luisillo's Ballets Espagnols Is Based on Failure

The success story of Teresa and Luisillo Ballets Espagnols, to be at Broadway Theatre today at 8:30 p. m., is based on good, solid failure, carefully contrived by the stars themselves.

The topsy-turvy success story begins in Paris where the duo were enjoying handsome success as an outstanding pair of Spanish dancers, so their manager thought. But they were not enjoying it.

THEIR DREAM since they met and became partners in Mexico, had been a ballet, which would use the deepest traditional elements of Spanish dance, but as part of the dramatic and lyric form of theatre, which is the full expression of the Spanish.

Their manager didn't understand. So they began a determined campaign of failure, not cheating on performances, but staging a sit-down strike.

THE MANAGER relented, but the pair were penniless. So in the best tradition of Isabella of Castillo Teresa hocked her jewels at the most generous pawnshop. And the two were headed for Madrid.

Backing into a milk truck, with Luisillo driving their one proud possession, a car, took their last cent, literally.

BUT THEY WERE in Madrid. And in four weeks they assembled their company, got it rehearsed, got the production ready, for Paris. The "angels" were the dance-loving tradespeople, artists, cobblers and costumers of Madrid. The entire production was put together on credit.

The Ballets Espagnols' first season at the Sarah Bernhardt Theatre in Paris was an immediate and unqualified success, followed shortly by an equally successful one at Teatro Fontalbo in Madrid.

THE COMPANY was hailed for their new kind of dance form built out of an old Spanish theatre-art. The Madrid press called Teresa and Luisillo "poets" and the Ballets "a choreographic unit of pure Spanish essence."

At this point, Jules Borkon, a great Paris impresario, bought their contract for a handsome figure from the manager who had been so slow to enter the ballet field. And everybody lived happily ever after.

They have been kept busy ever since by seasons in Paris, London, England, Scotland, Ireland, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Norway, Denmark, Sweden and Italy.

THEIR APPEARANCE here at the Broadway Theatre this evening follows on their successful month's engagement at the Mark Hellinger Theatre in New York city. Sponsored in their performance here by Junior Chamber of Commerce, from whom tickets are still available, the Ballets Espagnols will embark on a nation-wide tour with Kingston as their first stop.

The company of 36 headed by the stars Teresa and Luisillo and their orchestra, will present their revue described by Variety, "as exciting a dance evening as Gotham has had in years," for one performance only at the Broadway Theatre.

Violin Virtuoso Praises Auditorium As Concert Hall

Before booking the municipal auditorium for his violin concert to be held Saturday at 8:30 p. m., Julius Schulman tested the acoustics with his violin. He reported the hall is "Exceptionally live" and "allows the violin full scope for its high frequencies as well as the round G string tones.

For his concert Saturday evening, the American violin virtuoso will use his Joseph Guarnerius violin, the Tiger Stripe, dated 1716 which he acquired from the Curtis Collection in 1943.

INCLUDED ON THE program for the recital is Hejre Kati, by Hubay, the selection that made him a winner on the October 4 Arthur Godfrey Talent Scout program over CBS-TV. His wife, the former Betty Linden of Sea Gate, was his Talent Scout. As a Godfrey winner, he appeared on three morning shows that same week.

The Schulmans met at his second Town Hall recital in New York city, when she asked him for his autograph. He exchanged that for her telephone number. Married since 1945, they have two children, Margaret, seven, and Joseph, a year and a half.

In combining his musical career with his hobby, photography, Mr. Schulman produced a feature length movie which he also edited and titled, of the Stokowski-led All American Youth Orchestra's South American Concert Tour.

THE PROGRAM for the concert Saturday evening will be:

O' Had I Jubal's Lyre, by Handel
Concerto in D Major, Tschaikowsky
Ballade and Polonaise, H. Vieutemps
The Bell (La Campanella), Niccolo Paganini
Scherzo Tarantelle, H. Wieniawski
Humoreske, Anton Dvorak
Hejre Kati, Jeno Hubay
The Hot Canary, Paul Nero

Tickets for the concert are available at Rafalowsky's Men's Store, the United Pharmacy, and also at the auditorium box office Saturday evening.

Pfc. Calvin R. Brueckner, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brueckner, Route 2, West Hurley, recently spent a seven-day rest and recreation leave from his unit in Korea at Camp Hakata, on Japan's southernmost island of Kyushu. Brueckner is company clerk with the 561st Medical Ambulance Company.

Loftiest coastal mountain mass in the world is Cristobal Colon peak, Colombia, 18,947 feet high.

Former Resident To Wed Dietitian

CONSTANCE JOYNER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore E. Joyner of Albany, is engaged to wed Robert Emmet Keating, Jr., former resident of this city, now of 44 South Allen street, Albany, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Keating, Sr., of Cleveland, O.

The bride-elect, graduate of Vincentian Institute with a degree in home economics from New York State Institute of Home Economics in Cobleskill, is dietitian at Brewster Central School, Brewster.

Her fiance, a graduate of Albany High School and veteran of the Korean conflict, is a copy editor with The Times-Union, Albany. He attended public schools in this city. (Gustave Lorey photo).

Violin Virtuoso Praises Auditorium As Concert Hall

Before booking the municipal auditorium for his violin concert to be held Saturday at 8:30 p. m., Julius Schulman tested the acoustics with his violin. He reported the hall is "Exceptionally live" and "allows the violin full scope for its high frequencies as well as the round G string tones.

For his concert Saturday evening, the American violin virtuoso will use his Joseph Guarnerius violin, the Tiger Stripe, dated 1716 which he acquired from the Curtis Collection in 1943.

INCLUDED ON THE program for the recital is Hejre Kati, by Hubay, the selection that made him a winner on the October 4 Arthur Godfrey Talent Scout program over CBS-TV. His wife, the former Betty Linden of Sea Gate, was his Talent Scout. As a Godfrey winner, he appeared on three morning shows that same week.

The Schulmans met at his second Town Hall recital in New York city, when she asked him for his autograph. He exchanged that for her telephone number. Married since 1945, they have two children, Margaret, seven, and Joseph, a year and a half.

In combining his musical career with his hobby, photography, Mr. Schulman produced a feature length movie which he also edited and titled, of the Stokowski-led All American Youth Orchestra's South American Concert Tour.

THE PROGRAM for the concert Saturday evening will be:

O' Had I Jubal's Lyre, by Handel
Concerto in D Major, Tschaikowsky
Ballade and Polonaise, H. Vieutemps
The Bell (La Campanella), Niccolo Paganini
Scherzo Tarantelle, H. Wieniawski
Humoreske, Anton Dvorak
Hejre Kati, Jeno Hubay
The Hot Canary, Paul Nero

Tickets for the concert are available at Rafalowsky's Men's Store, the United Pharmacy, and also at the auditorium box office Saturday evening.

Success Story of Teresa and Luisillo's Ballets Espagnols Is Based on Failure

The success story of Teresa and Luisillo Ballets Espagnols, to be at Broadway Theatre today at 8:30 p. m., is based on good, solid failure, carefully contrived by the stars themselves.

The topsy-turvy success story begins in Paris where the duo were enjoying handsome success as an outstanding pair of Spanish dancers, so their manager thought. But they were not enjoying it.

THEIR DREAM since they met and became partners in Mexico, had been a ballet, which would use the deepest traditional elements of Spanish dance, but as part of the dramatic and lyric form of theatre, which is the full expression of the Spanish.

Their manager didn't understand. So they began a determined campaign of failure, not cheating on performances, but staging a sit-down strike.

THE MANAGER relented, but the pair were penniless. So in the best tradition of Isabella of Castillo Teresa hocked her jewels at the most generous pawnshop. And the two were headed for Madrid.

Backing into a milk truck, with Luisillo driving their one proud possession, a car, took their last cent, literally.

BUT THEY WERE in Madrid. And in four weeks they assembled their company, got it rehearsed, got the production ready, for Paris. The "angels" were the dance-loving tradespeople, artists, cobblers and costumers of Madrid. The entire production was put together on credit.

The Ballets Espagnols' first season at the Sarah Bernhardt Theatre in Paris was an immediate and unqualified success, followed shortly by an equally successful one at Teatro Fontalbo in Madrid.

THE COMPANY was hailed for their new kind of dance form built out of an old Spanish theatre-art. The Madrid press called Teresa and Luisillo "poets" and the Ballets "a choreographic unit of pure Spanish essence."

At this point, Jules Borkon, a great Paris impresario, bought their contract for a handsome figure from the manager who had been so slow to enter the ballet field. And everybody lived happily ever after.

They have been kept busy ever since by seasons in Paris, London, England, Scotland, Ireland, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, Norway, Denmark, Sweden and Italy.

THEIR APPEARANCE here at the Broadway Theatre this evening follows on their successful month's engagement at the Mark Hellinger Theatre in New York city. Sponsored in their performance here by Junior Chamber of Commerce, from whom tickets are still available, the Ballets Espagnols will embark on a nation-wide tour with Kingston as their first stop.

The company of 36 headed by the stars Teresa and Luisillo and their orchestra, will present their revue described by Variety, "as exciting a dance evening as Gotham has had in years," for one performance only at the Broadway Theatre.

Hospital Auxiliary Gives Donation To Building Fund

At the annual Christmas tea of the Benedictine Auxiliary, the amount of $600 was presented to Sister Berenice by Mrs. Guy Valeo, president, toward their pledge for the new Nurses' School and residence. At the meeting held Wednesday afternoon at the Nurses Residence for all auxiliary members, it was announced that the amount donated was from receipts of the Sales Cart which is supervised by the auxiliary at the hospital.

At the business meeting, it was announced that the new officers of the organization taking office a second term, as named by the Nominating Committee, Mrs. John Cooke, Jr., chairman, were as follows: Mrs. Guy Valeo, president; Mrs. John Cooke, Jr., first vice president; Mrs. George Einterz, second vice president; Mrs. Allan Baker, third vice president; Mrs. Vincent Amatrano, and Mrs. John Cordts, Jr.

OTHERS RE-ELECTED were: Mrs. Joseph Kearney, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Abernethy, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Paul L. Owens, recording secretary.

The annual report was read by Mrs. Owens, and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Kearney.

Sister Berenice, administrator of the hospital, in her remarks to the members, stressed that the meeting date fell within a few days of the close of the Marian Year, Dec. 8. She added that in the spirit of service to fellowmen, auxiliaries all over the country are being infused with new life and are building up.

HIGHLIGHT OF THE auxiliary programs during 1954, said Sister Berenice, was the successful operation of the Gift Cart. She praised the planning as to members required for this voluntary service.

Also noteworthy was the amount of $685 paid by the auxiliary which clears the balance on the $12,000 pledge made to the hospital, as well as the first payment of $2,100 on the auxiliary's pledge of $10,000 toward the erection of the new Nurses' School and Residence.

CO-CHAIRMEN OF the tea were Mrs. Louis R. Netter and Mrs. Robert Moseley. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Cooke Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Edwin Phelan and Mrs. J. Schuyler Schonger.

A program of entertainment was given by Miss Diane Thomas, who played several selections on the violin accompanied by Miss Gail Elias. Miss Thomas is a pupil of Harold Weaver, and Miss Elias studies with James Sweeney.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

OFFICE DRESS

A letter tells me: "I have been a business woman for many years, and in my early training was taught always to dress conservatively for the office. By this I mean, tailored suits and blouses and very little jewelry. I am the personnel director of a large company and it seems that the latest trend, according to the new girls coming here to work, and who are fresh out of college, is to wear very feminine-looking clothes, frilly blouses and rather oversize jewelry. In fact, I have been told by a certain young woman that strictly tailored clothes in business was antiquated and belongs to an era when a woman in business was rare. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this subject."

Tailored clothes are in best taste in the business world because they represent the acme of neatness and utility which inevitably suggest an orderly and efficient mind. It is not, however, necessary to sacrifice feminine becomingness but merely to choose clothes that are well cut and free from an effect of dangling trimmings that get in the way. A "frilly" blouse with a good-looking skirt is entirely proper. As a matter of fact, the latest fashion in blouses is practically masculine—even to long sleeves with French cuffs and a high neck finished with a man's collar. On the question of oversized jewelry, it is, of course, out of place.

Giving to Charity

Dear Mrs. Post: When in a theatre with a "date" and a collection is taken up for some charity, is it up to the boy she is with to give for both of them, or is she supposed to give her own donation?

Answer: She should give her own contribution and not expect him to give it for her.

Straws at Family Table

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to serve straws with iced tea or coffee or any other tall drink at home, or is this only soda fountain or lunch counter service?

Answer: While certainly not fashionable, there is no objection to straws for those who like them.

Twenty serving questions and answers are included in Mrs. Post's booklet No. 504, "The Etiquette of Table Setting." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

She added that in the spirit of service to fellowmen, auxiliaries all over the country are being infused with new life and are building up.

HIGHLIGHT OF THE auxiliary programs during 1954, said Sister Berenice, was the successful operation of the Gift Cart. She praised the planning as to members required for this voluntary service.

Also noteworthy was the amount of $685 paid by the auxiliary which clears the balance on the $12,000 pledge made to the hospital, as well as the first payment of $2,100 on the auxiliary's pledge of $10,000 toward the erection of the new Nurses' School and Residence.

CO-CHAIRMEN OF the tea were Mrs. Louis R. Netter and Mrs. Robert Moseley. Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Cooke Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Edwin Phelan and Mrs. J. Schuyler Schonger.

A program of entertainment was given by Miss Diane Thomas, who played several selections on the violin accompanied by Miss Gail Elias. Miss Thomas is a pupil of Harold Weaver, and Miss Elias studies with James Sweeney.

OFFICE DRESS

A letter tells me: "I have been a business woman for many years, and in my early training was taught always to dress conservatively for the office. By this I mean, tailored suits and blouses and very little jewelry. I am the personnel director of a large company and it seems that the latest trend, according to the new girls coming here to work, and who are fresh out of college, is to wear very feminine-looking clothes, frilly blouses and rather oversize jewelry. In fact, I have been told by a certain young woman that strictly tailored clothes in business was antiquated and belongs to an era when a woman in business was rare. I would very much appreciate your opinion on this subject."

Tailored clothes are in best taste in the business world because they represent the acme of neatness and utility which inevitably suggest an orderly and efficient mind. It is not, however, necessary to sacrifice feminine becomingness but merely to choose clothes that are well cut and free from an effect of dangling trimmings that get in the way. A "frilly" blouse with a good-looking skirt is entirely proper. As a matter of fact, the latest fashion in blouses is practically masculine—even to long sleeves with French cuffs and a high neck finished with a man's collar. On the question of oversized jewelry, it is, of course, out of place.

Giving to Charity

Dear. Mrs. Post: When in a theatre with a "date" and a collection is taken up for some charity, is it up to the boy she is with to give for both of them, or is she supposed to give her own donation?

Answer: She should give her own contribution and not expect him to give it for her.

Straws at Family Table

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to serve straws with iced tea or coffee or any other tall drink at home, or is this only soda fountain or lunch counter service?

Answer: While certainly not fashionable, there is no objection to straws for those who like them.

Hospital Auxiliary Gives Donation To Building Fund

At the annual Christmas tea of the Benedictine Auxiliary, the amount of $600 was presented to Sister Berenice by Mrs. Guy Valeo, president, toward their pledge for the new Nurses' School and residence. At the meeting held Wednesday afternoon at the Nurses Residence for all auxiliary members, it was announced that the amount donated was from receipts of the Sales Cart which is supervised by the auxiliary at the hospital.

At the business meeting, it was announced that the new officers of the organization taking office a second term, as named by the Nominating Committee, Mrs. John Cooke, Jr., chairman, were as follows: Mrs. Guy Valeo, president; Mrs. John Cooke, Jr., first vice president; Mrs. George Einterz, second vice president; Mrs. Allan Baker, third vice president; Mrs. Vincent Amatrano, and Mrs. John Cordts, Jr.

OTHERS RE-ELECTED were: Mrs. Joseph Kearney, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Abernethy, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Paul L. Owens, recording secretary.

The annual report was read by Mrs. Owens, and the treasurer's report by Mrs. Kearney.

Sister Berenice, administrator of the hospital, in her remarks to the members, stressed that the meeting date fell within a few days of the close of the Marian Year, Dec. 8. She added that in the spirit of service to fellowmen, auxiliaries all over the country are being infused with new life and are building up.

HIGHLIGHT OF THE auxiliary programs during 1954, said Sister Berenice, was the successful operation of the Gift Cart. She praised the planning as to members required for this voluntary service.

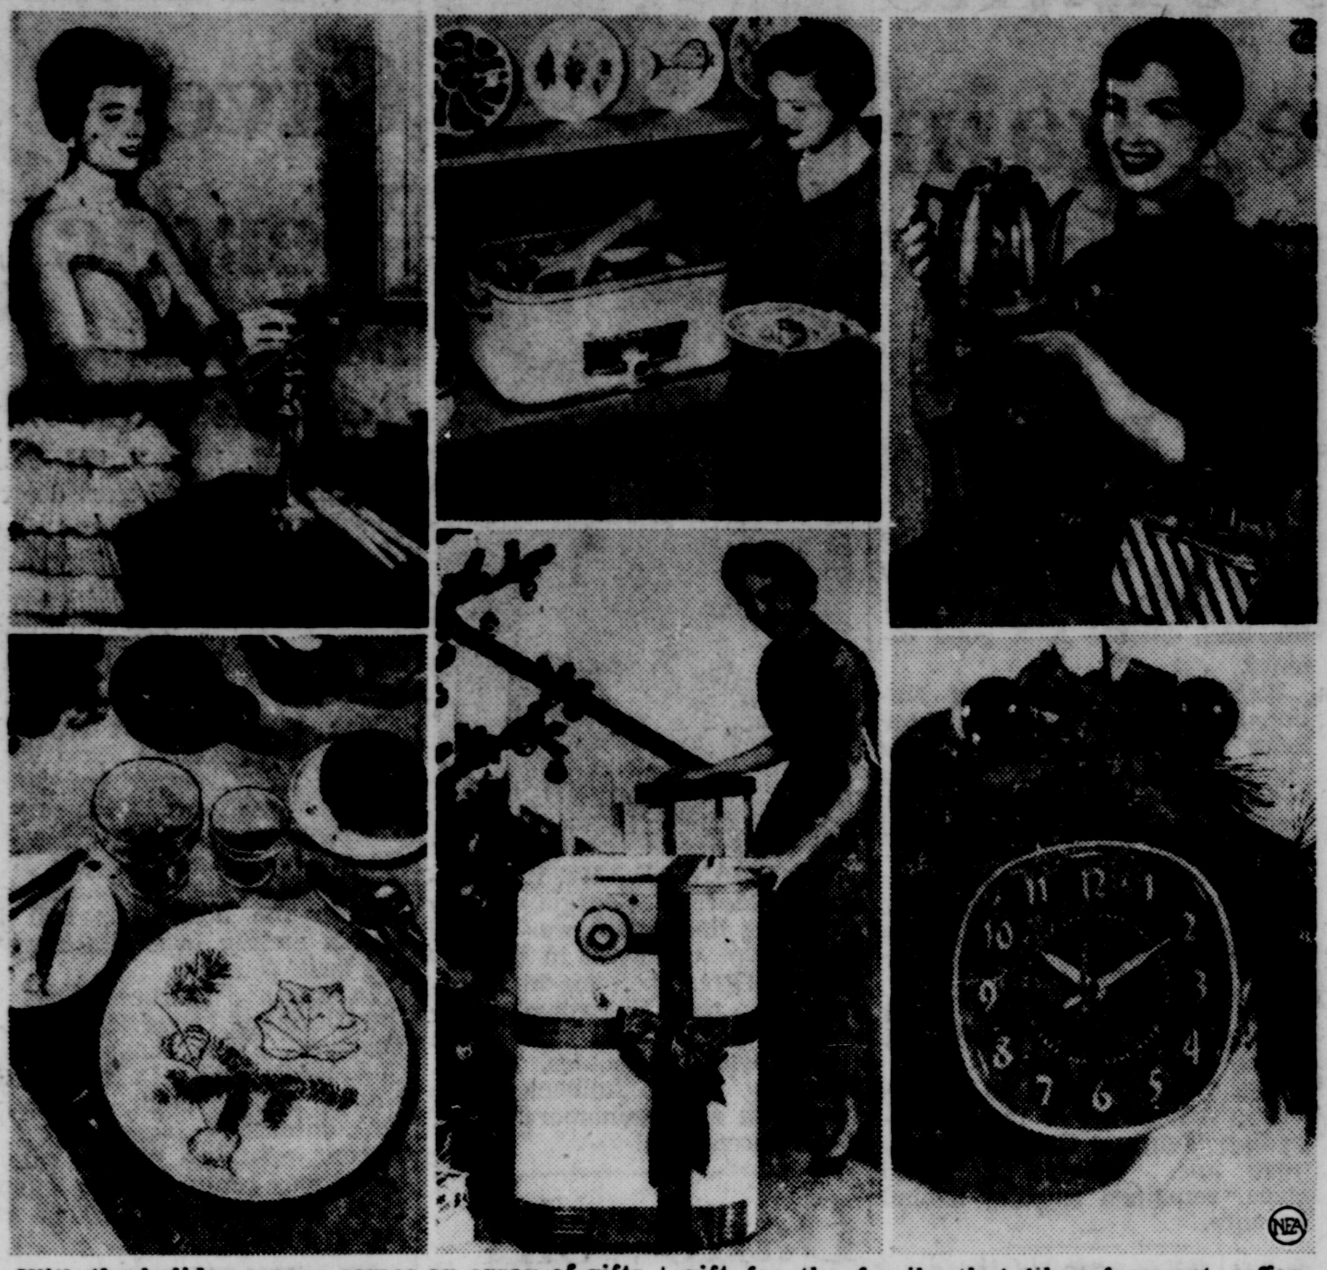
Whole Family Shares in Presents for the Household



With the holiday season comes an array of gifts for the home that are bound to enhance its cheerfulness and warmth. For the family famous for its Yuletide entertaining, this sterling silver candelabra duet (upper left) is an elegant addition to their table. This set can be adjusted seven different ways to suit all types of decor and table settings. A roaster-oven, for all-purpose cooking, is a welcome kitchen aid. This brand new automatic coffee maker (upper right) is just the gift for the family that likes frequent coffeetimes. To dress up the Christmas dinner table, there's this set of gaily colored glasses and dinnerware with a pretty leaf design (lower left). Omitting the bothersome chore of dishwashing will provide any wife with Christmas all-year-round. This mobile dishwasher (lower center) is a space-saver. Another practical gift is this pretty ceramic clock patterned by a famous dinnerware designer (lower right).

Russell Wright dinnerware: Heirloom sterling-damask rose pattern; Westinghouse roaster-oven: General Electric mobile dishwasher, ceramic clock and coffee maker.

Rosendale Has Fire House Plan

Rosendale, Dec. 2 — Arthur Mulligan, chairman of a special committee to investigate the possibilities of acquiring or building new premises here for fire fighting equipment, announced that at a meeting held Monday evening, a proposed building plan was accepted by the committee, and the committee will request that the plan be accepted at the Village Board meeting next Monday evening.

The plans accepted by the committee include the section of an entirely new building on the site on Main street acquired some time ago for such a purpose. Details of the plan, if accepted, will be announced following the meeting.

Tillson News

Tillson, Dec. 2—Frank Dixon of Hagemen visited Ralph Dewey on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Phillips spent the week-end in New York.

Union Center

Union Center, Dec. 2—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stacier and family visited in New York during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Mrs. Gabriel Guido and children John and Linda were recent guests of her mother Mrs. Louis Barrie at Ballston Spa.

Mr. and Mrs. William Daum and family were Thanksgiving Day guests of his parents Mr. and Mrs. William Daum, East Orange, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elliott and son Robert spent Thanksgiving Day in Bangall as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Semack.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gaston and son entertained on Thanksgiving Day Herbert Schultz, Mrs. Ruth Gaston and Norman Gaston of Taunton, Mass.

Thomas Worsley Sr. has been spending a few days in New York.

Cub Scout Pack 9 had a monthly meeting Monday at the Church of the Redeemer in Kingston, when two dens presented two scenes for their parents and friends depicting adventures in history. They exhibited various collections as part of their achievement plan.

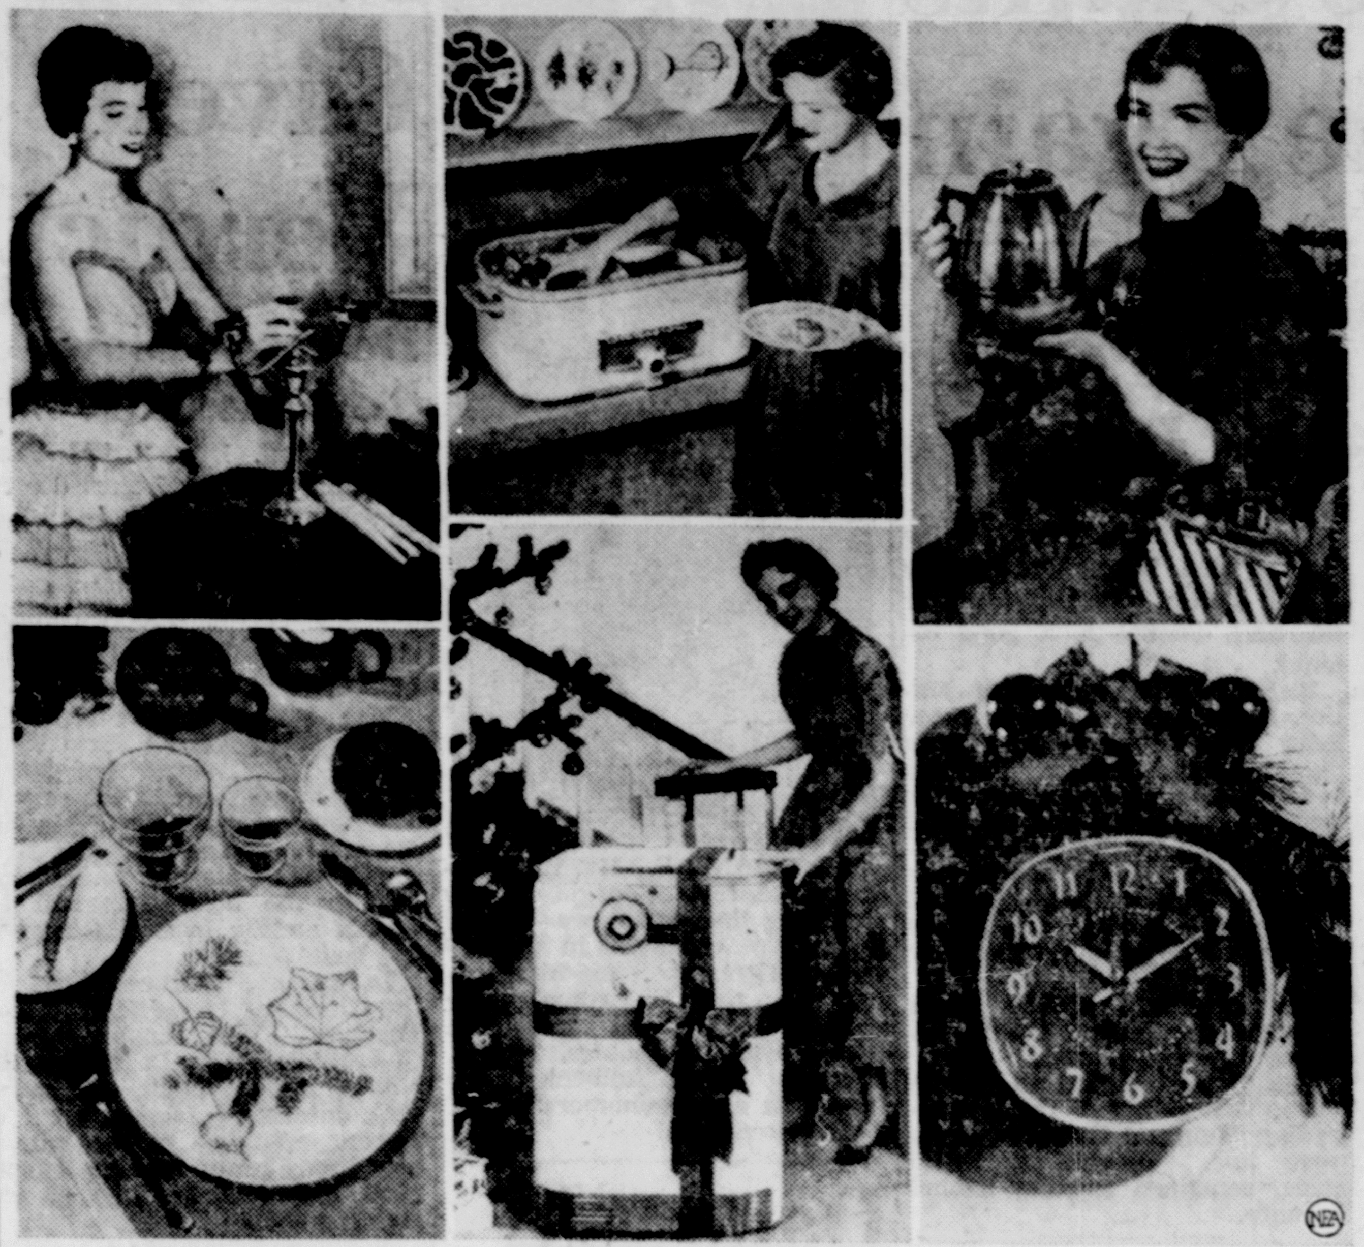
The Community Church will dedicate a cross, December 12, at 7:30 p. m., which has been erected on the church. The cross was given in memory of the late Mrs. William Lamprecht.

Ulster Grange 969 will hold a card party at the hall Saturday at 8 p. m., open to the public.

Good With Meat

Brown some shredded raw cabbage in a little butter or margarine; or use bacon fat for the browning. Mix with cooked drained egg noodles, season well with freshly-ground pepper. This is a European dish that tastes good with meat.

Whole Family Shares in Presents for the Household



With the holiday season comes an array of gifts for the home that are bound to enhance its cheerfulness and warmth. For the family famous for its Yuletide entertaining, this sterling silver candelabra duet (upper left) is an elegant addition to their table. This set can be adjusted seven different ways to suit all types of decor and table settings. A roaster-oven, for all-purpose cooking, is a welcome kitchen aid. This brand new automatic coffee maker (upper right) is just the gift for the family that likes frequent coffee-times. To dress up the Christmas dinner table, there's this set of gaily colored glasses and dinnerware with a pretty leaf design (lower left). Omitting the bothersome chore of dishwashing will provide any wife with Christmas all-year-round. This mobile dishwasher (lower center) is a space-saver. Another practical gift is this pretty ceramic clock patterned by a famous dinnerware designer (lower right).

Russell Wright dinnerware; Heirloom sterling-damask rose pattern; Westinghouse roaster-oven; General Electric mobile dishwasher, ceramic clock and coffee maker.

Pretty Practical!

Durocher Rates Giants In Thick of Race Again

Hints Contenders Must Improve to Halt Champions

Houston, Tex., Dec. 2 (AP)—Leo Durocher refused today to predict another National League pennant for his New York Giants but hinted that Brooklyn and Milwaukee would have to be stronger to prevent the world champions from repeating.

Relaxing in his hotel suite while attending the minor league convention here, the Giant manager said his job "might be a bit tougher" if the Dodgers' Roy Campanella and the Braves' Bobby Thomson return to top physical form.

"I don't know whether we can win or not," Durocher said. "I do know we have a good team. It may be even better than last year's. But it might be harder to win. It all depends on how much the Dodgers and Braves help themselves from now until the start of the season. You've also got to remember that every club shoots at the champ. That's the way it should be."

DUROCHER CONCEDED he could use another starting pitcher but added quickly his team was set and that he had made no attempt to make a deal here.

Calling Johnny Antonelli and Ruben Gomez his "Mr. Left and Mr. Right," who would pitch every four days regardless of the opposition, Leo said he was counting on Sal Maglie, 37-year-old clutch pitcher, as a once-a-week starter. He also praised Paul Giel, the $60,000 bonus pitcher as a "good strong kid and a fine competitor with a lot of ability."

"GIEL WILL do a lot of pitching in the spring," he said. "I'll give him every opportunity. I think he's got a real good chance to be a fine pitcher. As for Maglie, he'll start once a week—he'll open every series against Brooklyn. I've got to save him for those Dodgers."

Durocher said he was counting heavily on Monte Irvin making a comeback and predicted the big left fielder would climb back into the .300 class.

Durocher said his infield was set and called Hank Thompson not only the best third baseman in the National League but the most underrated in all baseball. He called Willie Mays, the sensational center fielder "baseball's greatest player today."

TRADING PICKED up a bit as the New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles finally announced completion of their 18-player deal. The Orioles sent first basemen Dick Kryhoski, catcher Darrell Johnson, outfielder Jim Fridley, pitcher Mike Blyzka and farmhand Ted Delguerchio, an outfielder with Wichita, to the Yankees for southpaw Bill Miller and infielders Kal Segrist and Don Leppert. Kryhoski stays with the Yankees but Johnson, Fridley and Blyzka go to Denver and Delguerchio to Birmingham. Another Baltimore player must be sent to New York by April 1.

In the first half of this transaction two weeks ago, the Orioles sent pitchers Bob Turley and Don Larsen plus shortstop Billy Hunter to the Yankees for pitchers Jim McDonald and Harry Byrd, outfielder Gene Woodling, shortstop Willie Miranda and catchers Gus Triandos and Hal Smith.

IN ANOTHER DEAL, the Detroit Tigers purchased lefthander Bob Schultz from Pittsburgh. Ray Kennedy, former farm direcor of the Pirates and Tigers, was named to the job of personnel director of the Kansas City club. The title is equivalent to the rating of general manager.

Washington purchased infielder Curt Hardaway and southpaw Vibert Clarke from Pampa of the West Texas-New Mexico League. Hardaway was named the league's outstanding rookie.

Cub Sale Nullified

Houston, Tex., Dec. 2 (AP)—The sale of veteran outfielder Frankie Baumholtz by the Chicago Cubs to the Chicago White Sox has been been nullified—at least temporarily—because Wid Matthews, director of player personnel for the Cubs, did not ask the other National League clubs for waivers. "I made an honest mistake," Matthews said early today. "I confused the Baumholtz deal with something else I had written on paper." Matthews said he felt "morally obligated to deliver Baumholtz to the White Sox" and that he would now ask for waivers.

Kelly Nets 100th Goal For Detroit

(By The Associated Press)

Leonard (Red) Kelly of the Detroit Red Wings undoubtedly is one skater who believes that the best defense is a good offense.

Kelly has been dazzling National Hockey League fans for more than seven seasons with his rink-long dashes. He has been an all-star defenseman for the last four years and he's still going strong.

Last night, Kelly scored the 99th and 100th goals of his NHL career while leading the Wings to a 6-1 victory over the New York Rangers.

The Toronto Maple Leafs trounced the Boston Bruins 6-0 in the only other game.

The victory moved the Leafs within five points of the league-leading Montreal Canadiens, who were idle. Detroit, in third place, remained a point behind Toronto.

Surging Knicks Halt Syracuse

(By The Associated Press)

The slumping New York Knickerbockers are now the surging Knicks and they gave every indication today of being ready to make their move in the eastern division of the National Basketball Association.

The Knickerbockers have won two in a row after four straight setbacks and although still tied for third place with Boston, they're only two games behind the front-running Syracuse Nationals.

Last night, the New Yorkers snapped the Nats' seven game winning streak, 88-86, holding off a Syracuse rally in the fourth quarter.

In other league games, the Fort Wayne Pistons defeated the Rochester Royals 101-96 in overtime, the Minneapolis Lakers downed the Philadelphia Warriors 91-88 and the Boston Celtics whipped the Milwaukee Hawks 101-90.

Danowski Quits as Ram Coach

New York, Dec. 2 (AP) — The last of the 1954 football gear has not yet been hung up but already five major schools and at least one minor school are looking for a new coach.

The unexpected resignation of Ed Danowski at Fordham University yesterday left the fifth major vacancy and there were reports that Harvey Robinson was on his way out at Tennessee.

MAJOR COLLEGE coaches who have been fired or resigned within the last few days include Kip Taylor of Oregon State, Bill Young of Furman and Bernie Witucki of Tulsa. Red Dawson stepped out at Pittsburgh in mid-season because of ill health.

Among the smaller institutions, Norwich in Vermont is in the market for a coach following the resignation of George (Duke) Benz.

At the rate they are going, the turnover may be as great as it was last season, when some three dozen small and large colleges came up with new coaches.

Young, who also was athletic director at Furman, was the only one of the five to as much as break even this season. Taylor had a 1-8-0 record at Oregon State, Witucki 0-11-0 at Tulsa and Benz 3-5-0 at Norwich. Pittsburgh lost three straight under Dawson before athletic director Tom Hamilton took charge. Young's Purple Hurricanes broke even in 10 games.

DANOWSKI'S resignation caught Fordham officials completely by surprise. Although the Rams had won only one and tied one of their nine games this fall, the former Fordham and New York Giants' great had given no indication he was planning on stepping out.

Although Danowski was not available for comment his wife said he hoped to remain in the coaching profession. Athletic director Jack Coffey said no consideration had been given as to Danowski's successor but the matter probably would be discussed at today's meeting of the Athletic Council.

He took over at Fordham in 1946 and in nine years his teams won 29 games, lost 44 and tied three. The most successful year was an 8-1 record in 1950.

Bee to Head NYMA Sports

Clair Bee, former director of athletics at Long Island University and coach of the Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Association, has been named director of athletics of New York Military Academy at Cornwall-on-Hudson, it was announced Wednesday.

Bee, a resident of Roscoe, will take over the entire athletic program at NYMA, including basketball and football.

The erstwhile LIU mentor conducted an All-America athletic camp as part of the summer program at Cornwall last year.

This is the first appearance for Saxton, the 24-year-old Brooklynite, often described as a specialist in defense, since he outdefended Kid Gavilan for the title in their struggle in Philadelphia Oct. 20.

Norkus Given Verdict

Defeat Is Blow To Comeback Try

Cleveland, Dec. 2 (AP)—Free-swinging Charlie Norkus dealt a punishing blow to the comeback plans of Roland La Starza of New York last night by winning a unanimous 10-round decision from the onetime top-ranked heavyweight contender.

The televised bout saw the willing slugger from Port Washington, N. Y., carry the battle to La Starza most of the way in a slow-moving contest. He climaxed his attack in the final round with a sizzling roundhouse left to the head that had La Starza reeling in a clinch when the gong sounded.

In another featured bout on the Cleveland News' 29th annual Toyshop Fund boxing show, Cleveland's Rocky Castellani, the No. 3 middleweight contender, sent outclassed Moses Ward of Detroit crashing to the canvas four times before scoring a technical knockout in 2:30 of the eighth round.

THE HEAVYWEIGHT victory was the 26th for Norkus, against 12 defeats. He had a 2½-pound weight advantage on La Starza who fought at 190.

While it was only La Starza's sixth defeat against 53 victories, the loss hit hard at his future hopes. Stopped by champion Rocky Marciano in 11 rounds in a 1953 title fight, he had been out of action since he lost a close one to England's Don Cockell last March in London. He had counted on last night's fight to earn him a return shot at Cockell, now the No. 2 contender; or a match with Nino Valdez, the No. 1 contender.

Durocher Rates Giants In Thick of Race Again

Hints Contenders Must Improve to Halt Champions

Houston, Tex., Dec. 2 (AP)—Leo Durocher refused today to predict another National League pennant for his New York Giants but hinted that Brooklyn and Milwaukee would have to be stronger to prevent the world champions from repeating.

Relaxing in his hotel suite while attending the minor league convention here, the Giant manager said his job "might be a bit tougher" if the Dodgers' Roy Campanella and the Braves' Bobby Thomson return to top physical form.

"I don't know whether we can win or not," Durocher said. "I do know we have a good team. It may be even better than last year's. But it might be harder to win. It all depends on how much the Dodgers and Braves help themselves from now until the start of the season. You've also got to remember that every club shoots at the champ. That's the way it should be."

DUROCHER CONCEDED he could use another starting pitcher but added quickly his team was set and that he had made no attempt to make a deal here.

Calling Johnny Antonelli and Ruben Gomez his "Mr. Left and Mr. Right," who would pitch every four days regardless of the opposition, Leo said he was counting on Sal Maglie, 37-year-old clutch pitcher, as a once-a-week starter. He also praised Paul Giel, the $60,000 bonus pitcher as a "good strong kid and a fine competitor with a lot of ability."

"GIEL WILL do a lot of pitching in the spring," he said. "I'll give him every opportunity. I think he's got a real good chance to be a fine pitcher. As for Maglie, he'll start once a week—he'll open every series against Brooklyn. I've got to save him for those Dodgers,"

Durocher said he was counting heavily on Monte Irvin making a comeback and predicted the big left fielder would climb back into the .300 class.

Durocher said his infield was set and called Hank Thompson not only the best third baseman in the National League but the most underrated in all baseball. He called Willie Mays, the sensational center fielder "baseball's greatest player today."

TRADING PICKED up a bit as the New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles finally announced completion of their 18-player deal. The Orioles sent first basemen Dick Kryhoski, catcher Darrell Johnson, outfielder Jim Fridley, pitcher Mike Blyzka and farmhand Ted Delguerchio, an outfielder with Wichita, to the Yankees for southpaw Bill Miller and infielders Kal Segrist and Don Leppert. Kryhoski stays with the Yankees but Johnson, Fridley and Blyzka go to Denver and Delguerchio to Birmingham. Another Baltimore player must be sent to New York by April 1.

In the first half of this transaction two weeks ago, the Orioles sent pitchers Bob Turley and Don Larsen plus shortstop Billy Hunter to the Yankees for pitchers Jim McDonald and Harry Byrd, outfielder Gene Woodling, shortstop Willie Miranda and catchers Gus Triandos and Hal Smith.

IN ANOTHER DEAL, the Detroit Tigers purchased lefthander Bob Schultz from Pittsburgh. Ray Kennedy, former farm direcor of the Pirates and Tigers, was named to the job of personnel director of the Kansas City club. The title is equivalent to the rating of general manager.

Washington purchased infielder Curt Hardaway and southpaw Vibert Clarke from Pampa of the West Texas-New Mexico League. Hardaway was named the league's outstanding rookie.

Cub Sale Nullified

Houston, Tex., Dec. 2 (AP)—The sale of veteran outfielder Frankie Baumholtz by the Chicago Cubs to the Chicago White Sox has been been nullified—at least temporarily—because Wid Matthews, director of player personnel for the Cubs, did not ask the other National League clubs for waivers. "I made an honest mistake," Matthews said early today. "I confused the Baumholtz deal with something else I had written on paper." Matthews said he felt "morally obligated to deliver Baumholtz to the White Sox" and that he would now ask for waivers.

Hints Contenders Must Improve to Halt Champions

Houston, Tex., Dec. 2 (AP)—Leo Durocher refused today to predict another National League pennant for his New York Giants but hinted that Brooklyn and Milwaukee would have to be stronger to prevent the world champions from repeating.

Relaxing in his hotel suite while attending the minor league convention here, the Giant manager said his job "might be a bit tougher" if the Dodgers' Roy Campanella and the Braves' Bobby Thomson return to top physical form.

"I don't know whether we can win or not," Durocher said. "I do know we have a good team. It may be even better than last year's. But it might be harder to win. It all depends on how much the Dodgers and Braves help themselves from now until the start of the season. You've also got to remember that every club shoots at the champ. That's the way it should be."

DUROCHER CONCEDED he could use another starting pitcher but added quickly his team was set and that he had made no attempt to make a deal here.

Calling Johnny Antonelli and Ruben Gomez his "Mr. Left and Mr. Right," who would pitch every four days regardless of the opposition, Leo said he was counting on Sal Maglie, 37-year-old clutch pitcher, as a once-a-week starter. He also praised Paul Giel, the $60,000 bonus pitcher as a "good strong kid and a fine competitor with a lot of ability."

"GIEL WILL do a lot of pitching in the spring," he said. "I'll give him every opportunity. I think he's got a real good chance to be a fine pitcher. As for Maglie, he'll start once a week—he'll open every series against Brooklyn. I've got to save him for those Dodgers,"

Durocher said he was counting heavily on Monte Irvin making a comeback and predicted the big left fielder would climb back into the .300 class.

Durocher said his infield was set and called Hank Thompson not only the best third baseman in the National League but the most underrated in all baseball. He called Willie Mays, the sensational center fielder "baseball's greatest player today."

TRADING PICKED up a bit as the New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles finally announced completion of their 18-player deal. The Orioles sent first basemen Dick Kryhoski, catcher Darrell Johnson, outfielder Jim Fridley, pitcher Mike Blyzka and farmhand Ted Delguerchio, an outfielder with Wichita, to the Yankees for southpaw Bill Miller and infielders Kal Segrist and Don Leppert. Kryhoski stays with the Yankees but Johnson, Fridley and Blyzka go to Denver and Delguerchio to Birmingham. Another Baltimore player must be sent to New York by April 1.

In the first half of this transaction two weeks ago, the Orioles sent pitchers Bob Turley and Don Larsen plus shortstop Billy Hunter to the Yankees for pitchers Jim McDonald and Harry Byrd, outfielder Gene Woodling, shortstop Willie Miranda and catchers Gus Triandos and Hal Smith.

IN ANOTHER DEAL, the Detroit Tigers purchased lefthander Bob Schultz from Pittsburgh. Ray Kennedy, former farm direcor of the Pirates and Tigers, was named to the job of personnel director of the Kansas City club. The title is equivalent to the rating of general manager.

Washington purchased infielder Curt Hardaway and southpaw Vibert Clarke from Pampa of the West Texas-New Mexico League. Hardaway was named the league's outstanding rookie.

Cub Sale Nullified

Houston, Tex., Dec. 2 (AP)—The sale of veteran outfielder Frankie Baumholtz by the Chicago Cubs to the Chicago White Sox has been been nullified—at least temporarily—because Wid Matthews, director of player personnel for the Cubs, did not ask the other National League clubs for waivers. "I made an honest mistake," Matthews said early today. "I confused the Baumholtz deal with something else I had written on paper." Matthews said he felt "morally obligated to deliver Baumholtz to the White Sox" and that he would now ask for waivers.

Kelly Nets 100th Goal For Detroit

(By The Associated Press)

Leonard (Red) Kelly of the Detroit Red Wings undoubtedly is one skater who believes that the best defense is a good offense.

Kelly has been dazzling National Hockey League fans for more than seven seasons with his rink-long dashes. He has been an all-star defenseman for the last four years and he's still going strong.

Last night, Kelly scored the 99th and 100th goals of his NHL career while leading the Wings to a 6-1 victory over the New York Rangers.

The Toronto Maple Leafs trounced the Boston Bruins 6-0 in the only other game.

The victory moved the Leafs within five points of the league-leading Montreal Canadiens, who were idle. Detroit, in third place, remained a point behind Toronto.

Surging Knicks Halt Syracuse

(By The Associated Press)

The slumping New York Knickerbockers are now the surging Knicks and they gave every indication today of being ready to make their move in the eastern division of the National Basketball Association.

The Knickerbockers have won two in a row after four straight setbacks and although still tied for third place with Boston, they're only two games behind the front-running Syracuse Nationals.

Last night, the New Yorkers snapped the Nats' seven game winning streak, 88-86, holding off a Syracuse rally in the fourth quarter.

In other league games, the Fort Wayne Pistons defeated the Rochester Royals 101-96 in overtime, the Minneapolis Lakers downed the Philadelphia Warriors 91-88 and the Boston Celtics whipped the Milwaukee Hawks 101-90.

CARRYING EXTRA SHOTGUN SHELLS

A BELT, HOLDING 25 OR 30 SHOTGUN SHELLS, IS MORE COMFORTABLE FOR CARRYING A DAY'S SUPPLY OF SHELLS THAN SHELL LOOPS IN A VEST OR JACKET. THE LATTER IS HEAVY ON YOUR SHOULDERS, SLOWS YOUR SWING, AND THE CLOTH LOOPS SHRINK IN TIME, MAKING SHELLS FIT TOO SNUG FOR QUICK USE. BELT SHOULD FIT OVER REGULAR BELT AND BE MADE OF LEATHER SO IT CAN'T SHRINK!

IF YOU'RE THINKING OF A GIFT FOR A GUNNING PAL, HE'D WELCOME IT!

Danowski Quits as Ram Coach

New York, Dec. 2 (AP) — The last of the 1954 football gear has not yet been hung up but already five major schools and at least one minor school are looking for a new coach.

The unexpected resignation of Ed Danowski at Fordham University yesterday left the fifth major vacancy and there were reports that Harvey Robinson was on his way out at Tennessee.

MAJOR COLLEGE coaches who have been fired or resigned within the last few days include Kip Taylor of Oregon State, Bill Young of Furman and Bernie Witucki of Tulsa. Red Dawson stepped out at Pittsburgh in mid-season because of ill health.

Among the smaller institutions, Norwich in Vermont is in the market for a coach following the resignation of George (Duke) Benz.

At the rate they are going, the turnover may be as great as it was last season, when some three dozen small and large colleges came up with new coaches.

Young, who also was athletic director at Furman, was the only one of the five to as much as break even this season. Taylor had a 1-8-0 record at Oregon State, Witucki 0-11-0 at Tulsa and Benz 3-5-0 at Norwich. Pittsburgh lost three straight under Dawson before athletic director Tom Hamilton took charge. Young's Purple Hurricanes broke even in 10 games.

DANOWSKI'S resignation caught Fordham officials completely by surprise. Although the Rams had won only one and tied one of their nine games this fall, the former Fordham and New York Giants' great had given no indication he was planning on stepping out.

Although Danowski was not available for comment his wife said he hoped to remain in the coaching profession. Athletic director Jack Coffey said no consideration had been given as to Danowski's successor but the matter probably would be discussed at today's meeting of the Athletic Council.

He took over at Fordham in 1946 and in nine years his teams won 29 games, lost 44 and tied three. The most successful year was an 8-1 record in 1950.

Bee to Head NYMA Sports

Clair Bee, former director of athletics at Long Island University and coach of the Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Association, has been named director of athletics of New York Military Academy at Cornwall-on-Hudson, it was announced Wednesday.

Bee, a resident of Roscoe, will take over the entire athletic program at NYMA, including basketball and football.

Saxton Meets Fuentes

Los Angeles, Dec. 2 (AP)—Newly crowned world welterweight champion Johnny Saxton and challenger Ramon Fuentes meet in a 10-round non-title bout tonight, and every fight fan worthy of the term faithful hopes the encounter will turn out better than it shapes up, meaning dull. This is the first appearance for Saxton, the 24-year-old Brooklynite, often described as a specialist in defense, since he outdefended Kid Gavilan for the title in their struggle in Philadelphia Oct. 20.

Norkus Given Verdict

Defeat Is Blow To Comeback Try

Cleveland, Dec. 2 (AP)—Free-swinging Charlie Norkus dealt a punishing blow to the comeback plans of Roland La Starza of New York last night by winning a unanimous 10-round decision from the onetime top-ranked heavyweight contender.

The televised bout saw the willing slugger from Port Washington, N. Y., carry the battle to La Starza most of the way in a slow-moving contest. He climaxed his attack in the final round with a sizzling roundhouse left to the head that had La Starza reeling in a clinch when the gong sounded.

In another featured bout on the Cleveland News' 29th annual Toyshop Fund boxing show, Cleveland's Rocky Castellani, the No. 3 middleweight contender, sent outclassed Moses Ward of Detroit crashing to the canvas four times before scoring a technical knockout in 2:30 of the eighth round.

THE HEAVYWEIGHT victory was the 26th for Norkus, against 12 defeats. He had a 2½-pound weight advantage on La Starza who fought at 190.

While it was only La Starza's sixth defeat against 53 victories, the loss hit hard at his future hopes. Stopped by champion Rocky Marciano in 11 rounds in a 1953 title fight, he had been out of action since he lost a close one to England's Don Cockell last March in London. He had counted on last night's fight to earn him a return shot at Cockell, now the No. 2 contender; or a match with Nino Valdez, the No. 1 contender.

YMCA Cadets To Form Loop

A meeting of all YMCA Cadet boys will be held Saturday at 10:30 a. m. at the gym, Bill Irland, physical director, announced this morning.

The Cadet age is 11 to 13 but Irland pointed out that Prep boys, between 8 and 10 who are interested, also may attend.

Captains for teams will be elected and plans will be formulated to start the league Dec. 11.

The Brooklyn Dodgers have completed changes in their managerial setup of farm clubs with the announcement that Max Macon, who managed at Montreal last season, was shifted to St. Paul of the American Association. At the same time, Greg Mulleavy, who managed at Mobile in 1954, was named to succeed Macon at Montreal. Earlier in the week Clay Bryant went from St. Paul to Mobile and Tommy Holmes from Elmira to Fort Worth.

During the 1954 season the Milwaukee Braves hit 29 home runs against the second place Brooklyn Dodgers. But they smacked only nine against the last place Pittsburgh Pirates.

Brooks End Switch

The Brooklyn Dodgers have completed changes in their managerial setup of farm clubs with the announcement that Max Macon, who managed at Montreal last season, was shifted to St. Paul of the American Association. At the same time, Greg Mulleavy, who managed at Mobile in 1954, was named to succeed Macon at Montreal. Earlier in the week Clay Bryant went from St. Paul to Mobile and Tommy Holmes from Elmira to Fort Worth.

During the 1954 season the Milwaukee Braves hit 29 home runs against the second place Brooklyn Dodgers. But they smacked only nine against the last place Pittsburgh Pirates.

January

According to legend, January was added to the calendar about 700 B. C., by Numa Pompilius, second king of Rome, who gave the month only 30 days. Julius Ceasar, in 46 B. C. increased the number of days in January to 31.

MAN SLAIN SEEKING PUBLICITY FOR HER—Red haired Loretta Miller, featured dancer in a burlesque theatre in Los Angeles, holds a letter she received several days ago from Roger W. Whittier, 26, who was shot to death Wednesday on the stage of the theatre while seeking publicity for her. Beside her is a bouquet of roses Whittier sent her. Whittier was killed in an exchange of gunfire with police after inviting an Associated Press editor to bring police to the theatre and warning them that he was armed. (AP Wirephoto).

Albany Board

one made to the board last month.

Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein early last month ordered a state investigation of the conduct of the election in Albany county. Other investigations are underway in Erie, Nassau, Suffolk and Westchester counties and in New York city.

Goldstein has charged that the Democrats spent at least $80,000 to buy votes in Albany county. He also has alleged other irregularities.

His investigating staff here was headed by Ernest B. Morris, an Albany county Republican leader. Bush said he was acting for Goldstein and Morris, as well as in his own behalf as an unsuccessful candidate for the Assembly.

Kingston . . .

the consulting engineers had reported that the prospective revenue of the authority from its three existing Hudson river crossings, plus the Kingston bridge, will be adequate to finance the Kingston bridge, but will not be sufficient to sell bonds at the present time for the Newburgh Bridge."

HOE SAID the engineers "further reported, that the authority has good prospects of being able to finance the Newburgh bridge in the not too distant future. The time when these prospects may be realized depends on such factors as traffic trends on the authority's bridges, construction costs and interest rates on bonds. Should any grants become available from federal or state sources, the time when construction could begin, would, of course, be moved forward."

After noting that it now appears that the Newburgh bridge is not expected to be started before at least two years, the authority said, that "The best location for the bridge and its approaches must be determined by means of surveys and property studies, test borings must be made, and detailed engineering plans and specifications must be prepared. The authority proposes to proceed at once with these phases of the work, so that no time will be lost when conditions are ripe for construction. The development fund previously mentioned will be used to cover the expenses of this preliminary work.

THE STATEMENT noted that "provisions will be made in connection with the forthcoming bond sale to permit additional financing for the Newburgh bridge as soon as the authority is in a position to assume this additional cost. Advance planning in this respect will avoid additional expenses and possible delays later on."

Hoe said, "By virtue of these policy decisions, the bridge authority is fulfilling its obligations with respect to the Kingston bridge, and at the same time is advancing the Newburgh bridge to the maximum extent feasible at this time."

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
EXCAVATION FOR
WILKIE AVENUE EXTENSION
CITY OF KINGSTON
NEW YORK

Sealed proposals for the construction of Contract No. 12, "Wilkie Avenue Extension," will be received by the Board of Water Commissioners at their office in City Hall, Kingston, New York until 6:45 p. m., Thursday, December 9, 1954, at which place and time they will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Contract No. 12 comprises the excavation of approximately 125 cubic yards of rock trench and approximately 375 cubic yards of earth trench, furnishing approximately 60 cubic yards of foundation material, and back-filling the trench. The 8-inch cast iron pipe will be furnished and installed by the Kingston Water Department, and the Contractor will be expected to work in close cooperation with the Department forces, to assure rapid completion of the project.

Each bidder must deposit with his bid, security in an amount not less than five per cent (5%) of the amount of his bid, as provided in the Information for bidders.

Drawings and specifications may be examined at the office of the Board of Water Commissioners, or at the office of Bogert and Childs, Consulting Engineers, 624 Madison Avenue, New York City.

Copies of the Contract Documents may be obtained at either of these offices upon payment of $10.00 for each set. Upon return of the Contract Documents, within four weeks after the date set for the receipt of the bids, a bidder will be refunded his payment, and a non-bidder will be refunded $5.00.

The awarding of this contract shall be subject to the provisions of Section 103 of the General Municipal Law of the State of New York.

Communists roughly in the same way."

It was for his allegedly rough tactics that 43 Democrats, 23 Republicans and one independent voted last night to condemn McCarthy on the charge that he refused to cooperate with a Senate Elections subcommittee which investigated his finances in 1951-52 and that he had "abused" its members.

Arrayed on McCarthy's side were 20 Republicans, including Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP leader, and Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, the Senate's acting president.

McCarthy said of the vote that "I dont think the American people are being fooled."

"They know I am being censured because I dared to do the 'dishonorable' thing of exposing Communists in government," he declared.

McCarthy is the first member officially reprimanded by the Senate since Republican Sen. Hiram Bingham of Connecticut was censured in 1929 for admitting a lobbyist to closed tariff hearings. All told, the Senate had censured only three members in its long history to this time.

every night this week at his bedside or in a room adjoining the Pope's chamber.

Today, when the doctor left the Vatican after a night-long vigil, the physician appeared worn and tired.

THE VATICAN and the Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano, hoping for a quick recovery of the Pontiff's strength, have sought to minimize the gravity of his condition.

The report of the Pontiff's turn for the worse, however, came from a highly responsible source close to the Pope.

The Pope never completely recovered from the grave stomach ailment and hiccups that sapped his strength dangerously last January and February.

IN SEPTEMBER the Pope himself told the Associated Press that he was still ailing but hoped to be better by November. He apparently referred to his expectations for a series of hormone injections that were being given to him by Dr. Paul Niehans, 82-year-old Swiss glandular specialist. The series was begun last winter, when the Pope first became ill. It continued this summer and autumn.

In his past grave illness, the Pope's heart, described by a close associate as "that of a lion" has stood him well and he was able to rally.

Albany Board

one made to the board last month.

Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein early last month ordered a state investigation of the conduct of the election in Albany county. Other investigations are underway in Erie, Nassau, Suffolk and Westchester counties and in New York city.

Goldstein has charged that the Democrats spent at least $80,000 to buy votes in Albany county. He also has alleged other irregularities.

His investigating staff here was headed by Ernest B. Morris, an Albany county Republican leader. Bush said he was acting for Goldstein and Morris, as well as in his own behalf as an unsuccessful candidate for the Assembly.

Kingston . . .

the consulting engineers had reported that the prospective revenue of the authority from its three existing Hudson river crossings, plus the Kingston bridge, will be adequate to finance the Kingston bridge, but will not be sufficient to sell bonds at the present time for the Newburgh Bridge."

HOE SAID the engineers "further reported, that the authority has good prospects of being able to finance the Newburgh bridge in the not too distant future. The time when these prospects may be realized depends on such factors as traffic trends on the authority's bridges, construction costs and interest rates on bonds. Should any grants become available from federal or state sources, the time when construction could begin, would, of course, be moved forward."

After noting that it now appears that the Newburgh bridge is not expected to be started before at least two years, the authority said, that "The best location for the bridge and its approaches must be determined by means of surveys and property studies, test borings must be made, and detailed engineering plans and specifications must be prepared. The authority proposes to proceed at once with these phases of the work, so that no time will be lost when conditions are ripe for construction. The development fund previously mentioned will be used to cover the expenses of this preliminary work.

THE STATEMENT noted that "provisions will be made in connection with the forthcoming bond sale to permit additional financing for the Newburgh bridge as soon as the authority is in a position to assume this additional cost. Advance planning in this respect will avoid additional expenses and possible delays later on."

Hoe said, "By virtue of these policy decisions, the bridge authority is fulfilling its obligations with respect to the Kingston bridge, and at the same time is advancing the Newburgh bridge to the maximum extent feasible at this time."

Dinette Price Cited

In the Wednesday, December 1 edition of the Freeman, the New Daystrom Dinette advertised by the Kaplan Furniture Company, 66-68 North Front street, should have been priced at $59.50. The set included double leg extension table with plastic top and four chairs.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
WILKIE AVENUE EXTENSION
CITY OF KINGSTON
NEW YORK

Sealed proposals for the construction of Contract No. 12, "Wilkie Avenue Extension," will be received by the Board of Water Commissioners at their office in City Hall, Kingston, New York until 6:45 p. m., Thursday, December 9, 1954, at which place and time they will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Contract No. 12 comprises the excavation of approximately 125 cubic yards of rock trench and approximately 375 cubic yards of earth trench, furnishing approximately 60 cubic yards of foundation material, and back-filling the trench. The 8-inch cast iron pipe will be furnished and installed by the Kingston Water Department, and the Contractor will be expected to work in close cooperation with the Department forces, to assure rapid completion of the project.

Each bidder must deposit with his bid, security in an amount not less than five per cent (5%) of the amount of his bid, as provided in the Information for bidders.

Drawings and specifications may be examined at the office of the Board of Water Commissioners, or at the office of Bogert and Childs, Consulting Engineers, 624 Madison Avenue, New York City.

Copies of the Contract Documents may be obtained at either of these offices upon payment of $10.00 for each set. Upon return of the Contract Documents, within four weeks after the date set for the receipt of the bids, a bidder will be refunded his payment, and a non-bidder will be refunded $5.00.

The awarding of this contract shall be subject to the provisions of Section 103 of the General Municipal Law of the State of New York.

Senate . . .

Communists roughly in the same way."

It was for his allegedly rough tactics that 43 Democrats, 23 Republicans and one independent voted last night to condemn McCarthy on the charge that he refused to cooperate with a Senate Elections subcommittee which investigated his finances in 1951-52 and that he had "abused" its members.

Arrayed on McCarthy's side were 20 Republicans, including Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP leader, and Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, the Senate's acting president.

McCarthy said of the vote that "I dont think the American people are being fooled."

"They know I am being censured because I dared to do the 'dishonorable' thing of exposing Communists in government," he declared.

McCarthy is the first member officially reprimanded by the Senate since Republican Sen. Hiram Bingham of Connecticut was censured in 1929 for admitting a lobbyist to closed tariff hearings. All told, the Senate had censured only three members in its long history to this time.

Pope Takes . . .

every night this week at his bedside or in a room adjoining the Pope's chamber.

Today, when the doctor left the Vatican after a night-long vigil, the physician appeared worn and tired.

THE VATICAN and the Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano, hoping for a quick recovery of the Pontiff's strength, have sought to minimize the gravity of his condition.

The report of the Pontiff's turn for the worse, however, came from a highly responsible source close to the Pope.

The Pope never completely recovered from the grave stomach ailment and hiccups that sapped his strength dangerously last January and February.

IN SEPTEMBER the Pope himself told the Associated Press that he was still ailing but hoped to be better by November. He apparently referred to his expectations for a series of hormone injections that were being given to him by Dr. Paul Niehans, 82-year-old Swiss glandular specialist. The series was begun last winter, when the Pope first became ill. It continued this summer and autumn.

In his past grave illness, the Pope's heart, described by a close associate as "that of a lion" has stood him well and he was able to rally.

Albany Board

one made to the board last month.

Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein early last month ordered a state investigation of the conduct of the election in Albany county. Other investigations are underway in Erie, Nassau, Suffolk and Westchester counties and in New York city.

Goldstein has charged that the Democrats spent at least $80,000 to buy votes in Albany county. He also has alleged other irregularities.

His investigating staff here was headed by Ernest B. Morris, an Albany county Republican leader. Bush said he was acting for Goldstein and Morris, as well as in his own behalf as an unsuccessful candidate for the Assembly.

Kingston . . .

the consulting engineers had reported that the prospective revenue of the authority from its three existing Hudson river crossings, plus the Kingston bridge, will be adequate to finance the Kingston bridge, but will not be sufficient to sell bonds at the present time for the Newburgh Bridge."

HOE SAID the engineers "further reported, that the authority has good prospects of being able to finance the Newburgh bridge in the not too distant future. The time when these prospects may be realized depends on such factors as traffic trends on the authority's bridges, construction costs and interest rates on bonds. Should any grants become available from federal or state sources, the time when construction could begin, would, of course, be moved forward."

After noting that it now appears that the Newburgh bridge is not expected to be started before at least two years, the authority said, that "The best location for the bridge and its approaches must be determined by means of surveys and property studies, test borings must be made, and detailed engineering plans and specifications must be prepared. The authority proposes to proceed at once with these phases of the work, so that no time will be lost when conditions are ripe for construction. The development fund previously mentioned will be used to cover the expenses of this preliminary work.

THE STATEMENT noted that "provisions will be made in connection with the forthcoming bond sale to permit additional financing for the Newburgh bridge as soon as the authority is in a position to assume this additional cost. Advance planning in this respect will avoid additional expenses and possible delays later on."

Hoe said, "By virtue of these policy decisions, the bridge authority is fulfilling its obligations with respect to the Kingston bridge, and at the same time is advancing the Newburgh bridge to the maximum extent feasible at this time."

Dinette Price Cited

In the Wednesday, December 1 edition of the Freeman, the New Daystrom Dinette advertised by the Kaplan Furniture Company, 66-68 North Front street, should have been priced at $59.50. The set included double leg extension table with plastic top and four chairs.

Communists roughly in the same way."

It was for his allegedly rough tactics that 43 Democrats, 23 Republicans and one independent voted last night to condemn McCarthy on the charge that he refused to cooperate with a Senate Elections subcommittee which investigated his finances in 1951-52 and that he had "abused" its members.

Arrayed on McCarthy's side were 20 Republicans, including Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP leader, and Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, the Senate's acting president.

McCarthy said of the vote that "I dont think the American people are being fooled."

"They know I am being censured because I dared to do the 'dishonorable' thing of exposing Communists in government," he declared.

McCarthy is the first member officially reprimanded by the Senate since Republican Sen. Hiram Bingham of Connecticut was censured in 1929 for admitting a lobbyist to closed tariff hearings. All told, the Senate had censured only three members in its long history to this time.

Pope Takes . . .

every night this week at his bedside or in a room adjoining the Pope's chamber.

Today, when the doctor left the Vatican after a night-long vigil, the physician appeared worn and tired.

THE VATICAN and the Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano, hoping for a quick recovery of the Pontiff's strength, have sought to minimize the gravity of his condition.

The report of the Pontiff's turn for the worse, however, came from a highly responsible source close to the Pope.

The Pope never completely recovered from the grave stomach ailment and hiccups that sapped his strength dangerously last January and February.

IN SEPTEMBER the Pope himself told the Associated Press that he was still ailing but hoped to be better by November. He apparently referred to his expectations for a series of hormone injections that were being given to him by Dr. Paul Niehans, 82-year-old Swiss glandular specialist. The series was begun last winter, when the Pope first became ill. It continued this summer and autumn.

In his past grave illness, the Pope's heart, described by a close associate as "that of a lion" has stood him well and he was able to rally.

Armory Employes Feted At Last Review for FA

M. F. Bence Has 48-Year Record

New York State Armory employes of Kingston and Poughkeepsie were honored with a military review Monday night at the local armory staged by the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, New York National Guard.

It was estimated that approximately 1,000 people attended the affair — including Guardsmen, their families and friends.

KINGSTON ARMORY employes honored on the occasion were Matthew F. Bence, superintendent, who has had more than 48 years service as an armory employe; Raymond F. Woerner, engineer; Edward C. DuBois, assistant engineer; Kenneth Post, Harry E. Giles, Sr., Burton F. Giles, Roy Houghtaling, Walter T. Bundy and William J. Ferguson, armorers.

Poughkeepsie armory employes: Edward A. McCoppin, superintendent; Benjamin F. Alulis, engineer; Joseph A. Dykas, James J. Andrews, Alfred W. Aldrich and Charles J. Morano, armorers.

Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin, commanding officer of the battalion, brought greetings to those attending the family night open house.

"This, perhaps, will be our last review and assembly as combat troops of an infantry division. Shortly we will be designated and termed an armored field artillery battaion.

"It is with pride that we of the 156th survey our record of the past and we look forward with confidence to the responsibilities of our new mission.

"We proudly acknowledge your cooperation, your interest and encouragment which have contributed so much toward our progress and success as troops and employes of this great organization.

"Ever Onward is our motto. You have helped to make it easier. May God bless you all."

The review program consisted of the following:

Cannoneer drill with 105 MM howitzers; simulated fire direction control, forward observation and fire missions—Battery A, field artillery firing battery.

Riot control, simulating the breakup of a riot without violence—Headquarters and Service Batteries and Medical Detachment.

Close order drill and precision rifle team drill—Battery B.

FIELD STRIPPING of individual weapons (carbines, pistols and M1 rifle); stripping and reassembling of rifle by an enlisted man while blindfolded—Battery C.

The program also included a concert by the Colonial Cavaliers (Port Ewen Drum Corps). A review of the troops was conducted by non-commissioned officers.

Batteries B and C are located in Poughkeepsie, the others in Kingston.

No WFCC Call Letters

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) made it pretty clear today it does not ever intend to give any broadcasting station the call letters WFCC. Radio Station KWK, Haines City, Fla., had asked for that designation, asserting it wanted to use the letters in connection with a slogan, "Florida coast to coast." But the FCC rejected the idea, stating tersely that it did so "because of connotation with the initials of Federal Communications Commission."

Close order drill and precision rifle team drill—Battery B.

FIELD STRIPPING of individual weapons (carbines, pistols and M1 rifle); stripping and reassembling of rifle by an enlisted man while blindfolded—Battery C.

The program also included a concert by the Colonial Cavaliers (Port Ewen Drum Corps). A review of the troops was conducted by non-commissioned officers.

Batteries B and C are located in Poughkeepsie, the others in Kingston.

No WFCC Call Letters

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) made it pretty clear today it does not ever intend to give any broadcasting station the call letters WFCC. Radio Station KWK, Haines City, Fla., had asked for that designation, asserting it wanted to use the letters in connection with a slogan, "Florida coast to coast." But the FCC rejected the idea, stating tersely that it did so "because of connotation with the initials of Federal Communications Commission."

Armory Employes Feted At Last Review for FA

M. F. Bence Has 48-Year Record

New York State Armory employes of Kingston and Poughkeepsie were honored with a military review Monday night at the local armory staged by the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, New York National Guard.

It was estimated that approximately 1,000 people attended the affair — including Guardsmen, their families and friends.

KINGSTON ARMORY employes honored on the occasion were Matthew F. Bence, superintendent, who has had more than 48 years service as an armory employe; Raymond F. Woerner, engineer; Edward C. DuBois, assistant engineer; Kenneth Post, Harry E. Giles, Sr., Burton F. Giles, Roy Houghtaling, Walter T. Bundy and William J. Ferguson, armorers.

Poughkeepsie armory employes: Edward A. McCoppin, superintendent; Benjamin F. Alulis, engineer; Joseph A. Dykas, James J. Andrews, Alfred W. Aldrich and Charles J. Morano, armorers.

Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin, commanding officer of the battalion, brought greetings to those attending the family night open house.

"This, perhaps, will be our last review and assembly as combat troops of an infantry division. Shortly we will be designated and termed an armored field artillery battaion.

"It is with pride that we of the 156th survey our record of the past and we look forward with confidence to the responsibilities of our new mission.

"We proudly acknowledge your cooperation, your interest and encouragment which have contributed so much toward our progress and success as troops and employes of this great organization.

"Ever Onward is our motto. You have helped to make it easier. May God bless you all."

The review program consisted of the following:

Cannoneer drill with 105 MM howitzers; simulated fire direction control, forward observation and fire missions—Battery A, field artillery firing battery.

Riot control, simulating the breakup of a riot without violence—Headquarters and Service Batteries and Medical Detachment.

Close order drill and precision rifle team drill—Battery B.

FIELD STRIPPING of individual weapons (carbines, pistols and M1 rifle); stripping and reassembling of rifle by an enlisted man while blindfolded—Battery C.

The program also included a concert by the Colonial Cavaliers (Port Ewen Drum Corps). A review of the troops was conducted by non-commissioned officers.

Batteries B and C are located in Poughkeepsie, the others in Kingston.
